WHERE 'WE WILL' THERE'S A WAY

—Chicago's New Proverb.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

On Saturday night last one man remembered the Forgotten Army. He was not a Chicago man; merely a country college professor spending a few days in the city. There was nothing of the preacher or the sociologist about him—his specialty is geology. Perhaps the cracking of rocks has taught him how to handle hard cases of the human variety. At any rate he thought it worth while to try.

At 3 o'clock Sunday morning—after spending more than two hours interviewing the guests of the city in Grant park—he sat down as host to the strangest banquet ever given in Chicago. There were twelve guests, and each of them made a speech. The speeches were short and halting, full of slang and rough, common talk, sometimes even a little profanity.

But they were moving, eloquent, and important, for they made clear almost as many reasons why men who are not drunkards or wastrels may come to find six feet of public ground their only bed and the comic section of a Sunday paper the best they can do in the way of sheets and coverlids.

"I AM the trustee of a little fund," modestly began the professor.

One ventures the opinion that the only fund of which he is a trustee is made up exclusively of his own salary, but, after all, if a man prefers to look in that curious way at the money he earns, who feels willing to find fault with him?

"I want to talk with some of the men who sleep in Grant park. It might give them a little boost to find that they are not, as you say, altogether forgotten. I'll leave the bums and hobos for some one who has more faith than I. It's the other chaps I want to shake hands with."

At midnight he started. His escort was an expert at identifying the chronic South Clark street stiff. The last Grant park band concert of the season was long over. The avenue was black and deserted. The army had settled down for the night. Picking their way carefully through the dark, the professor and his escort went silently across the south meadow and then out to the Michigan avenue front, where the bodies were thickest.

A QUICK glance and a shake of the head marked many as not being entitled to one of the professor's invitations. But here and there along the line a man was quietly awakened. Few mistakes were made. Most of the men who started up, rubbing the sleep out of their eyes, seemed sober and self-respecting. Half a dozen questions made the matter certain.

"If you'll wait for me," said the professor, "I'll be back presently and we'll go over and have a bite to eat and a clean bed."

At 2:30 in the morning he came back down the line, gathering up his guests as he came. There were an even dozen in all. Together they marched over across Van Buren street to State.

"FIRST of all," said the professor, "we'll get located in our rooms. Then we'll eat. Who knows a good, clean 25 cent hotel?"

The first one, eagerly recommended, was already filled. No rooms were vacant. But on the second call a place was found where for a quarter a man may have a tiny cubicle to himself with a bed in it and a strong wire netting over the top of the low partition by way of keeping out fellow guests who may overly admire one's diamonds. The professor saw to it that the bedclothes were clean.

Downstairs in an all night restaurant the party sat about a long table. At the professor's right sat old man Oleson. There is a good deal of the viking left about the proud old chap. His eyes are blue, he keeps neatly shaved, and he has

[Copyright: 1913: By John T. McCutcheon.]

He starts out determined to reach his goal, but the way is long and wearisome and he almost despairs. At that moment a smiling stranger offers to give him a lift on his journey, and when he gratefully accepts the smiling stranger kidnaps him and starts rapidly in the wrong direction.

The poor victim of this deceit is subjected to intense pressure for four years by his captors, but finally, being squeezed so very thin, he makes his escape and once more resumes his journey toward his goal. Once again the smiling stranger offers to give him a lift, and in return he gives the stranger an awful buffet.

Having thus discharged his duty, he resumes his plodding way, still hopeful but somewhat skeptical. Finally a tall and scholarly looking gentleman on a bicycle offers to help him along his way, and the two proceed without further mishap until stopped by the fierce growling of dogs.

The tall gentleman, in nowise deterred, soon has the fierce dogs eating out of his hand, and they in turn lead the way to the Ultimate Consumer's goal—Tariff Revision Downward.

SEARCH FAILS TO LOCATE HOYNE'S "PRIVATE CORPSE."

"The Tribune" Makes Diligent Inquiry, but Gets no Trace of State's Attorney's "Murdered Man."

THE TRIBUNE yesterday began what promises to be one of the most difficult investigations it ever has undertaken. It is trying to locate State's Attorney Hoyne's private corpse—name unknown. Trained investigators have been put on the assignment. Yesterday the investigators met with little luck. They are determined men, however. They intend to pursue the corpse to the grave.

The corpse in question is that described by State's Attorney Hoyne in a letter to the Rev. Arthur J. Francis of the Pilgrim Congregational church of Englewood. In this letter the state's attorney said a murder was committed two years ago in the Tribune building and that it was "hushed up."

The first place that attracted investigation, of course, was the Cook county morgue. That is the place to which all unclaimed bodies naturally find their way before going to the potter's field. The morgue was called on the telephone.

"Have you seen anything of State's Attorney Hoyne's private corpse out there?" the attendant was asked.

"No, sir," was the reply.

"You know what State's Attorney Hoyne's private corpse is, don't you?"

"Yes, sir. I saw something about it in the morning papers."

"And you haven't seen it?"

"How many corpses have you out there?"

"How many corpses have we got out here, Bill?" the man at the other end of the wire inquired of some one else in the room. Bill replied: "Thirty."

"Thirty," was the answer.

"Are they all identified?"

"Yes, sir, every one of them. Hoyne's corpse ain't around here."

Assistant Chief of Police Schuettler was summoned on the wire.

"Chief," he was asked, "have you seen Hoyne's corpse?"

"Naw," replied the assistant chief in a tone indicating disgust. "I read something about that in the paper. My opinion as a policeman is that there isn't any such corpse. I never heard of any."

"Well, if the police ran across a corpse that was the private property of the state's attorney you'd be likely to hear something of it, wouldn't you?"

"Well, if I didn't McWeeny would. Ask McWeeny."

Dr. L. D. Rogers, head of the National Maternity Home, in whose back yard a cadaver was dug up by a TRIBUNE reporter some time ago, was sought, but could not be found. An attendant at the hospital answered the telephone.

"We don't know anything about Hoyne's corpses out here," said she. "The doctor may know, but I doubt it. See him in the morning."

State's Attorney Hoyne was still "investigating" yesterday. Perhaps he had better luck.

AUTO KILLS GIRL; THIEF ROBS BODY

MAN RUN OVER BY TRUCK.

Two more names yesterday were addded to the death roll for the month by automobiles. The victims are Miss Anna Crowe of 25 East Fiftieth street and Peter Mangano of 1473 Grand avenue.

Miss Crowe, who was a ticket seller for the South Side Elevated company, was leaving her work at the Thirty-first street station and crossing the street to take a car home at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when an automobile, driven by Peter F. Bush of 3231 Mosspratt street, came east in Thirty-first street. Miss Crowe hesitated in crossing, according to witnesses, and started back. Bush attempted to swerve his machine away, but the tires caught in the car tracks. The machine knocked Miss Crowe down and passed over her body. She died shortly after reaching the Provident hospital.

Steals Dying Woman's Handbag.

In the crowd which gathered around the body of Miss Crowe as she lay on the pavement was some one who stole her handbag. As a result there was no means of identifying her and her body lay in the hospital nearly three hours before her brother-in-law, Daniel Flaherty, of 3434 Union avenue, heard of the case and, knowing Miss Crowe was missing, went to the hospital and identified the body.

Bush, the driver of the automobile, was arrested and held in the Cottage Grove avenue station on a charge of assault. He declared Miss Crowe fell in front of his machine. Miss Crowe was 23 years old and had come to this country from Ireland two years ago.

Claims He Was Driving Slowly.

"I was not driving rapidly," Bush told the police. "She stumbled as she crossed the street and fell directly in front of the machine. I was going so slowly I was able to stop my car within ten feet of the place where I struck the woman."

As soon as the accident occurred a large crowd gathered around the body. Police rushed up and an ambulance was called. Provident hospital is only a few blocks away, and the injured woman was taken there. In the meantime the police looked about the scene for the handbag which witnesses said she had when she was struck. It could not be found, and the police were led to the conclusion it had been stolen by some one in the crowd.

Crushed to Death Under Truck.

Peter Managno was crossing Grand avenue near Halsted street when an automobile truck owned by the American Can company and driven by John Lindstrom of 15 North Sixth avenue, Maywood, struck him and passed over his body. He died shortly after reaching the Norwegian Deaconess hospital. Lindstrom will be held at the West Chicago avenue station pending the inquest.

SIR OLIVER LODGE SEES DESTINY FOR MAN AFTER DEATH

British Scientist Contends That Personality Persists Beyond the Grave.

TALKS OF FUTURE LIFE

Long Awaited Address Takes Up Relation of Science Toward Religion.

POINTS TO MEMORY AND AFFECTION

BIRMINGHAM, England, Sept. 10.—Sir Oliver Lodge tonight in his long awaited address before the British Association for the Advancement of Science, of which he is president, discussed the topic of "Continuity," touching frankly on the problem of life after death.

He declared his conviction that "occurrences now regarded as occult can be examined and reduced to order by the methods of science carefully and persistently applied," and that "already the facts so examined have convinced me that memory and affection are not limited to that association with matter by which alone they can manifest themselves here and now, and that personality persists beyond bodily death."

Sir Oliver further said that "the evidence to my mind goes to prove that discarnate intelligence under certain conditions may interact with us on the material side" and that "we may hope to attain some understanding of the nature of a larger, perhaps ethereal, existence and of the conditions regulating intercourse across the chasm."

Great Interest in Atomism.

Sir Oliver finds that "a marked feature of the present scientific era is the discovery of and interest in various kind of atomism, so that continuity seems in danger of being lost sight of.

"Another feature is to deny the existence of anything which makes no appeal to organs of sense and no ready response to laboratory experiment."

Against these tendencies the author contends. He urges a belief in ultimate continuity as essential to science; he regards scientific concentration as an adequate basis for philosophic generalization; and he points out that the nonappearance of anything perfectly uniform and omnipresent is only what should be expected and is no argument against its real, substantial existence.

Progress and Skepticism.

In his remarks leading up to these declarations Sir Oliver said:

"Eliminating from our purview, as is always necessary, a great mass of human activity, and limiting ourselves to a scrutiny on the side of pure science alone, let us ask what, in the main, is the characteristic of the promising, though perturbing period in which we live. Different persons would give different answers, but the answer I venture to give is—rapid progress, combined with fundamental skepticism.

"With the realization of predicted ether waves in 1888, the discovery of X-rays in 1895, spontaneous radioactivity in 1896, and the isolation of the electron in 1898, expectation of further achievement became vivid, and novelties, experimental, theoretical, and speculative, have been showered upon us ever since this century began. That is why I speak of rapid progress."

Explains Fundamental Skepticism.

Sir Oliver explained by fundamental skepticism that he did not mean the "well worn and almost antique theme of theological skepticism." That controversy is practically in abeyance just now.

"In physiology the conflict ranges round vitalism," he said. "In chemistry the debate concerns atomic structure. In biology the dispute is on the laws of inheritance. In economic and political science, or sociology, what is there that is not under discussion? In the vast group of mathematical and physical sciences 'present day' criticism concerns what, if I had to express it in one word, I should call continuity.

Must Have Some Destiny.

Then Sir Oliver, reverting to the more abstruse questions of life, said:

"Either we are immortal beings or we are not. We may not know our destiny, but we must have a destiny of some sort. Those who make denials are just as likely to be wrong as those who make assertions. In fact, denials are assertions thrown into negative form. Science may not be able to reveal human destiny, but it certainly should not obscure it.

"Things are as they are, whether we find them out or not; and if we make rash and false statements, posterity will detect us—if posterity ever troubles its head about us. I am one of those who think that hhe methods of science are not so limited in their scope as has been thought; that they can be applied much more widely and that the psychic region can be studied and brought under law, too. Allow us anyhow to make the attempt. Give us a fair field."

Stop Short of Goal.

Attacking the school of arbitrary scientists, who attempt to account for all things by precise scientific laws, he said:

"They account for things up to a point. But do they account for everything completely? Do they account for our own feeling of joy and exaltation, for our sense of beauty, for the manifest beauty existing throughout nature? Do not these things suggest something higher and nobler and more joyous, something for the sake of which all the struggle for existence goes on?

"Surely there must be deeper meaning involved in natural objects. Orthodox explanations are only partial, though true as far as they go. Flowers attract insects for fer-

SOLVE SPIEGEL PEARL ROBBERY

LOOT TAKEN IN SATCHEL.

Traced from Winnetka Residence to Negress' Home in South State Street.

The mystery of the Winnetka jewel robbery was solved last night by the arrest of Julia Yates, a negro maid, who gave up $13,500 worth of jewelry, laces, silks, and other valuables stolen from her former employer, Joseph Spiegel, president of the Spiegel House Furnishing company. She had been in the Spiegel household for ten years.

Burns detectives found the Yates woman in the house of a friend at 2619 Wentworth avenue. She finally confessed that she stole all the articles that the Spiegels had lost. She took the detectives to her home at 4730 South State street and there unlocked trunk after trunk in which she had packed away all the valuables.

The Yates woman told the police she had not been "herself" for six months since an illness affected her brain. She said she thought she was under the spell of a "hoodoo."

Shows She Has Money.

"I never before took anything that didn't belong to me," she said. "But lately I have had a feeling every time I saw something valuable that I had to take it. I never sold any of the stuff. I have money of my own.

"I have three veils over my head, one over my right eye and two more over my left eye, and this has caused me to steal. Some one put this hoodoo on me and I can't shake it off. If you could get some doctor to take the spell of these veils off of me I would be all right. I have been this way since February, when I became sick."

The woman had $35 in cash and a deposit book on a Winnetka bank showing $150 on deposit. She was locked up in the woman's annex at the Thirty-fifth street police station. The matron found a gold lorgnette with a silk and gold chain hidden in the maid's clothing.

Necklace Most Valuable.

The most valuable jewelry recovered was a necklace with ninety-three pearls which had been in the Spiegel family for a number of years. It originally contained fifty pearls, but one had been added each year since its presentation in celebration of anniversaries.

The Spiegels believe the greater part of the jewels were stolen on Labor day, at which time the family was out of the house attending a funeral. Mrs. Spiegel discovered the robbery when later she looked for a certain waist which contained some rare lace in the family for years. It was missing. A search was made and other articles were missed.

List of Missing Articles.

Mr. Spiegel admitted the substantial accuracy of the following inventory of stolen articles:

One pearl necklace, 93 pearls	$9,000
One platinum set pearl ring	700
Lingerie, imported lace, etc.	600
Spanish shawl	100
Smaller articles of jewelry	2,500
Total	$13,500

List of Articles Recovered.

Apparently there were other articles stolen either from the Spiegels or from other north shore homes, for the following were found in the Yates woman's trunks:

Pearl necklace,
Pearl and diamond chain,
Gold watch,
Pearl and gold necklace,
Gold chain set with diamonds,
Pearl bar pin,
Woman's gold watch,
Two gold brooches,
Uninventoried clothing, bric-a-brac, and other articles.
Four diamond rings, ranging from one to three carats,
Gold lorgnette,
Man's overcoat,
Two pairs silk pajamas,
Six silk shirts,
Three silk gowns,
Twenty-five yards lace.

Asks Leave of Absence.

The Yates woman remained in the employ of the Spiegels until yesterday, when she asked for a leave of absence, saying she was ill. She had lived at the Spiegel residence continually, but was in the custom of going home to her mother every other Sunday.

The detectives found the girl had been taking large bundles home with her. On her last trip on Sunday she was followed by Detectives W. H. Cody and Thomas G. Hanson of the Burns agency.

ROBBER STOPS BANKER.

E. J. Dillworth, president of the People's bank of Vermont, O., and Mrs. Pauline Depew, 39 East Ohio street, Chicago, were held up by an armed bandit early today in the shadow of the residence of Mayor Harrison at Ohio and Rush streets.

The woman struck the robber. A policeman arrested him.

JEROME REACHES COLEBROOK

Gov. Felker's Final Action Will Depend on His Attorney General's Opinion, He Says.

STORY OF FLIGHT FROM DOMINION

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10.—That counsel for Harry K. Thaw will make the most of New York state's gubernatorial mixup in attempts to block the fugitive's return to this state from New Hampshire is expected by state officials and supporters of both Gov. Sulzer and Acting Gov. Glynn.

Attorney General Carmody already had taken steps to bring about Thaw's return on extradition papers based upon a charge that Thaw escaped from Matteawan hospital as the result of a conspiracy.

Acting Gov. Glynn stands ready to sign the requisition for extradition as soon as it is presented by District Attorney Conger of Dutchess county, in which the Matteawan hospital is located.

Gov. Sulzer, so far as could be learned, has taken no official action.

Angers New York Official.

Attorney General Carmody was indignant over the action of the Canadian authorities in releasing Thaw without giving notice to New York state officials. He, however, expressed the opinion that Thaw would be returned to New York's jurisdiction.

"We shall continue our efforts to have him returned to Matteawan," he declared, "and I feel confident he will be turned over to this state."

Earlier in the day the attorney general had characterized the deportation of Thaw from Canada as a "gross violation" by the Dominion officials of an agreement to notify New York's representatives in event of any action being taken to return Thaw to this country.

Both Acting Gov. Glynn and Attorney General Carmody took steps to locate Thaw and bring about his return to this state as soon as they learned he had been deported from Canada. Duplicate telegrams were sent to the governors of New Hampshire, Maine, Vermont, and Massachusetts, requesting the detention of the fugitive.

In addition, the attorney general directed William Travers Jerome and Deputy Franklin Kennedy, who left Canada yesterday, to proceed at once to New Hampshire and continue their efforts to have Thaw returned to this state.

Thaw's Fate with New Hampshire.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 10.—"Any action that I may taken in the Thaw case will be governed largely by the recommendations of Attorney General Tuttle," Gov. Samuel D. Felker said today. Gov. Felker said he had received no official notification as yet of Thaw's presence in the state.

Attorneys for Thaw, he said, had telephoned him from New York asking for a hearing in behalf of their client before any action on the proposed extradition proceedings against him should be taken.

"In this, as in all other matters of the kind," the governor said, "I rely on the attorney general for legal advice. He is a man of experience in such matters."

The governor added that in his opinion it is discretionary with the governor whether to grant a hearing or not.

THAW IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Colebrook, N. H., Sept. 10.—Harry Kendall Thaw, fugitive from Matteawan, slept on American soil tonight, barricaded in a hotel room here, after one of the most exciting days in his career.

Thrust unexpectedly over the Canadian border early today despite the writ of habeas corpus demanding his production before the king's bench in Montreal next Monday, he was for three hours a free man, and during that time drove madly in an automobile for fifty futile miles through the hills of Vermont and New Hampshire.

Near noon he ran into the arms of a New Hampshire sheriff and was brought to Colebrook, where he retained counsel to resist extradition.

Jerome Arrives at Colebrook.

William Travers Jerome arrived here on a special train tonight and will assume charge of the case for New York state tomorrow, seeking to have Thaw, as a ward of the state, returned to Matteawan.

Meantime Thaw is "detained," charged with no crime, held on no warrant. Fearing kidnaping at the hands of officers from New York, he asked for a special guard, and Chief of Police Kelley swore in twelve special deputies, all armed. They were patrolling the streets about Thaw's hotel tonight.

At 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning Judge R. N. Chamberlain of the Superior court will hear the applications of Thaw's lawyers for a writ of habeas corpus.

Thaw himself issued this statement tonight:

"What occurred under the English flag this morning is something I cannot discuss, but we believe good Canadians will do what is right. Now I have come to New Hampshire, but only on my difficult way home to Pennsylvania.

"There is no honest legal charge against me and we trust New Hampshire won't accept any subterfuge from a few officials of a larger state.

"We hope citizens of New Hampshire who won't be bluffed will write the governor."

Thaw Charged with Conspiracy.

As a matter or form Thaw was arrested in his rooms shortly after 10 o'clock on a complaint sworn to by Justice Morschauser in Dutchess county, N. Y., who has issued a blanket warrant charging Thaw and those who assisted him in his escape from Matteawan with conspiracy.

Crowds poured in Colebrook tonight as if there was a circus in town. Hotel corridors were crowded. Thaw sent out more than fifty telegrams. Among others he has requested to come here is ex-Gov. Stone of Pennsylvania.

Story of Thaw Deportation.

Thaw's ejection from Canada began with the breaking of a window. Aroused from his cot in the immigration detention room at Coaticook and told he was to be taken across the border at once, he flew into a rage, picked up a heavy glass tumbler, and with all his might hurled it at the head of the nearest immigration officer. The official dodged and the tumbler crashed through a window and was smashed on the station platform below.

Five minutes later Thaw was half carried, half dragged down the stairs, forced into a waiting automobile, wedged between two dominion police, and whirled toward Norton Mills, Vt., nine miles away.

He protested throughout the short trip, but his guards ignored him. At 8:55 he was whisked past a gray stone slab marking the boundary, and like a rabbit being released, was set gently down on a bit of open ground.

Acts Like Lost Child.

He whimpered in bewilderment. He looked north, south, east, and west, as if trying to decide which way to go. Half a dozen idlers stepped toward him timidly, but none tried to lay hands on him.

For perhaps half a minute Thaw stood there, his hat pulled over his eyes, his hair awry, his face unshaven, his clothes rumpled. Then, as there was nothing else to do, he climbed into the automobile of a newspaper correspondent and asked to be driven away.

"Take me to the New Hampshire line," he implored. "Jerome has got the attorney general of Vermont fixed. In New Hampshire I believe I would have a fighting chance against extradition. Maybe we can reach a railroad somewhere and I can buy a through ticket to Detroit."

Rambles in His Talk.

Talking incoherently of Detroit, his lawyers, his mother, and of writs of habeas corpus, he was driven east over a winding road, a stone's throw from the boundary. At Averill, Vt., five miles on, the car stopped at a small summer hotel. Thaw had not breakfasted. He ordered bread and milk and gulped it down while he tried to get Montreal over the long distance telephone to inform his Canadian counsel and his mother of his predicament.

But wires were bad and Thaw was excited, and he could make no connection. He strode out on the porch only to learn that the chauffeur of the car had deserted. This man was Thomas Trihey, a substantial business man of Coticook, and he had volunteered to assist the newspaper men, but had not counted on aiding Thaw.

Besides, he had not reported his car on crossing the boundary, as required by the customs regulations, and was afraid of the consequences. Reluctantly he turned back, leaving Thaw fuming on the porch of the little hotel, and then came up Frank Cantin, a lean French Canadian. He was driving a small four seated car and was ready to travel anywhere for money.

"Sure I will drive you to hell and back," he assured the fugitive.

Cautions Driver to Use Care.

Thaw got in and so did the newspaper correspondents. Thaw clung tightly to a box of cigars, all the baggage he carried.

The little car jumped away. Cantin evidently thought it was a race for life. Thaw tried to appear calm. His hat was swept off, dust blinded his eyes. The little car took the Vermont hills like a squirrel.

"Never mind my hat," the fugitive shouted. "But hold on there, driver, we don't want to break our necks."

Cantin pulled his car down to twenty miles. A farm wagon hove in sight. Thaw seemed frightened for a moment, then he settled back and tried to smoke. He could not talk connectedly; he could give no idea of what he purposed to do. After several miles the car swerved north and was back in Canada again.

Races for New Hampshire.

Cantin gave his car more fuel and the car fairly hummed through the town of Canaan, Vt. Ahead lay the Connecticut drive and beyond it New Hampshire. Three minutes more and Thaw was parading about the public square of West Stewartstown. He wore a checked cap a newspaper man had lent him to replace the lost straw and made no attempt to conceal his identity. In fact, he appeared rather proud to let it be known who he was. Being in New Hampshire made him breathe easier, and he entered the hotel and tried again to get Montreal on the telephone. Everybody within fifty miles was trying to telephone, it seemed, and Thaw gave it up as a bad job.

"Come on," Thaw said to his companions. "I want to strike a railroad and get to Detroit."

Tries in Vain to Telephone.

But he could not hold to this resolve and his inability to telephone anybody seemed to gall him. Less than four miles out of Stewartstown, running south and east, he made the chauffeur stop again.

The farmhouse of Mrs. Martha Atherton, whose husband was away cooking for a lumber camp, stood well back from the road. Into the yard Thaw had the chauffeur drive and into the kitchen tramped Thaw. He had noticed a telephone wire running into the kitchen.

Mrs. Atherton was out at the barn, but in the kitchen sat her aged step-grandmother, Mrs. Elvira Day.

"I am Harry Thaw," the stranger said.

Mrs. Day apparently had not read the newspapers much of late. "Is that so?" she commented, mildly. "What can I do for you?"

"May I telephone?" Thaw asked, taking off his hat for the first time.

"You surely may, sir," the old lady replied. "We believe in being neighborly."

Thaw smiled and went to the telephone and found it useless. He himself, though he apparently did not realize it, was responsible for the situation. News of his liberation and wild automobile ride was being flashed over the countryside.

Shock to Farmer's Wife.

Mrs. Atherton came in from the barn.

"This is Mr. Thaw," Mrs. Day said in a matter of fact sort of way.

Thaw rose and bowed. Mrs. Atherton was stupefied. Apparently she had read the papers and she was too overcome to move or speak. Here was Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, calmly smoking a cigar in her kitchen. She gazed at him almost caressingly, then offered him a limp hand. As Thaw took it she said:

"We are neighborly folks, Mr. Thaw, and if we can help you in any way we'd like to do it. I'll cook you a meal or hitch up the team or anything you say."

Thaw declined assistance with thanks.

"I must be going in a few moments," he said.

He stepped to the telephone again, and when the operator told him getting Montreal then was out of the question he bade the two women good-by and hailed Cantin.

"We're going to Errol," he said.

Realizes Capture Is Near.

A quarter of a mile down the road was a cloud of dust and under the cloud of dust was a big automobile. Thaw grew panicky. Somehow even at that distance the car had for him a sinister look.

"[illegible] we better turn back?" he asked,

Monaco's Ruler Comes to See Us.

Prince Albert of Monaco

yet he didn't order the chauffeur to stop. The little car kept on. The big car stopped. There were three men in it. One of them was a big man. They strung themselves across the road, and as the little car drew up the big man held up his hand.

"Stop," he cried. "I'm the sheriff of Coos county."

Thaw leaned forward and looked in the sheriff's face. In his heart he must have felt relieved; his face showed it. He was a prisoner again, and the responsibility of being free and not knowing what to do was lifted. He shook the sheriff's hand cordially and with no word of protest or reproach climbed into the sheriff's machine. Under his arm he bore his cigars.

Asks for Square Deal.

"Give me a square deal, sheriff," he asked. "They did me dirt in Canada, and I hope for better treatment in New Hampshire."

The scene of the arrest was in front of a county schoolhouse, near Stewartstown Hollow; the time, 11:58; the distance from Colebrook, roughly, seven miles.

The sheriff's car started almost immediately for Colebrook.

Over the bank are the offices of Thomas F. Johnson, one of the town's leading lawyers. Thaw was taken into the offices, and immediately retained Johnson as local counsel. Also, he retained Merriam Shurtleff, a cousin of a Coaticook lawyer retained in the Thaw case; George Morris and Eri Oaks. He sought to retain J. N. Drew, a brother of the sheriff, but Drew is in Europe.

MERELY CARRIED OUT LAW.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 10.—"I issued the warrant for the deportation of Thaw which was acted upon this morning. I did it in pursuance of my duty as acting minister of the interior," Judge Doherty said. "I assume full responsibility for the deportation. The action was taken after careful consideration. What was done was merely to carry out the law."

Judge Doherty explained that the Canadian immigration law directed the seizure of persons who were suspected of being undesirable, their examination by a board of inquiry and deportation.

"Thaw was suspected, seized, examined, condemned as an undesirable and now has been sent back whence he came and by the same route," Judge Doherty added.

Says Thaw's Counsel Blundered.

"What about the court orders, the writ of prohibition and the writ of habeas corpus?" he was asked.

"There has been a good deal of misunderstanding on these points," Judge Doherty replied. "There was no writ of prohibition directed to the authorities who had Thaw in custody. As for the writ of habeas corpus it was directed to the officer who had Thaw in custody before the board of inquiry took action. It directed the official to produce Thaw on Monday.

"By the operation of the immigration law, Thaw passed from the possession of the officer to where the writ of habeas corpus had been directed. He came by operation of the law into possession of other officials. There was no court order restricting them and nothing to prevent them executing the order for deportation."

Attorneys here said Thaw's counsel blundered in failing to have the writs directed to the Canadian minister of justice instead of the minor officials

MRS. THAW COLLAPSES.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 10.—Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw collapsed when informed that her son had been recaptured. All morning she had been trying to get him on the telephone at the various towns he passed through, and her agitation increased with each succeeding failure.

When news arrived that her son was again in the hands of the authorities at Colebrook, N. H., Mrs. Thaw became unconscious, and a doctor was summoned. When she recovered consciousness her condition was so grave that a trained nurse was employed to watch her constantly.

"This purposely deferred visit of myself and other relatives is purely a family matter, prompted by affectionate interest in the son and brother, H. K. Thaw.

"It is not the intention of any of us to interfere in the slightest degree with H. K. Thaw or his counsel in the management of his case. It has been demonstrated already that he is abundantly able to manage his own affairs."

MONACO'S RULER COMES FOR VISIT

Prince Albert First European Monarch to Enter the United States.

PLANS NATION WIDE TOUR

Says He Has No Power to Stop Monte Carlo Gambling, but Disapproves Games.

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Without any salutes from the harbor forts or official recognition, Prince Albert I. of Monaco came into port today on the deck of his steam yacht Hirondelle and watched the panorama of the city unfolding before him until the anchor was let go off the foot of Ninety-sixth street, North river.

Albert I. is the only reigning European prince who has ever visited this country and he would have been entitled to a salute, but he had notified the state department at Washington that his visit was for pleasure and he was traveling incognito.

Prince Albert will be 65 on Nov. 18, but with his tall, well set up military figure and dark gray hair and close trimmed, pointed beard he does not look more than 50.

Prince Recalls Broadway.

When he received reporters in the laboratory under the fo'-c'-sle deck of his yacht, a room rich with mounted specimens of ocean life, which he has made a study of, Prince Albert recalled his first visit to New York, made when he was 18 years old, as a young ensign in the Spanish navy. All that he could remember of that visit was Broadway.

"This time," he said, "I hope to be able to see something of the modern New York and its busy life, but it will have to be after I return from Wyoming, where I am going on Friday to look at some oil fields I am interested in. I hope to have some shooting out there and possibly kill a grizzly or two.

"After I return to the east I shall call upon President Wilson and then spend some time in the museums in this country, for my trip is being made in the interest of science.

"We look to the United States now for progress in all directions. You have caught up to us, passed us, and will soon be beyond us."

Believes in Woman Suffrage.

Prince Albert said he had been a believer in woman suffrage for many years, and had provided for it in the constitution which he gave to his people a few years ago. He said the advancement of American women had interested him greatly and he considered them to be wonderfully intelligent and progressive.

"No, I have not the power to stop the gambling at Monte Carlo," he said, when some one asked him about the famous casino. "It cannot be avoided. Personally, I do not approve of the games."

ZAMACONA REMAINS SILENT ON MISSION TO WASHINGTON.

Former Ambassador Will Not Admit He Was Sent by Huerta in Effort to Reopen Negotiations.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—Señor Manuel de Zamacona, former Mexican ambassador to the United States, who is supposed to be charged with the task of reopening the negotiations between the United States and the Huerta administration, remained in seclusion tonight with Señor Algara, chargé d'affaires of the Mexican embassy.

Zamacona did not reveal the character of his mission. He maintained that he had come to the United States on "private business."

From American officials it is known the Mexican government made inquiry recently if it would be agreeable to the United States to have Señor Zamacona negotiate some of the points in dispute.

The United States had signified in return that if Señor Zamacona came to resume the negotiations on a new basis he would be received, [illegible]herwise this government considered [illegible] negotiations on the same ground covered [illegible] John Lind as unnecessary.

SEA GIVES UP VICTIM'S LEG?

Find on Beach Adds New Link to New York Murder Mystery Involving Girl.

New York, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—What may be the upper part of a leg of the victim of the Hudson river murder mystery was picked up this afternoon on the beach at Keansburg, N. J., on the southern shore of New York bay, inside the hook.

It had been cut off below the hip joint and just above the knee.

Assistant County Physician Arthur P. Hasking of Hudson county telephoned tonight the measurements of the torso stumps of the murdered woman.

In reply he learned that they corresponded with the measurements of the part of the leg in his possession. Dr. Hasking said he is satisfied the leg belonged to the dismembered woman.

STRIKEBREAKER FARLEY DEAD.

Man Who Made Profession of Fighting Walkouts by Unions Succumbs in Plattsburgh, N. Y.

Plattsburgh, N. Y., Sept. 10.—James Farley, noted strikebreaker and horseman, died in this city late tonight. He was 40 years old. He came home to die two weeks ago after spending the summer with his race horses at the different trotting meets throughout the state.

Farley was twice employed in Chicago as a head strikebreaker during street railway strikes. He was here also during the last teamsters' strike.

Constant Striving Toward Life.

"But these explanations cannot be final. We still have to explain the insects. We have further to explain this competitive striving towards life. Surely the effort must have some significance, the development some aim.

"We thus reach the problem of existence itself, and the meaning of evolution. If we dogmatize in a negative direction and say that we can reduce everything to physics and chemistry, we gibbet ourselves as ludicrously narrow pedants, and are falling short of the richness and fullness of our human birthright. How far preferable is the reverent attitude of the eastern poet:

"'The world with eyes bent upon thy feet stands in awe with all its silent stars.'

Trustees of the Truth.

"Men and brethren, we are trustees of the truth of the physical universe as scientifically exploded; let us be faithful to our trust.

"Genuine religion has its roots deep down in the heart of humanity, and in the reality of things. It is not surprising that by our methods we fail to grasp it; the actions of the Deity make no appeal to any special sense, only a universal appeal, and our methods are, as we know, incompetent to detect complete uniformity.

"There is a principle of relativity here, and unless we encounter flaw or jar or change, nothing in us responds; we are deaf and blind therefore to the immanent grandeur around us, unless we have insight enough to appreciate the whole, and to recognise in the woven fabric of existence flowing steadily from the loom of an infinite progress towards perfection, the ever growing garment of a transcendent God."

TELLS OF LABOR'S FIGHT FOR LAWS

Gompers Testifies to House Committee That Effort Was Aid to Workers.

OPPOSITION FROM N. A. M.

Stand of Rival Organ Alleged to Have Started with Effort of Parry.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, appeared late today as a witness before the house lobby investigating committee, beginning an inquiry into organized labor's efforts to influence legislation by congress.

Mr. Gompers, questioned by his attorney, Jackson H. Ralston, gave the committee a detailed statement of the aims and purposes of the American Federation of Labor, frankly told of its efforts through a legislative committee to influence congress toward the enactment of legislation favorable to the workers, and said that, in this effort, opposition of the National Association of Manufacturers always had been encountered.

"The only evidence that I and my colleagues ever have had as to the existence of the National Association of Manufacturers," he added, "was vindictive antagonism to everything we advocated, no matter how humane."

Tells Aims of Federation.

At the outset of his testimony Mr. Gompers was asked to state the aims of the American Federation of Labor.

"It aims," he said, "to relieve the working people from burdensome long hours of toil; to protect them in their work, protect their lives and health; to improve their material, moral, social, and political standing; to bring about a better condition for the toilers of our country as a reward for services they render to society."

Tracing the history of legislation for the benefit of labor, Mr. Gompers claimed credit on behalf of the federation for the work of legislative committees in Washington and in many states, asserting that all labor legislation was constantly being urged upon legislative bodies through argument by representatives of the working people.

Tells Change of Manufacturers.

The witness said the American Manufacturers' association had always been an anti-union or anti-labor organization.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "the National Association of Manufacturers was not an anti-labor organization until Mr. D. M. Parry's declaration in 1903 to the convention of that association at New Orleans. Mr. Parry, as president, had his report printed. It was a virulent attack on all organized labor. That report he never read to the convention at New Orleans. From that time the association became anti-labor and anti-union."

Representative Willis asked Mr. Gompers what relation the American Federation of Labor bore to the Knights of Labor.

Tells of Littlefield Fight.

At a night session Mr. Gompers resumed the stand and was asked if he and the American Federation of Labor had ever opposed the election of any one to congress. He said they had and that the first opposition was directed in 1906 against Charles E. Littlefield of Maine. He added that he found, when he went to Maine, that Martin M. Mulhall and other agents of the National Association of Manufacturers had preceded him.

"What did you find Mulhall doing there?" asked Attorney Ralston.

"If I may use the language of the street," said the witness, "I found that he was engaged in corralling voters and getting them tanked up. This system he continued until election day."

Emery Ends His Testimony.

Mr. Gompers was called at the conclusion of the examination of James A. Emery, counsel for the Council for Industrial Defense of the National Association of Manufacturers, who said, when asked what he now thought of the Workman's Protective association, organized by Martin M. Mulhall:

"I think it was a political Falstaffian army, whose members increased according to the imagination of the commander in chief."

LINES WEST OF BUFFALO.

Lake Shore and Other Systems Included in Proposed Combine.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.—In connection with the interstate commerce commission's investigation of the proposed refunding of New York Central 3½ per cent bonds with 4 per cents amounting to $167,102,400, it developed today that a great railroad consolidation is in contemplation.

A brief filed on behalf of the New York Central seems to have excited certain stockholders of that line as it recites that "with the consent of stockholders of the two companies and when the required authorization of public authorities shall have been given, it is proposed to consolidate the New York Central and Hudson River company, the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway company, and certain other of the New York lines west of Buffalo."

The brief adds that there is no present intention of including the Michigan Central railroad company in such consolidation.

No Definite Plan for Merger.

What other lines are proposed to be brought into the formal consolidation is a matter which the commission is endeavoring to establish.

Albert H. Harris, representing the New York Central, declared that no definite plan had yet been made for the consolidation and that it had not been determined what roads would be included.

A. R. Mackley, an agent of the commission, asserted that the consolidation of the New York Central and Lake Shore will lead to the absorption under the consolidation of the Chicago, Indiana and Southern, the Toledo and Ohio Central and the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, which are controlled by the Lake Shore.

J. Aspinwall Hodge, representing the dissenting stockholders, contended that the proposed consolidation would violate the decision of the United States Supreme court in the Northern Pacific case, and others.

How Roads' Stock Is Held.

It appears that the New York Central owns 90 per cent of the stock of the Michigan Central and something over 90 per cent of the Lake Shore. The Lake Shore, in turn, now controls 51 per cent of the stock of the Nickel Plate railroad.

It also developed during the hearing today that the New York Central controls the Rutland railroad, which has rail and water connections between New York and Chicago and that the New York Central also controls rail and water routes between New York and Chicago.

J. Pierpont Morgan appeared before the commission yesterday and was briefly examined. Mr. Morgan said that it was essential that the new bond issue go through, as the financing either of the Lake Shore or the New York Central could not go on piecemeal forever.

System Will Create Confidence.

He said that by the issuing of one bond secured by a general mortgage of the combined systems there will be developed a security which in a short time would become recognized as a general system security and become more or less standard and one in which the people will have more confidence than they would have on mortgage bonds of a smaller system.

The dissenting stockholders appear to be the only ones protesting against the issue of bonds.

The commission did not conclude its investigation today and it will resume it at some future date. When completed the commission will forward its report to the senate.

THIS WOMAN A TRUE WIFE.

Tells Police Lights on Her Street Are Out—Afraid Husband Couldn't Find Way Home.

"The lights are out between Forty-fifth and Forty-seventh streets, in Greenwood avenue, and I am afraid my husband will not be able to find his way home," said a woman over the telephone to Operator Hunt at the Hyde Park station last night.

When questioned she explained that she had moved into a flat at East Forty-sixth street and Greenwood avenue yesterday, and her husband is a night worker.

The police learned that the lights were not burning, and the fire alarm office was notified to have a man repair them.

WOMEN ORGANIZE 'LIBERTY LEAGUES'

Half of City Already Covered by United Societies Auxiliary, Neumann Says.

SUPPORT FOR SALOONS.

Members Who Are New Voters Pledge Help to Husbands and Fathers.

After the passage of the woman's suffrage law in Illinois the United Societies' leaders said they would marshal an army of their wives and daughters to vote with them "for personal liberty."

Last night at a meeting in the Alliance building at 1243 North Wood street, Leopold Neumann, organizer for the United Societies, announced the army had been organized. More than half the wards in the city, he said, now boasted "personal liberty" leagues among the women. At this meeting Fifteenth ward women were organized.

"There are 7,200 saloons in Chicago," Mr. Neumann said. "Each saloon pays $1,000 every year for a license. Every saloon employs at least three men. If the saloons were shut down 21,000 men would lose their employment. The United States census shows $330,000,000 revenue last year was paid in by the liquor interests.

"We will help you women fight your battles. Organize a league and send two delegates to our United Societies and work with us. There are to be two delegates from each ward in the city to work right with the men. You must fight for personal liberty, home rule, self-government, and equal taxation."

Woman Talks for Saloons.

Mrs. Bessie Pine of 2023 Potomac avenue, who was chairman of the meeting, left her chair to say a few words to her "sisters."

"Thirteen years ago," Mrs. Pine said, "Cook County Democracy went to a ball. I went to that ball because Carrie Nation was there. She carried the nation, but not the saloons. We can't afford to be without the saloons and have more poor people in the city. Think of the thousands of men you would turn on the streets. You must organize a woman's liberty league in the Fifteenth ward as the women have done in the Twenty-second, the Twenty-third, and Twentieth, the Twelfth, and half the other wards."

F. O. Sebring, the next speaker, declared he had nothing to fear from the women.

"Seventy-four per cent of the women voted Denver wet," he said. "The basic right of freedom is the right of personal liberty for every man and woman. If you destroyed the saloon you would throw thousands of men out of work."

Calls Women Fellow Citizens.

"Fellow citizens," A. Wulff said, as he bowed to the women, "I was proud when the state gave you the vote. Women are more level headed than men. The great struggle of the world is toleration. As voters you women must be tolerant—let each person live his life as he sees fit. If he wishes to conduct a saloon for a living permit him to do so."

Mrs. Esther Falkenstein, vice president of the Woman's party, declared that her politics had the humane stamp. She was in favor of a prisoner's pension being established by the women voters.

Then the "Women's Liberty League of the Fifteenth ward" was born. Mrs. Bessie Pine was chosen president, Mrs. Bertha Fagan, vice president; Mrs. Susan Koenigsbery, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Sadie Victor, treasurer, and Mrs. Sarah Edelson, financial secretary.

MRS. YOUNG ASKS BIDS ON SCHOOL SPELLER MANUSCRIPT

Superintendent's Action Does Not Shut Out Book Concerns, for No New Plates Are Contemplated.

School book concerns will not be left out entirely in the new board of education speller which Supt. Ella Flagg Young was authorized to compile. She sent letters yesterday to the publishers of text books asking them to present bids for the sale of spelling book manuscript or the rental of plates to the board.

Mrs. Young will take the manuscript of a speller already in existence and have it printed specially for the board. The bids must be submitted by Thursday, Sept. 18.

The Corkery school had its annual vegetable dinner yesterday. Mrs. Young, who visited the school, was given the largest potato and ear of corn.

"The school children of the fifth grade have a wonderful garden," Mrs. Young said. "I visited the Jungman school also, where they have a 'mathematical' flower garden. The fences and the beds are all laid out according to mathematics. Next year they are going to have vegetables, and I believe the movement will spread to a great many other schools."

BAR SIFTS GUGGENHEIM CASE.

Association Will Consider Action on Lawyers Who Appeared in Divorce Suit Before Dunne.

The Chicago Bar association will consider the cases of lawyers who conducted the Guggenheim divorce case before Gov. Edward F. Dunne while judge of the Circuit court, at a meeting of the grievance committee to be held tomorrow evening. According to John L. Fogle, attorney for the association, the Chicago lawyers connected with the case will be exonerated.

"If there was a conspiracy to obtain the divorce in the first place," said the attorney, "the New York lawyers were responsible for it."

NUDE ART HELD UNMAILABLE.

Campbell Upheld in Prohibiting Posting of Picture Cards of Hicks Publishing Company.

Nude art cannot be sent through the United States mails. Federal Judge Sanborn yesterday entered an order denying an application for injunction against Postmaster D. A. Campbell, filed ten days ago by Mrs. Ivy V. Sturtevant of the Hicks Publishing company, 800 Schiller building, asking that the postoffice official be prohibited from interfering with the mailing of nude picture cards.

ACCUSES HUSBAND OF BIGAMY.

Mrs. Robert Lombela, Who Claims Kinship with Former Congressman Moxley, Procures Man's Arrest.

Robert Lombela, 1647 West Monroe street, was held to the grand jury by Municipal Judge Goodnow yesterday on a charge of bigamy. His bonds were fixed at $5,000.

Mrs. Lillian Moxley Lombela of 2246 West Erie street, who testified in court that she is a niece of former Congressman William J. Moxley, obtained a warrant for her husband, charging abandonment.

WANTS A FIREARMS LAW.

Judge Fry Advocates Act Compelling Drivers of Cars to Register.

Coroner Peter Hoffman announced yesterday that he intends to widen the scope of the work of his public safety committee.

This committee was announced originally as an organization of citizens who would work toward cutting down the number of auto and other traffic accidents in the city. The coroner now says that it will be asked to assist in decreasing the number of suicides and murders and deaths through criminal operations.

In an address before the Association of Commerce at a luncheon at the Hotel La Salle the coroner gave Chicagoans some statistics to cogitate over. He said that during the eight years he has been in office 8,820 deaths exclusive of those caused by traffic accidents have come to his attention. The number killed in traffic accidents is 5,586.

Wants Firearm Legislation.

The first steps toward reducing the number of homicides and suicides, he said, will be the investigation of the sale of poison and firearms with an aim to regulating such sales by legislation. Poisons obtainable at nearly all drug stores, he said, are responsible for the majority of the mysterious deaths which come to the attention of the coroner. Cheaply and easily obtained firearms were named as next in the order of chief causes of deaths.

5,586 Killed in Eight Years.

By steam railroads	3,022
By automobiles and motorcycles	433
By street railways	1,495
By elevated railways	134
By other vehicles	502
Total	5,586

"During the last eight years," said the coroner, "the records of our office show the number of deaths by criminal operations on women to be 531. There is not one of those deaths but could be avoided if the perpetrator was taught to know his criminal offense would be visited with certain punishment.

"Our jail is filled with people charged with murder. The city has in every part of it men on bail awaiting for trial upon that charge."

When Coroner Hoffman finished he was handed $400 by George H. Whittle of the association street traffic committee as a contribution from the railway express companies as a "starter" for a fund to finance the work of the committee. Coroner Hoffman said he had received nineteen acceptances to the twenty-five invitations he sent out for membership on his committee.

A coroner's jury yesterday failed to fix the responsibility for the automobile accident near St. John, Ind., on Aug. 24, when five persons lost their lives and three were severely injured.

FEDERAL JUDGE BAKER HURT.

Goshen, Ind., Sept. 10.—Judge Francis E. Baker of the United States Court of Appeals was badly bruised, and a friend, Taylor Newell, suffered three ribs broken, when their automobile was hurled from the Chicago, South Bend and Indiana right of way near here by an interurban car today. Judge Baker was on his way to Chicago for the October term of court. The same crossing was the scene of the killing of Lucile Fryberger of Goshen and Helen Lants of Milford recently, when their car was struck by a train.

Man and Wife Killed.

Noblesville, Ind., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—William Waltz and his wife were killed, and L. R. Haworth and his wife were badly injured when an auto was struck by a traction car today.

GATES ON MYSTERIOUS TRIP.

Uses Special Train for Minneapolis-to-New York Journey, but Reason Is Secret.

In his second special train within a week, Charles G. Gates spent a few minutes in Chicago last night on his way from Minneapolis to New York. He refused to talk to reporters. The secretary, the porter, the cook all "knew nothing." The trip cost $3,046 in train fare alone. There were two other men and two women in the car. The trip from Minneapolis was made in eleven hours. A schedule of twenty hours has been arranged to New York.

WOMAN WOULD BLOW UP JAIL

Mrs. Antoinette Funk Suggests Dynamite at South Clark St.

CALLS AIR IN CELLS VILE.

Declares Place Is Firetrap; Prisoners Leave It Anarchists.

The woman's vigilance committee was permanently organized yesterday at a meeting of women at the Progressive club. The object of the committee is to clean up or close up the police stations.

The use of dynamite was threatened if the authorities refuse to close up the South Clark street station. Mrs. Antoinette Funk, who was elected chairman of the woman's vigilance committee, advocated the militant methods.

"If there is no other way to close the Clark street station," she said, "I believe it ought to be blown up with dynamite, and I am ready to lead a crowd down there to do it.

"It is better for Chicago not to have a police station than to have one like that. No person can come out of there without being an anarchist.

Calls Jail a Fire Trap.

"I am going to work to get the fire department and the health department to close the station at once. It is the worst fire trap I have ever been in. The building would burn like a piece of pine. The elevator shaft is open and the stairways are wooden.

"The women would have to go through six locked iron doors before they could get to a fire escape. Then they would have to get through a small window four feet from the floor in front of which is a coil of steam pipes. I am light and agile, but was unable to get up to that window. The men would roast in their cells if fire ever broke out.

"It is just as urgent that the station be closed by the health department for sanitary reasons.

Two Stations Are Worse.

"There are two stations worse than that at South Clark street," said Miss Anna Nicholes, "but Chicago has the best police station in the world. It is the Shakspeare avenue station. The old Harrison street station was the worst in the world."

The meeting was called by Mrs. George W. Trout, who presided. Among those who attended were Mrs. Sherman Booth, Miss Margaret Dobyns, Mrs. J. F. Presnell, Mrs. Jennie Wilson of Boone, Ia.; Mrs. Charles Kohlhammer, Mrs. Ida Wells Barnett, Mrs. Thomas Knight, Mrs. Linda Prussing Azamar, Mrs. Adalyn Slaughter, Mrs. Minnie Jacobs Berlin, Mrs. Nina Curtis, Mrs. John Taylor Cowles, and Frances Pearson. Mrs. Azamar was appointed secretary.

HEARS OF INSULT TO FLAG.

Householder Warned Not to Fly British Colors Above Stars and Stripes.

The police were told last night by Adj. Gen. Lewis D. Greene of the I. N. G. that a British flag was being flown over an American flag on a building at 1234 Otis street. The Hudson avenue police sent Policeman William Allen to the house, but the flags were not there. John Mitter, on whose home the flags were said to have been was cautioned by the policeman not to exhibit the flags in that manner.

'TOO OLD TO LIVE,' TRIES TO DIE

Aged German Jumps Into River Singing Air of Fatherland.

NO FRIENDS AND NO MONEY.

Rather than Run Into Debt with Landlady He Decides to Kill Self.

Singing a German song, Julius Scafelar, who is 84 years old and lives at 1469 Noble street, leaped from the Diversey avenue bridge into the river last night in an attempt to end his life. He was rescued by Policeman Stephen Sheridan of the Sheffield avenue station. He was pulled out with a hook attached to a long rope, which Policeman Sheridan managed to catch in his coat. Scafelar was unconscious but was revived at Alexian Brothers' hospital.

When he had recovered sufficiently to talk Scafelar said that he was tired of life, being without relatives, friends, or money, and decided to drown himself as he was too old and infirm to work.

"I have been in the United States three-quarters of a century and am without home, friends, or money," said Scafelar. "I am too old to work and decided to end my life rather than increase the debt I already owe my rooming house keeper."

Alfred Engledall of 1635 Kolmar avenue, jumped into the west lagoon in Humboldt park last night and was rescued by several west park policemen after a struggle, but died a short time after being removed to St. Elizabeth's hospital.

HAZEL BROWN STILL MISSING.

Insurance Solicitor Asserts He Saw Girl in Street Car—Stepfather Thinks Her Dead.

Hazel Laverne Brown Jones, 14 years old, who left her home at 1441 Melrose street on Monday, apparently to go to school, has not yet been found.

Her stepfather insists that she has been abducted, mistreated, and her body hidden somewhere. He does not think she could have returned to her real father, Bert E. Brown, of 16 Third street, Milwaukee.

An insurance solicitor in the Prudential Life Insurance company, who has a policy on the girl's life, declares he saw her Tuesday afternoon on board a Belmont avenue street car.

Hazel's mother secured a divorce from Brown seven years ago, and married Jones, and the girl has lived with them since that time.

MAN ACCUSED OF KNIFING DOG.

Illinois Humane Society Charges Terrier Was Stabbed When It Fought Great Dane.

The Illinois Humane society is hunting for Robert Clice of 1215 Liberty street on the charge of stabbing a fox terrier belonging to Laurence Bernas of 1220 Thirty-first place. Twenty-one stitches were taken in the small dog's side by Dr. Baker and Dr. Heron, veterinarians. The trouble was caused when Clice took a great Dane down to Bernas' home to fight the terrier. The big dog was being cut to pieces by the little one when Clice, according to Barnes, drew a knife and slashed the small dog.

MICHIGAN JUDGE FREES AUERBACH

CASE TAKEN FROM JURY.

Bench Accepts Claim of Defense That Evidence Showed No Guilt.

Hersey, Mich., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—After being tried twice for the murder of Harry Fisher of Chicago near Baldwin, the first time being convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment at Jackson, Oscar M. Auerbach, also of Chicago, today was acquitted of the charge.

Judge Joseph Barton of Mecosta county, who presided for Judge C. A. Withey of the Osceola Circuit court, took the case from the jury and ordered a verdict of not guilty entered.

As the judge went over the ground of the testimony and pronounced the words that freed Auerbach the audience rose and gave hearty applause.

Claims Made Before Judge.

The prosecution rested this afternoon. Counsel Murfin for the defense then rose and asked that all testimony said to have been given in the first trial be stricken out and followed this with a request that Judge Barton direct a verdict of not guilty on the following grounds:

First—No evidence in the case of any corpus delicti.

Father Killed on Farm.

Harry W. Fisher was killed on his fruit farm near Baldwin last September. Auerbach had been taken to the farm and installed as manager by Fisher. One morning the men started out on a hunting trip. They took with them a 32 caliber rifle and four cartridges. A short time later Auerbach went to the home of a farmer living nearby and told him that Fisher had been killed when his gun accidentally exploded by falling from a stump.

The body was taken to the Fisher home, where it is said the widow refused to look at it. An undertaker in Baldwin was called and asked to prepare the body for immediate shipment and was asked to say nothing of the occurrence.

This he refused to do, however, and he notified the sheriff, and an investigation followed. It was found that Fisher had been shot in the back, the bullet entering at right angles from the line of the back, and it was claimed it would have been impossible for such a wound to have been made by a gun discharged in the manner Auerbach said it was discharged.

Tell of Swimming Parties.

RAILROAD ENGINEER WEEPS AT SIDE OF HIS BURNED ENGINE.

"Big Bess" He Drove for Fifteen Years Ruined in $500,000 Shop Fire at Ninety-third Street.

A gray haired veteran railroad engineer wandered aimlessly around the fire ruins of the shops of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad yesterday at Stony Island avenue and Ninety-third street. Fire early in the day had destroyed the plant and all locomotives and machinery in it at a loss of $500,000.

The engineer was Michael Smith of 9323 Luella avenue. He was found standing reverently beside a flame blackened locomotive from which all woodwork had been burned. Smith cried as he placed one hand on one of the giant drivers of the locomotive. He had driven the locomotive, "Big Bess," for fifteen years for the road.

James O'Brien, chief engineer, discovered the fire at 5 o'clock in the morning. He tied down the handle of the steam siren, calling engine company No. 28. All efforts to save the two buildings were in vain.

Blaney was ordered to pay his wife $10 a week alimony and $35 attorney's fees pending the disposition of the case. The boy left court clinging to his father's hand, smiling.

WARRANT FOR "BOY WIZARD"

ARTHUR MEEKER ONE VICTIM

Prominent Persons "Stung," Youth's Employer Says.

"St. Georgie" Storke's passion for playing with checks caused a warrant to be sworn out for his arrest yesterday on a charge of forgery.

"St. Georgie" is Butler R. Storke of Oak Park, who went out into the wilderness of La Salle street in search of the financial dragons who inhabit that region and was all but devoured.

Charles F. Dickinson, superintendent of agents of the Merchants' Reserve Life Insurance company, 1410 Otis building, who swore out the warrant, asserts Storke is guilty of check kiting, forgery, embezzlement, and "I don't know what not."

Tells of Storke's Backslide.

"We felt sorry for the boy, and on the recommendation of an Oak Park man we took him into our employ," Dickinson said last night. "We gave him a chance to make good, knowing his record.

"Shortly we discovered he was robbing us right and left. His method was to walk into the office of some one of our customers, throw one of the Merchants' Reserve cards on the table, explain who he was, and remark casually that he was without money and that the company would take it as a personal favor if the customer would cash a check.

"Sometimes the customer would agree to Storke's proposition, and in due time the check would come back to us marked 'No funds.' How he ever got away with it I don't know. Sometimes he used other names than his own. Sometimes he was given checks by customers which he stuck in his pockets and forgot to mention to us.

Begs Another Chance.

"We called him on the carpet and he swore he would make good everything. He was sorry and begged for just another chance. Again we were sorry for him. He was only a boy, and he comes of a good family.

"But still he continued. He got into Arthur Meeker with a lot of accident policies that Mr. Meeker, I am sure, knows nothing about, and he swindled other prominent people. So we had to discharge him.

"We agreed not to prosecute him providing he stayed away from us, and agreed not to use our name in any way. He was only too willing to promise. He didn't keep his word, however, and so I had to swear out the warrant. It seems that when he took hold of a pen he just couldn't let it go. He put over a string of checks that must have netted him as much as $1,000. I believe that boy would do anything."

Seeks Another Job.

After his discharge Storke walked into the offices of the North American Life Insurance company in the North American building and asked for a job. He airily told Thomas S. Swirles that his conscience hurt him while working for the Merchants' Reserve.

"The Merchants' Reserve has no reserve fund to pay, and I didn't want to get my friends into a swindle."

"I knew he was not telling the truth," Mr. Swirles said, "but I was sorry for the lad and thought I might make something out of him. I didn't know anything about his passion for forgery. He has been in our employ only a week."

The warrant was given to Sergt. John Q. Johnson of the detective bureau to serve. Johnson, accompanied by an Oak Park policeman, for the city police have no jurisdiction in Oak Park, went to the Storke residence, but "St. Georgie" was not to be found.

SHERMAN COMING TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

U. S. Senator Due to Arrive Today or Tomorrow from Washington.

PLANS SPEAKING TOUR.

Friends Advise Him to Steer Clear of 1916 Governorship Contest for the Present.

United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman is expected to arrive in Illinois today or tomorrow from Washington. His political friends have been given to understand that the Sherman campaign for reelection by direct vote of the people next year will begin without delay. Probabilities are there will be an informal round up of Sherman lieutenants at Springfield on Saturday.

Senator Sherman expects to undertake a statewide speaking campaign at once. Good friends of the senator in Chicago said conditions are such that he may enter the campaign with the solid backing of the Republican state organization.

Factional Row Averted?

The report is current among Republican leaders, who are working nights in preparing for rehabilitation of the state organization and rejuvenation of the Cook county committee, that a perfectly peaceable outcome of the much threatened factional hostility is assured by communications which have reached Illinois from Washington.

The forecast from these sources is that the Republican state committee will stand sponser for the state fair love feast and that all elements will be satisfied with the program of action to be announced. The minority patronage muss, which is credited with having originated the factional disturbance, will settle itself, the leaders believe, by the final action of Gov. Dunne. The governor will return from the Lake Erie celebration tomorrow and announcement of his minority jobholders is anticipated immediately.

The report is that an attempt will be made in the general harmony talks to divorce the coming senatorial fight from the governorship contest of 1916.

Moose Ready for Action.

The Progressive county committee is ready for business, according to the announcement of Chairman Harold L. Ickes of the county committee. The first formal move will be a luncheon Wednesday noon in the rooms of the Progressive club of Chicago, at which Mr. Ickes will be welcomed home after a trip through New England. Willis E. Thorne will be chairman and State Senator Walter Clyde Jones will be toastmaster.

Mr. Ickes announced that a "no compromise" policy is his idea of a party program for Chicago and Illinois. He said he favored straight Progressive nominations for aldermen in all the wards next spring unless there is a genuine nonpartisan agreement between Progressive, Republican, and Democratic parties. He also favors a Progressive candidate for United States senator.

The Ninth Ward Progressive organization has announced a picnic at One Hundred and Twenty-third street and Michigan avenue for next Saturday. The announced speakers are Frank H. Funk, Mrs. Funk, Dr. Clarence B. Strauss of Virginia, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, Mrs. Esther Falkenstein, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Robins.

SAMARITAN IN FORGOTTEN ARMY CAMP

nothing to say about himself unless he is urged. He is—or was—a machinist.

"I was a damned good machinist, too. When work was slack and men were laid off they used to keep me on. But I'm getting old. I'll be 69 my next birthday. If I lied about it I guess I'd go for ten years younger. But when I tell 'em my age they shake their heads. I can't get work. It's been that way for five years now. Thank God my family's all gone, anyhow. Yes, I used to take a drink in the old days. But nobody ever saw me drunk. I'm too damned old. That's what's the matter with me. Last year I had to sell my chest of tools." Old man Oleson stopped talking and tackled his ham and eggs.

"Growing old," said the professor, "is a form of dissipation to which we are all strongly addicted."

"PEGLEG" sat at the left of the head of the table—though the name should have been in the plural, for both of his legs were off below the knees. There was no sign or odor of booze about him. He looked you straight in the eyes as he talked.

"I guess I got a right to call myself a painter. I used to be one, anyhow. Six years ago—I'm 30 now—I was working up on a high scaffold. It was in my home town down state. A timber broke and dropped me. On the way down to the ground my legs struck half a dozen rafters. They—my legs—were pretty badly smashed up. One of them was taken off at once. They tried to save the other, but it had to go, too. They told me I had no claim for damages, but the boss was decent. He paid my hospital bill and gave me $200 to boot. Sure, I've been drunk a few times in my life, but I'm not what I'd call a drinking man. You don't know where a first class house painter without any feet can get a job, do you?"

"Industrial accidents," said the professor. "The old lack of an employer's liability law and the delightful doctrine of the fellow servant."

ON the way over from Grant park "Pegleg," though not naturally a tall man, had stooped far over as he stumped along on his crutches. He was asked about it. "My crutches were eight inches longer when I bought them than they are now. I've tramped around so much, a good deal of the time on hard stone sidewalks, that I have worn eight inches off the bottom of each stick. That's why I'm so round shouldered." Then he grinned.

"It's a queer thing," said the professor, "but I just happen to know where there is a pair of brand new crutches that will fit you, Pegleg. I'll bring them down this afternoon."

The professor was a shameless prevaricator in this regard—unless he was referring to a shop window he had passed the day before. However—as you shall hear—the little gods of chance can turn up a pair of crutches on a moment's notice and without making the least fuss about it.

"THERE are a good many fellows more or less in my fix," said Bill, the printer. "Our work runs in seasons. Part of the year we have more to do than there are men to do it. Then comes the slack season and a lot of us are laid off. But I got a job promised for next week."

"Seasonal unemployment," said the professor under his breath.

Joe was next. Joe has lodged in Grant park more or less all summer. He is a young German, blue eyed, flaxen haired, always smiling. His only living relative is a sister living in the fatherland. On Thursday Joe had walked twelve miles out into the country to find a job on a farm near Desplaines. He got the job, which lasted one day. So on Saturday he walked back to town again and took his old room in Grant park. "I get me plenty jobs," said Joe, smiling, "but I don't hold him."

"Lack of training and of natural ability," said the professor. "The boy is too innocent and ingenuous for his age and experience."

LAST of all spoke up Pat Griffin, one of his eyes red and terribly swollen, the other also badly inflamed. He was not a pretty picture.

"I'm a paper hanger, a good man at my trade. A year ago I got something in one of my eyes. The doctor said it was infected. Anyway they've been getting worse ever since. I was in the hospital for three months. Got out two weeks ago. I guess I'm going blind. Nobody will give me a job because I'm such a tough looking cuss. Don't know as I blame them."

It developed that Pat had had a good, square meal at noon on the previous Thursday. Since then he had been strictly dieting, confining himself to cold water from the fountains in Grant park. The professor, with a wink at the waiter, had a sirloin steak put down at Pat's place.

"It didn't happen to be a case of occupational disease," he said, "but it is disease and it comes to the same thing."

IF any cynical and sophisticated reader has so far honored this writing he has doubtless made up his mind that the professor is a mythical person, the banquet an imaginary feast, and the stories told by the men a set of reportorial inventions. If his curiosity is sufficient to lead him to inquire he may have, in confidence, the name and address of the professor, who will doubtless confirm all the statements made above, except so far as they may reflect any credit on himself. The name and location of the hotel where the party was held is also available. And it might be possible to locate old man Oleson, Joe and some of the others.

As for the professor, he didn't get back to his boarding house until the sun was getting ready to rise on Sunday morning. At the dinner table his landlady, with a suspicious twinkle in her eye, asked if he hadn't better explain what kept him out all night. The professor blushed and told the stories of Pegleg and Pat Griffin.

When he started downtown later in the day the landlady's sister met him in the hall and slipped a $5 bill into his hand. "I'd like to help a little, too," she said. And the landlady, who is a lady of large and impressive figure, held him up at the front door.

"A year ago I slipped and sprained my ankle," she said. "They made me walk on crutches for several weeks. I haven't got a bit of use for the things now and I wish you'd take them down and give them to your friend."

CHIEF AT PONTIAC QUITS UNDER FIRE

Russell Ends Duties as Superintendent After Charges Are Made.

RESULT OF AN INQUIRY.

Boys Are Alleged to Have Been Beaten and Forced to Work Overtime.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 10.—R. A. Russell has relinquished the position of superintendent of the Illinois state reformatory at Pontiac and Chief Clerk Trumbo is acting as superintendent.

Russell's resignation, to take effect Jan. 1, has been in the hands of Gov. Dunne for some time, and his sudden retirement today followed the institution of an investigation of alleged cruelty to inmates by guards.

Charge Drawn by Lucey.

Charges of cruelty toward the inmates, working them overtime and without hours for recreation, and of financial inability were preferred today. They were drawn up by Attorney General Lucey at the request of Gov. Dunne.

They are the result of an investigation of the conditions at the reformatory made last week by Special Investigator Florence E. Sullivan.

The charges will be pushed regardless of the resignation.

Worked for Many Hours.

Among the charges are those that Russell permitted the guards to beat and kick the boys and use a strip of rubber in beating them; that they have been worked from 7:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. without any recreation and with but an hour off for dinner, whereas the law provides that they shall not be worked more than three hours continuously without recreation.

It is alleged the boys have been worked in this manner in order to make chairs for the Western Fiber company, a company of which Supt. Russell does not know the names of the president, secretary, or directors or anything about its financial standing and which now owes the state $17,000.

Russell Replies to Charges.

In a statement made tonight Mr. Russell said he considered his retirement the best thing for the good of the institution, and added that the "clamor and commotion caused by those wishing a change on political grounds was no doubt embarrassing to the members of the board of managers," and that his desire to relieve them of this embarrassment was a factor in his decision.

In regard to the delinquency of the Western Fiber company in accounts with the institution Mr. Russell said the amount due the state was about $10,000, and that this account was thoroughly secured to the state.

INQUIRY HOLDS UP CONTRACT

New Charge Against Brittain Halts Cottage Award.

M'CORMICK MAY VETO IT.

Ernest Guthrey Says Winner Is Not "Reliable Bidder."

Charges filed with the county board yesterday against Contractor John J. Brittain may cause President McCormick for the second time to veto the contract awarded Brittain for the erection of eight tuberculosis cottages at Oak Forest. Mr. McCormick will withhold action until an investigation is made.

Ernest Guthrey sent a letter to the board in which he reviewed Brittain's connection with the "Moss" Enright murder trial, an injunction case before Circuit Judge Carpenter, and Brittain's alleged delay in handling a tuberculosis hospital contract. Guthrey charged Brittain was not a "reliable bidder," as the law provides.

Investigation Is Started.

Commissioner Bartley Burg, spokesman for the Bartzen minority, demanded that Guthrey's "grudge" be inquired into, also whether Brittain really was able to meet the specifications in the contract. He suggested the appointment of a special committee.

President McCormick named Commissioners Mitchell, Anderson, Burg, Moriarty, himself, Superintendent of Public Service Kenyon, and County Architect Schmidt.

Plans New Hospital Inquiry.

After the board had failed to reach an agreement on a course to pursue in partially completing the new county hospital so as to make it habitable for patients this winter, President McCormick named another committee to make another investigation of the whole subject and report at an early day. On this committee he appointed Commissioners Cooney, chairman; Kuflewski, Gard, Board, and Harris; County Architect Schmidt, County Attorney Chindblom, Supt. Kenyon, Warden Bailey of the hospital, and Mrs. Wood, president of the Illinois Training School for Nurses.

The board adjourned until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

RAGEN REPENTS; COONLEY 'SHAKES'

Commissioner Tells Colleague His Temper Outran His Judgment.

OTHERS MADE HIM "GOAT."

McCormick Wants Hospital Assault Case Dropped, but Merit Chief Balks.

"I am very sorry for what happened to Mr. Coonley. I think he is the best man that ever lived. I shall boost him all my life."

With this apology, spoken in the county board rooms yesterday, Commissioner Frank Ragen made reparation for his assault on Commissioner Avery Coonley last Monday, when he hit Mr. Coonley on the nose with a book.

Ragen's apology was accepted by Coonley and the two men shook hands. The incident was closed.

Their first meeting of the day was in the office of President A. A. McCormick. Ragen was accompanied by Deputy Controller Frank Ryan. There Ragen expressed his regrets to both McCormick and Coonley.

Ragen's Speech of Apology.

In the afternoon in the board room, in the presence of colleagues, county officials, and newspaper men, Ragen repeated the apology He was considerately saved the embarrassment of speaking before a crowd by Commissioner Coonley, who moved the room be cleared of spectators. Ragen himself seconded the motion.

Mr. Ragen then got up and said:

"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I do not know how to start out. I am not a good talker. I never went to school very long, in fact, not long enough to become acquainted with the teachers, but I will try and do the best I can. You all know I had a little trouble out at the county hospital last Saturday. I don't think it was my fault, and there were a couple of resolutions brought in the other day that worked me up.

"One after the other was brought in and called me a lot of names that I didn't think was right and in my excitement I lost my head and said a lot of things that I want to apologize for to the board of commissioners, to President McCormick, and mostly of all to my friend, Mr. Coonley.

Never in His Life Felt So Cheap.

"I am very sorry for what happened to Mr. Coonley. I think he is the best man that ever lived. I shall boost him all my life. After what I did I never felt so cheap in my life. It is the way that he answered me that made me feel so cheap. I never was so sorry for a thing in my life.

"I know I am hot headed, but I never prepared a thing in my life. I never went in a back room in my life and prepared anything and then came out in the light of day and did it. I never planned a thing in my life. I do things on the spur of the moment and get over them just as quick.

"I have had people say to me, 'What is going on at the meeting this afternoon?' and I tell them 'I don't know.' Things come that quick with me, and they leave me that quick. I never felt so cheap in my life as after what I did to Mr. Coonley. I never slept a wink that night for the trouble I had with Mr. Coonley. I came down here today and met Mr. Coonley and shook hands with him and told him I thought he was the grandest man that ever lived. And now I want to shake hands with him again."

Response of Coonley.

"I am mighty glad," Mr. Coonley said, "to shake hands with Mr. Ragen. I want to say that he has acted very handsomely, and I want to say that I appreciated at the time he was not himself. I said when I went home last night that I was satisfied he would be the first fellow that would want to shake hands with me in the morning."

"I am glad it has come out as I suggested," said Commissioner Kuflewski, "that the best way out of it would be for Mr. Coonley and Mr. Ragen to shake hands and make it up."

"I think Commissioner Ragen has done a very fine, manly thing to come in here and publicly apologize as he has," said President McCormick. "I think there is only one thing in this board since I have been a member of it that surpasses it, and that is the admirable self-control which Mr. Coonley exhibited the other day and the very dignified manner in which he acted. I am very glad also to see that Mr. Ragen recognizes that it was that very attitude that made it possible for him to come in here today."

Mr. McCormick called Ragen to his desk, shook hands with him, and said:

"I want to say to you, gentlemen, a man who will do what Ragen has done today is a man all the way through."

Merit Board to Push Action.

President Robert Catherwood of the county civil service commission announced Ragen's apology would not deter the commission from making a thorough investigation of the conditions which led up to Ragen's assault of Relief Investigator Wieckowski. Mr. Catherwood said an apology to Wieckowski also was coming from Ragen.

"I intend," he said, "to make a most emphatic demonstration in this case that a county commissioner or any other county official cannot assault a merit employé without being called to account for it. Of course, if Mr. Ragen should apologize to Wieckowski and the investigator should be satisfied, that would end the matter."

President McCormick said an effort would be made to have Wieckowski withdraw his charges and his complaint registered against Ragen in the South Clark street police court. He said, however, this was entirely up to Wieckowski.

Tells of Hospital Trip.

Ragen in discussing the hospital disturbance with President McCormick and others in the morning gave a decidedly picturesque description of the panic which seized the four other commissioners who accompanied him to the institution when they found the investigator they sought was no weakling.

"When Wieckowski came into the room and the other fellows noted his size, Kuflewski suddenly had a call to the telephone, Harris thought it was up to him to have an interview with Warden Bailey, and the others made themselves equally scarce. They left me to hold the bag. And I couldn't run."

Report of County Agent Ready.

County Agent Joseph Meyer today will submit to the civil service commission results of investigations made by his inspectors into the financial standing of persons commissioners have sent to the county hospital. It is said they show that many who sought admittance or who were admitted were able to pay for treatment or care in private institutions.

Among the cases cited by the county agent is Bernard Brady, 72 years old, father of Attorney James T. Brady and Robert Brady of 3828 Wilton avenue. Mr. Meyer said the elder Brady was admitted to Oak Forest on June 26, 1912. He reports that he wrote to the sons on June 11 of this year and that no attention was paid to the letters. Action then was brought in the court, Mr. Meyer asserts, and the sons were forced to pay the county $12 a month for their father's maintenance. Robert Brady said his father went to the infirmary voluntarily.

NORTHUP FUND PASSES $14,000; M'CORMICK ASKS $10,000 MORE.

President of County Board Says $25,000 Will Be Needed to Prosecute Ballot Frauds.

With the announcement yesterday that the fund for the special grand jury election fraud investigation had reached $14,000, President A. A. McCormick urged that it be increased $25,000.

"The public should not believe that $15,000 will be enough to finish the important inquiry," he said. "It is true $15,000 is the sum the county board was asked to appropriate for Special State's Attorney Northup, but that was a first estimate, and would have been followed by additional appropriations."

The special grand jury was in session a good part of the day hearing witnesses. Mr. Northup said a partial report probably would be made at the close of the week in Judge Cooper's court.

ASSASSIN COMMITS SUICIDE.

Student Who Slew Official Practices Hara-Kiri.

TOKIO, Sept. 11.—About 100 Japanese marines, according to announcement by the foreign office today, have been landed at Nanking. They are intended for protection only, the foreign office says. No other forces have been sent ashore, according to the announcement.

One of the assassins of Director Muriaro Abe of the Japanese foreign office committed hara-kiri today by plunging a sword into his abdomen.

The assassin was a student. He ended his life in the home of a lawyer, where he had fled after the crime.

The student sat on a map of China as he took his life. His death came while the body of Mr. Abe was being taken to the grave with military honors.

The suicide left an exultingly couched confession, in which he said he assassinated the director "in a delirium of rage caused by the murder of Japanese subjects at Nanking."

Director Abe was attacked on Sept. 4 by two men, who stabbed him twice in the abdomen. He died the next day. The crime was laid at the door of the student element.

Massmeetings continue to be held by the people of Tokio as a protest against the foreign policy of the Japanese government.

The dirigible was eventually brought to earth and safely housed.

Four soldiers who became entangled in the lines were carried up. One man extricated himself and another was hauled into the gondola. The other men fell to the ground from a height of 500 feet and were instantly killed.

GOVERNOR CALLS HOBSON "MASTER OF BILLINGSGATE."

O'Neal of Alabama Says He Will Not Enter Dispute with "Pecksniff of Politics."

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—In a statement issued today Gov. O'Neal characterizes Representative R. P. Hobson as "the Pecksniff of Alabama politics" and "the pastmaster of the art of billingsgate."

"My self-respect and regard for the usages of decent society, the dignity of the office I hold, and the opinion of the people of Alabama, whose commission I bear," Gov. ONeal says, "prevents me from descending to the low plane of scurrilous abuse and vulgar jangunge which characterize the statement issued by Capt. R. P. Hobson."

The controversy grows out of the contest for the seat of the late United States Senator Johnston, for which Hobson is a candidate. Hobson denounced O'Neal for appointing Representative Slayton as successor to Johnston pending election.

GAMBLING RAIDS CATCH SEVENTY

Cards, Dice, and Handbooks Captured by Active Police in Short Campaign.

45 TRAPPED IN "CLUB."

Three Patrol Wagons Used to Take Inmates of North Clark Street Place.

More than seventy men, ranging in age from 20 to 70 years, were either under arrest or in the courts in Chicago yesterday on charges of gambling. Cards, dice, and hand books figured in the various raids Tuesday night and early Wednesday.

Three patrol wagons transported forty-five prisoners from the Major Athletic club at 547 North Clark street, where detectives from Schuettler's office say they stepped in on a big dice game. John Jacobs was booked as keeper of the place. The raid was made at 4 o'clock in the morning.

Aged Man in Court.

Eight men, one of them 71 years old, appeared in Desplaines street police court under charges of gambling. They had been arrested the night before when the police swooped down on the cigar store of Barney Zacharias at 212 East Fifty-first street. The men gave false names and were credited with being well to do business men.

Municipal Judge Dolan dismissed the men, who swore they have been playing pinochle and had not been gambling. Barney Zacharias was fined $25 as keeper of the place. He said the men had just paid him 20 cents for the use of the cards and 10 cents for the use of the chips.

Eight men were fined $1 apiece by Judge Dolan. The men were caught in a police raid on 2741 West Madison street. Herman Block, who was charged with keeping the place, paid a fine of $25.

Four Men Discharged.

Judge Dolan discharged four men charged with gambling after being caught in a raid on the cigar store of A. E. Magidson, at 3225 West Twelfth street. Ten more prisoners were caught in a raid on the poolroom of Patrick Sheehan at 4313 Cottage Grove avenue.

Detectives Cahill and De Mar raided Room 512, at 118 North La Salle street, across from the city hall, and arrested Joseph Brooks and Thomas Knowles.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1913.

OUT OF THE DARK.

THE TRIBUNE has received a long letter from one of its readers who objects to the plain speaking as well as other features of "How to Keep Well." It is an interesting production, this letter, not because the judgments it expresses are novel or original, but for the opposite reason—because they represent a state of mind, an attitude toward life as old perhaps as the race.

We do not refer to the evidences of personal envy and bias, although they, too, began at the beginning, but to the attitude illustrated in objections to references to venereal disease. If men are not still monkeys it is because man has combated this attitude in the main and got the better of it. Man ceased to be ape when he walked erect, when he held up his head and looked at the world with a level glance, when he ceased to scream and scurry away.

But in all man's struggle upward from the brute there has been the tug back of the coward instinct—"If it is evil don't look, don't grapple with it, turn your back and run, and if you can't run, shut your eyes and bury your head." Counsel of the banderlog, wisdom of the ostrich.

At the recent international congress of physicians and surgeons in London, the greatest assembly of its kind ever held, one of the most important discussions was that dealing with venereal diseases, an evil which, as one speaker said, comes after tuberculosis and alcoholic abuse as a scourge of mankind. Columns were given the discussion in the London Times and a royal commission has been created to consider measures of correction.

Every one but the ostrich minded is realizing that the folly of ignorance, the conspiracy of silence, must be ended. It has cost too much, it is costing too much. THE TRIBUNE intends to help in lifting this curse, and is no believer in darkness as a cure for anything.

TARIFF IN THE MAKING.

The Democratic tariff revision measure, having been industriously tinkered in the senate, passes now to conferences where compromise on details of difference will be worked out and the final form of the law determined.

That law, it is now settled, will provide for free wool and, in three years, free sugar. The two points were the most conspicuous in the revision program of Mr. Wilson and threatened the most serious danger from the party point of view of any feature of revision. The president, though confronted by the protest of a powerful element in the solid south, has stood his ground and won.

The changes made by the senate from the bill as it came from the house are numerous and substantial. The estimate of the average ad valorem rate is about 26 per cent, a reduction of 4 per cent from that of the house rates and of 28 per cent from that of the Payne-Aldrich law. Every schedule of the Underwood bill, except the tobacco schedule, has been modified, so there is room for considerable discussion in conference.

The additions to the free list made by the senate cut down the revenue producing possibilities of the bill, it is estimated, $44,000,000, to counterbalance which the senate has added a tax on cotton futures and on bananas, restored the revenue tax on brandies used for fortifying wines, and changed the income tax requirements so as to include incomes from $3,000 up and increased the surtax on the larger incomes.

The creation of a tariff tax on bananas ought to be firmly opposed. Bananas are an important item in the housekeeping of our people of smallest means and should be kept as cheap as possible. The increase of the rate on books and on works of art less than fifty years old is bad in principle and uncalled for by conditions.

The changes in the income tax rate are in the right direction. They bring in a class which can afford and will be the better for paying a small tax directly to the upkeep of the national government, while the inclusion of new rating on very large incomes is consistent with the intent of the law to more nearly equalize the burden of taxation according to ability to pay.

What the general results of the law will be cannot be foretold. They have been discounted by manufacturers and merchants, it is believed, so that serious disturbances will not follow. It is hoped, on the other hand, that if a very important reduction does not appear in the cost of living at any rate a tonic influence may be introduced into American industry by the appearance of competition and that the corrupting effects of privilege will be diminished.

The country will hope that the high hopes expressed by the president will be fulfilled in this measure for which he has so manfully labored. It is to be hoped, however, that, having brought about immediate and downward revision of the standpat tariff, he will consider the need of reforming our methods of tariff revision and give his influence to the development of a system of scientific revision on the basis of the data provided by a permanent nonpartisan expert commission.

THE CORPSE OR THE CONSPIRACY.

Among the numerous duties dodged by our fearless young state's attorney during his fearless term of office we hope one conspicuous duty will not be found.

That duty is presented by the charge made by Mr. Hoyne himself that a man was done to death in the Tribune building and that the murder was "hushed up."

The duty of Mr. Hoyne is to produce the corpse. There can't be a murder without a corpse. Mr. Hoyne knows all about this dark deed. Let him name the deceased, and let him tell the horror stricken public where he lies—that is, where the corpse lies.

Now, perhaps, the fearless young state's attorney is unable to do this. If he is not, it is for him to tell the public why.

Who spirited the corpse away?

Where was the police department on this tragic occasion?

Why cannot the hospitals throw some light into the gloom?

Where was the coroner?

Was there a conspiracy among all these to "hush it up"? That would be considerable conspiracy, not a bad second to the terrible conspiracy against Lorimer, on whose tactics the fearless young state's attorney seems to be drawing.

Produce the corpse, Mr. State's Attorney, or produce the conspiracy, at least, the great "hush" conspiracy.

THE FORCE OF GENTLENESS.

The apology offered by County Commissioner Frank Ragen to President McCormick and to Commissioner Cooney yesterday for his recent acts and language proves that even in such as he a redeeming spark is not wanting.

"I want to apologize for what I said to Mr. McCormick and especially for my conduct toward Mr. Cooney," said Ragen. "I never felt so bad in my life as I did after I threw the book at Mr. Cooney. He took it in such manly fashion and talked so well afterward that he made me sick. I lost my speech, for I felt I was whipped."

These words sound genuine. They express the astonishment that a rough feels when he comes in contact with gentle manners—when his billingsgate is not responded to in the language of a blackguard and his brutality of action goes unanswered.

Ragen has had the advantage of associating since last November with some genuine gentlemen upon the county board, but it has apparently been of little use to him until his acts of this week opened his eyes to what these men were and how different they were from him. Now that he can see this, however imperfectly, let us hope that he will not only mind his manners but that he will cease to ally himself with that element of the board with whom he has associated himself and that he will occasionally vote to pull the county out of the mess into which he and they have helped to place it.

THUMBS.

The idiosyncrasy of Pudd'n-head Wilson has become a worldwide accepted fact now Of course, the Chinese and Japanese had used thumb-marks for the detection of criminals several centuries before the hero of Mark Twain's romance employed it to detect the man he was after, but the method in occidental countries must for a long while be associated with the eccentric hero of that novel.

The accuracy of identification by means of thumb impressions has been tested many thousand times since its adoption by police authorities and it virtually never has been known to fail. As a supplement to the Bertillon system of measurements it is the last word.

The recent international congress of physicians in London visited Scotland Yard and there saw 5,000 thumb impressions—5,000 criminals identified beyond the shadow of a doubt, so that not even their denial of identity in the uttermost parts of the earth will avail them.

There is something uncanny in this aid which nature gives to human justice in the rings upon the thumb, so many and so delicate and yet no two sets alike in all this rolling earth. Go where he may the noted criminal, be he in Argentina, in Singapore, in New York, Paris, Moscow, or London, cannot successfully deny the mark his thumb makes upon the sensitive paper.

IT appears to be perfectly easy for a bunch of these "early today" robbers to back a wagon up to some tradesman's rear door, roll out a big safe, and haul the same through the streets to some vacant patch of ground, there to open it at leisure. The "early today" crook shrewdly operates along the line of least resistance.

A VAGRANT with the "September Morn" picture tattooed on his right arm walked through the principal street of Gary, Ind., a few days ago, with his sleeves rolled up, and experienced the surprise of his life. A policeman arrested him, took him before a police justice, and the latter fined him $25. How will this "ruthless invasion of private rights," "under pretense of conserving the public morals," strike "Vindex" and "Fair Play"?

THE potato crop is reported to be short 100,000,000 bushels. When the price of potatoes goes up to join the price of beef what will the country do for hash?

WHEN Commissioner Ragen is delivering an impassioned speech and making strenuous gestures he should not pick up a three and a half pound book. It is likely to slip out of his hand.

BRINGING about a reform in the management of lake excursion steamers is a job that requires good team work. Is South Haven ready to cooperate?

IT is reasonably safe, anyhow, to speak of Roger Sullivan as a receptive candidate for the United States senate. You know the exact shade of meaning that phrase conveys, do you not? Neither do we.

ANSWERING numerous unspoken queries, Homerunner Saier, the Cubs' first base artist, pronounces his name as a monosyllable, and it rhymes with "chair," "there," or "share." This information comes straight from the Wake of the News oracle, to whom all kickers are hereby referred.

ADVERTISING DOCTORS.

NONE of the honor men in medical colleges goes into the medical advertising business. None of the hospital graduates takes it up. On the other hand, the advertising doctors are the graduates of the weak schools, when they are graduates at all. They frequently are not even graduates.

The men of fine appearance whose faces grace the "ads" are not to be seen around the offices. Those faces are borrowed for the purpose of the "ad." The man who examines you when you apply for treatment is a flim-flam artist, known as a case taker. The chance is that he is not a doctor at all.

The doctor, having gone into the advertising business, does not go to the meetings of the medical societies nor take any part in medical discussions. In consequence, he gets further behind than when he started, and he started hopelessly incompetent.

He buys some books and takes some journals, but, not being naturally studious and being badly handicapped, he cannot keep up. The striking discoveries in medicine he learns about. The balance escape him.

Therefore, the methods of his office are usually about five to ten years behind the times.

Five to ten years constitute a long time in medicine. Why? How to be safe from typhoid fever has been discovered since I left the Chicago health department, and that was two years ago.

It should be easy to see that the man who goes to the advertising doctor gets no service in preventive medicine and out of date service in curative medicine.

Why do they go? The number that go is getting less. Finding out always starts at the top and works down. Everybody has found out about the advertising doctors except the sediment in the bottom of the bottle—the last inch.

The cream left them a long time ago; the skim has been quitting them during the last ten years. All they have left is the mixture of milk and dirt in that last inch. Why?

The papers have been talking plainly about nearly everything except venereal diseases. It was the only weed plot in the garden. The only chance to educate people of this group is through the newspapers. They are not book readers, lecture attendants, or even church-goers.

Now the papers are talking plainly. The mower is over in the weed patch. This group of advertising doctors is going and will presently be gone.

You see, weeds will not stay in their patch. Pollen will blow long distances. Thistledown will roll for miles. Cantaloupes will taste like pumpkins, if there are any pumpkins around.

A campaign for preventive medicine teaches the people to prevent all sorts of infections, including venereal infection, the remnant left to the advertiser.

It is difficult to discriminate in medical service. Nothing is more so. In the last two years the people have learned much about the mysteries of the body—what is preventible and how; what is curable and how.

It is not enough that the healers should know these things. They must be known by the people to be of the greatest service. As these multiple agencies of education work, the people day by day become more discriminating—which spells good-by, advertising doctor.

HARELIP CAN BE CURED.

Mrs. A. C. writes: "A child was born here with a bad case of harelip and cleft palate. What is the cause of that? Had the baby lain in such a condition before birth as to prevent proper development? Some old people say it is a birthmark, caused by the mother being frightened. Is that so? If it is properly attended to from the start, can it be cured? This child was immediately taken to a specialist, who put a few stitches in the palate. That seemed to help enough so a little food could be taken through his mouth. Two weeks after a wire was placed so as to draw the two parts together. This has been done about three times. The last time the jaw bone was split on the opposite side. It has helped some, but during the last couple of months nothing has been done, and that deep gash in his jaw looks anything but promising. Please state your opinion of such a case. He is 7 months old."

REPLY.

The mother being frightened, the position of the child, etc., have nothing to do with the case. As the child is being formed, the upper lip develops from four centers. If the four separate pieces fail to grow together just right, a harelip results. The reason for harelip is so easily understood by studying the development of the mouth that it is hard to see how all the foolish ideas got started, such as birthmarks, mother being frightened, position of child, etc.

Harelip can be cured. As your physician does not seem to be doing well, get him to direct you to a specialist in operations on harelip.

Will you not also write to the Eugenics Laboratory, Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., if you know of other cases of harelip in this family.

TOBACCO POISONING SYMPTOMS.

W. D. C. writes: "Could tobacco poisoning cause a series of intermittent pains in the limbs, first one limb, then the other, pains that are sharp and needlelike, causing momentary stiffness? Kindly mention the most ordinary symptoms of tobacco poisoning? Is there a simply written book on the subject?"

REPLY.

1. No.
2. Sometimes general nervousness, sometimes indigestion, sometimes irregular nervous heart action, sometimes blindness. Of these, nervousness and shortness of wind are the "most ordinary."
3. Dr. W. S. Hall's book on tobacco can be had at the headquarters of the Anti-Cigaret league.

CAUSE OF STAMMERING.

M. E. writes: "My child, 2½ years old, has just started to stammer. What caused the stammering and is there a remedy for it? Do you think it will later leave as suddenly as it came on?"

REPLY.

Stammering shows a lack of mental poise. Usually the child has heard some one stammer; sometimes it results from shock. It will not leave suddenly as it came. Do not drift. Get Scripture's book on the subject. Plan to cure the child. When taken in hand early it can be cured by patient effort.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1913: By the Brentwood Company.]

BOTH Russia and Austria have come to the conclusion that they have been badly served by their respective ambassadors during the last few years, and that much dissension and misunderstanding would have been avoided had their diplomatic interests been confided to more competent hands.

Accordingly, Count Douglas Thurn Valsassina has been recalled by Emperor Francis Joseph from St. Petersburg and has been placed on the retired list, while the czar has meted out a similar fate to Nicholas de Giers, who, for the last eighteen months, has been his ambassador at Vienna.

The successor of Nicholas de Giers in the Austrian capital is Nicholas Schebeko, for some time past minister plenipotentiary at Bucharest, where he has contributed much towards the strengthening of Muscovite influence in political and official circles and even in society at the expense of that of Germany, which had hitherto been predominant there.

The new Austrian ambassador at St. Petersburg is Count Frederick Szapary, member of the Hungarian house of lords, an officer on the reserve list of the Fifth Lancer regiment, and hitherto one of the most trusted chiefs of division in the department of foreign affairs at Vienna.

He is but 44 years of age and has been married for the last four years to Princess Maria von Windisch-Graetz, daughter of Prince Alfred von Windisch-Graetz, former prime minister of Austria and late president of the Austrian house of lords, and sister of the late Prince Vincent von Windisch-Graetz, who was attached for some time to the Austrian embassy at Washington, where he made himself much liked, and who blew his brains out at Rome last spring in a fit of insanity.

The new ambassador's father was a popular general of cavalry, who was for so many years premier of Hungary and one of the leading statesmen of the dual monarchy.

Another member of the house of Szapary, Count Paul, a cousin of the new ambassador, and who came to America for the wedding of Count Ladislas Szechenyi to Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, has been for many years president of the Park club, the most exclusive club at Budapest, and also of the Automobile club of Hungary.

In his early life he attracted attention by losing half a million crowns in a single night at cards at the Jockey club at Vienna.

Thereupon he turned his attention to trade and commerce, and has endowed Budapest with its finest hotel, situated on the Danube quay at the corner of the Corso and of the Eotvas terrace; has become one of the leading directors of the International Wagon-Lits company, and is at the head of all sorts of other more or less successful industrial and financial enterprises.

Of course the failure of Count Thurn at St. Petersburg has revived the outcry in the Austrian press about the alleged folly of restricting the higher posts of the diplomatic service and of the department of foreign affairs at Vienna to the old aristocracy, which, it is asserted, enjoys a monopoly of all important offices.

Now in the first place, this charge is far from being justified. There are plenty of men of bourgeois parentage, ennobled afterwards, it is true, for their services, who have attained the rank, not merely of minister plenipotentiary and of ambassador, but even of minister of foreign affairs.

Thus Baron Joseph von Thuguth, who was for a time in charge of the foreign relations of the dual monarchy, was the son of a steve-dore, earning a precarious living on the wharves of the Danube at Vienna.

This baron of so humble origin remains on record as the most arrogant and intensely vain and proud statesman who has ever been in charge of the department on the Ballplatz.

One of his successors there, the late Count d'Aerenthal, who died while in office, was the grandson of a self-made man and had a strain of Jewish blood in his veins.

Then there was Baron von Huebner, who was Austrian ambassador from 1853 to 1859 at Paris, and who, after his retirement, wrote an interesting book about his travels in the United States.

His name was originally Hafenbroedel. He was the son of a village cobbler, and he owed his admission to the diplomatic service and his subsequent rise in rank to a peculiar kind of poodle dog.

The third of the wives of the great Prince Metternich, the Austrian chancellor of the Napoleonic era and of the first five decades of the nineteenth century, was passionately fond of poodles.

The "Mops" of the princess died, and, inasmuch as the particular breed was believed to have become extinct, she was quite inconsolable.

By some means or other young Hafenbroedel, who had just started on his career as a peddling tinker, was able to secure for the princess another "Mops," exactly resembling the one she had lost.

Her joy was intense and she testified her gratitude to the young tinker by not only paying him handsomely, but also by finding him a place as messenger in the office of her husband.

The prince eventally discovered in the ex-tinker the qualities of a perfect private secretary, conceived almost an affection for him, caused him to abandon the somewhat ridiculous patronymic of Hafenbroedel for that of Huebner, and eventually gave him a good berth in the diplomatic service.

After Louis Bonaparte had made himself emperor of the French, as Napoleon III., the Austrian government was much embarrassed as to whom to send as Austrian envoy to Paris.

Finally it pitched upon Huebner as a suitable ambassador, with the idea that, while his rare abilities and his diplomatic skill and tact would be of great value in so difficult a post, his lack of lineage and of birth would emphasize the determination of the house of Hapsburg to discriminate against a monarch who had obtained his throne by such questionable means as those employed by Napoleon III.

The French sovereign fully appreciated the motives of the court of Vienna in appointing Huebner, and it was largely owing to this covert affront that he lent the military aid of France to Italy in its war against Austria in 1859.

Some monarchs, like Napoleon III., resent the idea of self-made men being appointed as ambassadors to their courts. It is certain that diplomats recruited from the old aristocracy enjoy far superior advantages in capitals such as St. Petersburg, Vienna, Berlin, Madrid, Rome, Stockholm, and even London than men of more obscure origin.

They are welcomed as people of the same caste by those at court and in the ranks of society, in the hands of whom most power and influence are vested, instead of being restricted to exclusively official intercourse. This contributes to the success of their mission.

That is why Austria nearly always sends a noble of high degree as its ambassador to St. Petersburg, which is, next to Berlin, the most important and delicate post in its foreign service.

THE B. & O. TERMINAL NOISE.

Chicago, Aug. [illegible].—[To the Friend of the People.]—Some time ago the attention of the undersigned was called to an item which appeared in your daily paper wherein you stated that a nuisance in the form of a switch engine emitting volumes of smoke and creating unbearable noise while switching in the vicinity of Kedzie avenue and Taylor street was abated.

It appears to us that the B. and O. and the Chicago Terminal road, which operate said engine, have transferred the same to switching in the vicinity of Independence or Garfield boulevard and Fortieth avenue. It is impossible for the neighbors to sleep in the vicinity of this section of the city on account of the said engine. Not only is it an old, creaky affair, but it appears that the tracks are mislaid and every train that passes emits a scraping or screeching sound which can be heard for blocks.

Will you kindly take up this matter at once and see what can be done to give us some relief in the premises?

Chicago, Aug. 28.—[To the Friend of the People.]—When team tracks were installed by the Baltimore and Ohio Chicago Terminal company on both sides of South Fortieth avenue complaint was made regarding the noise caused by continual switching of freight cars throughout the night. At that time the answer to a complaint sent to the "Friend" was that tracks were not complete to warrant a better condition but that as soon as all elevation work was finished steps would be taken to eliminate all unnecessary noise. This, however, has not been done, and as residents in this neighborhood are unable to enjoy their sleep, they feel that switching should be confined to either the early hours of the evening or else after 6 o'clock in the morning. A RESIDENT.

Upon receipt of the above complaints I communicated with Mr. J. C. Nichols, superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Chicago Terminal railroad company, sending copies of the complaints. Under date of Aug. 19 Mr. Nichols writes me that the complaints were placed in the hands of the road foreman of engines with instructions to do everything possible to eliminate the cause of the complaints. The foreman has stationed his assistant in that locality with instructions to use his authority to eliminate the cause of the complaint so far as possible and ascertain whether everything is being done that possibly can be done in the premises.

The copy of one of the complaints was embodied in a general notice to all engineers and firemen, and their attention has been called to the different features of the complaint and they have been instructed, as far as is in their power to do so, to prevent further complaints from the people of the neighborhood. WILLIS O. NANCE,

NO TRANSFER POINT.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Saturday evening at 7 o'clock a friend of mine and I tried to transfer at North avenue from a Foster avenue and Fifty-first No. 3. The car immediately behind us was a No. 1 through route, Indiana, Evanston, and Cottage Grove. As far as I can understand the English language, that is a transfer corner, as the transfer reads "at intersecting, crossing, diverging, or extension, for a continuous trip." Why do they split hairs so finely as to make us transfer at Center street, where there is no accommodation in case of rain or in cold weather, as there is at North avenue and Clark? This was on car No. 504, conductor No. 1174, breaking in a new conductor. His language was positively insulting. B. C.

The company has found it necessary to establish certain transfer points for its protection. There is no reason why transfers should be allowed between through routes No. 3 and No. 1 at North avenue and Clark street. The proper point is at Center street, where the lines diverge.

Complaint as to conductor's insulting language has been referred to the transportation department for investigation and action.

GAMBLING ON LAKE BOATS.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I have noticed from time to time the articles in THE TRIBUNE exposing different forms of gambling allowed to go on in the city. The determined stand THE TRIBUNE has made against gambling and other forms of vice has met with my most hearty approval.

I wish to call the attention of THE TRIBUNE to the gambling going on on board some of the lake boats. Yesterday I took a trip at night on board the steamer U. S. in company with my brothers. My young brother, only 15 years of age, left us, and remained away so long that I set out to look for him, finding him on the dancing deck taking chances at a gambling game. The gambling device consisted of a bicycle wheel on which were printed numbers with a nail driven in at each number. An elastic band projected between the nails, and when the wheel was set to revolving it would stop at some one of the numbers. The person holding that number would get a small box of candy worth about a quarter.

After selling about $1.25 worth of chances, the gambling men would revolve the wheel and some one would get the box of candy. My brother took about 25 cents worth of chances and got nothing in return but the excitement of the game. Other boys, some of them very young, stood around the game taking chances and losing their money.

The game was conducted out on the lake. But couldn't something be done about it anyway? A CITIZEN.

"DUTIES" OF THE POLICE.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—On my return from vacation I found a notice saying the police had called twice to learn the number of my dog license and if I did not report same to the Robey street police station before Sept. 8 I would be summoned into court. I paid the license last spring and am the servant of no policeman, nor do I intend to remain in the city to receive them when they may call at my home, nor do I care to be "summoned to court" because I am not there. If they want the numbers of the dogs' licenses it would seem a good idea for the proper authorities to have the license bureau furnish an alphabetical list to the police instead of having them chasing 15,000 dogs to find out their license numbers. The police could be much better employed looking after burglars and holdup men. GEORGE E. ERICSSON.

SITTLICHKEIT.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Before it fastens itself upon the vernacular, permit me to protest against the misuse of the word "sittlichkeit," of which the writer of two recent editorials has made himself guilty. The word is not such a maid of all work as these articles imply. "Customary and habitual conduct" might pass, but similarity of "manners and temperament" and "common points of view" are utterly beside the mark. "Sitten" means customs and habits, with reference to ethical standards. "Sittlichkeit," barring the necessary shadings, is nothing more or less than "morality." It would hardly do to say that there is a lack of morality in the relations of the United States with Latin-America. PHILOLOGUS.

ROUGH CROSSINGS AND AUTOS.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The new automobile committee will find that nearly every railroad crossing is rough and uneven. Autoists are compelled to slow down their cars to the minimum speed or risk danger of breaking their cars, to say nothing of the shaking up of passengers. The slowing down causes the "killing" of the engine, which has resulted in many of the past accidents. Demand good, smooth crossings where they are maintained at grade. It will help. R.

LANGUAGE WITH MOST WORDS.

LET MRS. PANKHURST IN.

[Chicago Journal.]

If immigration officials at New York try to turn back Mrs. Pankhurst because of her militant suffrage record they will put the capstone on a monument of imbecility which they have been building for years.

They tried to keep out Edward Mylius for saying unkind things about a king—a rule which would have barred the whole group of Puritan fathers and sent Thomas Jefferson to jail for life. They sought to keep Cipriano Castro from landing, as if the imp of Venezuela could teach any new tricks to a country acquainted with Wall street. They "detained" a boy who had courage and resource enough to make his way, penniless and alone, from the heart of Russia to the entrance of this "land of the free." They doomed a Syrian girl to go back to the Turk who had bought her, instead of permitting her to enter this country with the husband of her choice.

Officials with a record like this cannot afford to make any more blunders. They had better "shut their eyes in the doorway box," and see nothing wrong when Mrs. Pankhurst knocks at the gate.

WILSON BIG STICK CLOUTS CONGRESS

FIGHT ON IN EARNEST.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.—The fight for currency reform is now on in better earnest.

In the house of representatives today the debate on the measure approved by the Democratic caucus was inaugurated. It included a speech by Representative Carter Glass, chairman of the house banking and currency committee, sharply impugning the motives of the committee representing the bankers' conference at Chicago, charging that it is seeking to establish a central banking institution under the control of bankers and for their own use and convenience, and to which the American people may not have resort for any business purpose.

Lay Out Currency Program.

While Mr. Glass and other members of the house this afternoon and evening were debating or criticising the administration bill President Wilson was actively at work creating a situation designed to force the Democrats of the senate to agree to put through the reform as quickly as possible.

He held a long conference with the steering committee of the senate, discussing with that body, according to the White House statement, the ways and means to be employed for the purpose of expediting the proposed currency legislation. The White House added that the question of recess or an adjournment of congress had not been considered at all.

Declines to Defer Action.

In calling upon the president the steering committee, representing the wishes of the senate, made a final appeal to him to defer action upon the currency bill.

Before the committee called some of its members asserted an intention to tell the president plainly that any apparent railroading of a banking and currency measure through congress would create a bad public impression and might result in bad legislation.

The great majority of the committee was of the opinion that congress should take a recess.

The president proved obdurate to the proposal for a recess, insisting there ought to be no delay in putting through a bill so manifestly necessary for the interests of the people.

Virtual Recess by Senate.

It is conceded that the senate will be in virtual recess from now until the conference report on the tariff bill is passed and after that is disposed of it probably will be an impossibility to get a quorum of the upper house together before the first of November.

Hearings will not be resumed by the senate banking and currency committee before next Tuesday.

Congressman Glass in the speech he delivered did not spare the bankers, among whom were James B. Forgan and George M. Reynolds of Chicago. Referring to their contentions before the committee Mr. Glass charged:

"They do not want a real central bank. They simply want to establish a central banking institution which they may control and use for their own convenience, but to which the American people may not resort for any business purpose whatsoever."

Warns Against Political Control.

Among the speakers tonight was Representative Madden of Chicago. Mr. Madden said the administration's bill contains many of the elements of a central bank, but does not approach it in point of efficiency. He declared the federal reserve board "is strictly political," and continued:

"Is it wise to put our entire fiscal system under political control? It seems to me not. The banks should be allowed representation on this important board. They should be allowed to select that representation themselves. Unless such representation be allowed I shall not be surprised if the national banks refuse to become stockholders in the federal reserve banks and go out of the national bank system, taking out state charters instead.

"It will be unfortunate if this legislation does not recognize the justice of the claim of the national banks to representation on the federal reserve board. The withdrawal of the national banks from the system will make this law a dead letter if passed.

"But if even they elect to continue in the system I think the bill unworkable. Under the terms of the bill I feel certain the credits of the country will be enormously contracted and may result in the forced liquidation of many important business enterprises, causing chaos, stopping the wheels of progress, closing factories, mills, and workshops, and throwing labor out of employment."

Evanston Picks Safety Official.

WALTER C. HEDRICK

Walter C. Hedrick, who was appointed commissioner of public safety by the city council of Evanston, will begin his duties today. Commissioner Hedrick has not outlined his plans, but he will hold a conference with a committee of the city council today to discuss the matter. The new commissioner is 37 years old and for the last year has been the Cincinnati representative of a Chicago corporation. He is married and has one daughter.

INJURED MAN PINNED AN HOUR AS CAR CREW MENACES CROWD.

Although Teamster's Stomach Is Pierced with Heavy Beam He Is Unaided Until Police Drag Along.

T. F. Doyle, his stomach pierced by a heavy beam and his body covered with the wreckage of his wagon, was forced by a street car crew and a supervisor to wait more than an hour yesterday for the police to arrive and extricate him.

The street car men refused to touch him and forbade anybody else to remove him, saying it was the orders of the police. Doyle is said to be fatally injured.

The accident happened at Eighty-ninth street and Stony Island avenue. Doyle was driving a sand wagon when the street car—Motorman Oscar Frederickson and Conductor O. W. Larson—struck the vehicle.

The driver was thrown to the ground underneath the wagon and one of the beams used on such a wagon pierced his stomach. Charles Murphy, mail carrier, sprang forward to assist him. Benjamin Outt, supervisor for the street car company, warned him back and the conductor and motorman forced others away with the controller handle.

The Woodlawn patrol wagon was summoned and in an hour arrived. Doyle was under the wagon all this time.

WITNESS REVEALS 'FINANCE DE LUXE'

Tomlinson Says He Took Corporation's Cash, Loaning It Back at 10 Per Cent.

MISSING TRUNK MYSTERY

Humes Denies He Knows Where Records and Book Have Gone.

Herbert O. Tomlinson of Tomlinson, Humes, Inc., alleged bankrupt "de luxe trust," testified at the bankruptcy hearing yesterday he withdrew funds from the corporation to such an extent that it had to borrow the money back from him and Mrs. Tomlinson. He said he charged 10 per cent interest.

The hearing was held in the office of Frank L. Wean, referee in bankruptcy. Attorney Michael Gesas, representing creditors with claims of $80,000, conducted the examination. The lawyer characterised the financial operations of Tomlinson and Humes as "finance de luxe."

Admits Fear of U. S. Raid.

Mr. Gesas tried to show the two "de luxe" partners had withdrawn large sums of money from the corporation prior to the filing of the bankruptcy petition, and that William Young Conn Humes, "de luxe" campaign manager on the road, had removed a trunk full of books and records from the office to prevent them from falling into the hands of inquisitive creditors.

Humes denied this. He admitted a trunk filled with documents was sent to his room at the Chicago Automobile club and that he had examined some of the papers. He said he feared a raid on the office by federal authorities in connection with a grand jury investigation in New York. The investigation resulted in an indictment against Humes and several other members of the "de luxe" trust in the east. The indictment subsequently was dismissed.

What became of the mysterious trunk, Humes said, he did not know. He said he did not order it sent to his room and he did not order its removal. He admitted telling Tomlinson the room in the automobile club was no place for it.

Hidden in Lawyer's Office?

"Isn't it a fact that the trunk contains a number of books and records of the corporation and that it is hidden in a certain lawyer's office in Chicago?" asked Attorney Gesas.

"I don't know," said Humes. "I haven't seen it since it disappeared from the room in the automobile club. I didn't order its removal."

Tomlinson testified he withdrew a dividend of $12,500 on May 31, 1912. This money, he said, was divided between himself and his wife and spent for "travel, doctor bills, and general living expenses." He said another dividend of $10,000 was withdrawn in September, 1912.

Attorney Gesas produced a record showing the directors did not authorize the payment of this dividend until several months later and that the resolution was dated back.

Loaned Back to Corporation.

"Then you paid yourself the money before it was voted?" asked Mr. Gesas.

"Well, the directors had agreed among themselves that it should be paid, but no formal meeting took place until some months later," said Tomlinson.

"What became of this money?"

"I gave it to Mrs. Tomlinson, and she loaned it back to the corporation and took a note for it."

"At what rate of interest?"

"I believe it was 10 per cent. Why, anything wrong with that?"

"I am not saying that," said Attorney Gesas. "Your hesitation seems to indicate there was something wrong with it. Where is the note?"

Tomlinson produced the note from an inside pocket and turned it over to Frank M. McKey, trustee. The witness said he was glad to turn it over and that Mrs. Tomlinson relinquished all claims on it.

The examination developed Humes had a special account on the ledger and he had withdrawn a total of $42,571. It was shown also Humes and Tomlinson, shortly after the corporation was formed in December, 1911, withdrew $40,000 each, and Attorney Gesas asked whether this was drawn from the profits.

MANY NAMED TO BE CONSULS

BASED ON THE MERIT SYSTEM

Several Illinois Men Among Those Chosen for Foreign Service.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The first promotions in the consular service under the Wilson administration were made today. The president sent to the senate a score of appointments by which consuls now in the service are advanced to higher grades or given more desirable posts.

A number of men from the middle west are among those named for advances. Dr. Frederick L. Goding of Rutland, Ill., now consul at Montevideo, Uruguay, is promoted to consul general at Guayaquil, Ecuador. Robert E. Mansfield of Indianapolis, Ind., now consul at Zurich, Switzerland, is to be consul general at Vancouver, British Columbia. Samuel C. Reat of Tuscola, Ill., now consul at Formosa, is transferred to Calgary, Alberta. Stuart J. Fuller of Wisconsin, now of Iquitos, Peru, goes to Durban, Natal. Roger C. Tredwell of Indiana, a consular assistant in Washington, is appointed consul at Bristol, England.

Chosen as Consuls General.

Among the nominations to the consuls general were the following:

Commission Is Confirmed.

The commission on industrial relations was confirmed today by the senate. It had been held up for weeks because of an attack upon President Wilson's appointment of Mrs. J. Borden Harriman as one of the commissioners.

The commission as confirmed consists of Frank P. Walsh of Missouri, John R. Commons of Wisconsin, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman of New York, Frederic A. Delano of Illinois, Harris Weinstock of California, S. Thurston Ballard of Kentucky, John B. Lennon of Illinois, James O'Connell of Washington, D. C., and Austin B. Garretson of Iowa.

Under the act the commission has a little less than two years in which to complete its investigation. The commission will investigate the conditions of employment throughout the country and report recommendations for ameliorating the lot of working men and women and of settling and averting disputes between capital and labor.

Mrs. Walter Pulitzer

An eastern visitor of interest in Chicago just now is Mrs. Walter Pulitzer of New York, who with Mr. Pulitzer came to the city a week ago and has been a guest at the Blackstone hotel. Many entertainments have been given for Mr. and Mrs. Pulitzer by their Chicago acquaintances.

Millinery Rivals Milton for Inspiration, She Says.

FEATHERS and furbelows and their proper arrangement on becoming hats are the latest rivals of the literary classics in teaching the art of composition, according to Miss May McKindrick of the East Side High school of Cleveland. In an article on "The Adaptation of the Work in English to the Actual Needs and Interests of the Pupils," in the current number of the English Journal, she says millinery rivals Milton as an inspiration to budding authors.

The Ohio teacher holds educators should give their pupils subjects of general interest to write about instead of assigning abstract subjects in literature. She recommends the use of "live topics instead of the usual exercises in telling the story of Macbeth, describing Sir Roger de Coverley, arguing on the sanity of Hamlet or producing an essay on the character of Portia.

Miss McKindrick declares that an elaborate exercise concerning the fine points of millinery not only inspired her pupils to better work in English but had the result of emphasizing every day subjects of research in the classroom.

"We had part of the stage arranged to represent a millinery shop," she says. "The girl explained the making of a hat while she trimmed one. Six girls of the senior class, representing customers, then came in and tried on hats.

"Our little milliner explained why the fat girl who came should not wear this or that hat; what colors the auburn haired girl should avoid; that the girl with the regular features should choose a hat with certain lines; that the girl with irregular features should appear in other lines; that girls with big noses look well in certain shapes, while those having little noses should avoid them.

"There was a discussion as to whether the hat was to be one of general utility or one for dress. Economy was considered. Our milliner did not tell her customers they looked charming in every hat they put on. I believe every woman, at this point, will agree with me that such training as this, if general, would be appreciated."

Another suggestion by Miss McKindrick is a short play on the subject of married life. The outline is as follows:

"Mrs. Newlywed has cooked her husband a good digestible meal, according to the principles learned in the cooking course in our school. Mr. Newlywed doesn't like the taste of the food. He prefers his mother's indigestible fried eggs, greasy doughnuts, and fried steak. A nice little quarrel ensues. Mrs. Newlywed must explain her position."

The boys in Miss McKindrick's classes sometimes are told to write on themes concerning the workshop, with subjects such as "How to Turn a Cylinder," "How to Make a Split Pattern, and "Describe the Process of Welding." The result is invariably better, she says, than if the teacher had assigned "The Theological Basis of Paradise Lost."

The banquet will be held in the Elizabethan room of the Congress hotel on the night of the first day's session, along the lines of an old fashioned English hunt dinner. Peacock alley will be transformed to represent an English country road on which unique "stunts" will take place.

High School Graduates Run Cider Distillery.

SPEAKING of cider, the real article is produced in the heart of an orchard on Western avenue, Morgan Park, and the "distillers" are graduates and pupils of the Arlington High school.

The "still" was uncovered yesterday by Edward J. Tobin, county superintendent of schools, and a party of country life directors, with the assistance of Principal John H. Heil of the school. All of the investigators partook of the cider and were photographed in the act, so evidence is complete.

Though Morgan Park schools are not termed rural, the boys have given a forcible exhibition of land reclamation and horticultural knowledge that fits in with the new departure in agriculture as an annex to the "three R's" in Cook county's schools.

One block west of the Arlington school is an apple orchard of thirty acres, belonging to the George F. Harding estate, of which Ald. Harding of the Second ward is representative. The orchard has been neglected for fifteen years and no effort at reclamation was made until the Morgan Park Boys' Achievement club took hold. That was in last May—a late start—but the boys have rejuvenated eight acres through pruning and spraying, and intend reclaiming as much or more next year.

There is no fancy horticultural glory to be obtained through this boys' achievement club unless there is a corresponding amount of work, as it was explained by the president, Paul Anderson. The workers receive 10 cents an hour and participate in the general profits if they have worked fifty hours or more. The penalty of ease is no dividends, unlike some Wall street operations. At present there are about sixteen boys in the coupon clipping class.

As an indication that there are some able financiers among the boy population of Morgan Park, it may be stated that a cider press was purchased for $15, after it had been arranged that it could be sold at a slight discount at the end of the season.

The teachers found Will Everham, who enters the University of Illinois this autumn; Robert Emory, Harold Smith, Owen Price, Stuart Lawrence, President Anderson, and Roy Warncke extracting the cider with vigor. As all the rural life directors, and County Superintendent Tobin, too, were reared on farms, they took their turn at the press.

At the present time the citizens of Morgan Park consume the entire output of the orchard, both apples and cider. The maximum capacity in cider so far has been sixteen barrels a day. The distribution facilities consist of a boy's wagon and a keg and by this means Morgan Park purchases its cider at 10 cents a quart and 20 cents a gallon, and glad to get it, being something of a prohibition territory.

An additional forward to the land experiment that has proved profitable in interest and cash is a five acre cornfield adjoining the orchard. The boys have succeeded in raising 75 bushels to the acre while devoting most of their attention to apples.

Edwin F. U.S. Christians Petrified, Mrs. Booth-Clibborn Says.

"CHRISTIANS in America are petrified with fears," according to Mrs. Catherine Booth-Clibborn of Paris, oldest daughter of the late Gen. William Booth, founder of the Salvation army, who spoke on religious progress yesterday at the Woman's building of the Moody Bible institute.

"America's churches are not aggressive enough," she said. "They seem to be afraid to carry their campaigns into the strongholds of sin. In France infidelity is the common thing. The French people are quick to discover sham in religion and only the real will impress them."

Mrs. Booth-Clibborn is on an evangelistic tour in America and will be in Chicago until after the annual convention of the Chicago Christian Endeavor union, at which she will speak on Friday evening, Sept. 19. She will preach in Moody church Sunday morning and evening.

Twenty-five years ago she went to France, being the first one of the Booth family to go outside of England to do missionary work. She was known there as La Marechale and was put in prison a number of times for her aggressive methods when she began her work on the continent.

Mrs. Booth-Clibborn is accompanied by her daughter, Miss Victoria Booth-Clibborn, also an evangelist.

Sports Called Aid to Prayer.

Enthusiasm in playing golf, baseball, in swimming and yachting are not incompatible with fervency in prayer, according to the Rev. Frederick L. Selden, pastor of the Ravenswood Presbyterian church, and moderator of the Chicago presbytery. Dr. Selden was one of ninety Presbyterian ministers who went last Monday to Olivet camp, Williams bay, Lake Geneva, and returned last evening.

"We spent the mornings and evenings in devotional services of prayer and consideration of the work of the church for the coming year," he said. "Tuesday afternoon we went swimming, played ball and golf and indulged in all kinds of athletic stunts. Instead of the fun being a hindrance to our prayer I think it helped.

The Lake Geneva colony placed six yachts and launches at our disposal. Among those entertaining us were J. J. Mitchell, William Wrigley, Frederick Clay Bartlett, and R. F. Chapin."

The ministers were entertained while in the camp by the Olivet institute, 709 Vedder street.

Dr. Selden, the Rev. G. N. Luccock, Oak Park; J. J. Rae, Eighth Presbyterian church; the Rev. F. M. Fox, Presbyterian brotherhood; the Rev. Henry S. Brown, Lake View; the Rev. Douglas H. Cornell, Glencoe, and the Rev. John Timothy Stone, moderator of the Presbyterian church of the United States of America, were speakers during the retreat.

GIRL WINS FIGHT FOR FRIEND REJECTED AS A NAVAL CADET.

Whole Department Capitulates Before Young Woman Who Demands Second Test as to "Under Weight."

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—Ignoring obstructions to navigation in the shape of doorkeepers and secretaries, Miss Norma Lee Johnson steered a straight course into the navy department and fired a broadside into several startled officials on behalf of Frank Lively, an aspirant for the naval academy, who had been rejected because he was "under weight." The officials struck their colors, and today Lively returns to Annapolis to undergo another examination as to his fitness.

Miss Johnson is private secretary to Representative Avias of West Virginia, who appointed Lively to the academy. In his physical examination the boy was found to be five pounds too light to meet the requirements. He was rejected, and Miss Johnson became indignant.

"Five pounds, indeed," she exclaimed. "That's a mightly lot of avoirdupois missing in an admiral. I'll see about this!"

Whereupon Miss Johnson jabbed in her hatpins and set out to see Secretary Daniels. When she ended her cruise of the department hers were the only colors flying. The department fleet had capitulated. Lively's fight for another examination had been won.

Polish Women to Aid Progressive Party.

THE POLISH WOMAN'S PROGRESSIVE CLUB, which was chartered on July 26, began its political activity yesterday at 2222 Marshall boulevard. It is the intention of the club to enroll 5,000 Polish women to uphold the platform of the Progressive party. Branch clubs are to be formed in every ward of the city where the Progressive women may meet for the good of their chosen party.

"It was Theodore Roosevelt who made me a Progressive," said Miss A. Emily Napieralski, president of the organization, when asked why the Polish women had chosen to be Progressive rather than Democratic or Republican. "When introduced to Mr. Roosevelt I said, 'So this is the great Theodore Roosevelt,' and he replied, 'I am not great.' So like the leader we believe the Progressive party is the most democratic—the most human."

The object of the club, she said, is to teach its members the duties of citizenship, patriotism, and good government, and for the intellectual advancement of the Polish women of the city and state. The club stands for the general welfare and progress of Polish women as citizens.

Distribution of literature telling of the merits of the Progressive platform will be one of the organization's strong features. It will also send out lecturers on citizenship, politics, and government. The women pledged themselves to enforce existing laws and to uphold the purity of the ballot. They will work to free elections from corrupt practices, they said, by active participation in those elections. The Polish women expressed themselves positively against saloons and disapproved of dance halls run in connection with them.

The club has a membership of 13,000 Polish women scattered in 172 branches in various cities where there are large colonies of Poles. The Women's Progressive club, however, is not a part of the Polish Women's alliance. It has its own board of directors, which are to be elected annually.

Will Fight Heretics in Russia.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 10.—The holy synod in plenary session today approved the measures taken against the followers of the "heretic doctrine of the divinity of the name of Jesus," and referred those who have not repented to the canonical judgment of the patriarch of Constantinople.

The holy synod will order the Russian priests to combat the heretical propaganda which is spreading in the monasteries. It says that the heretics among the monks on Mount Athos drove out the believers in the true orthodox faith, many of whom are wandering about the country begging.

Twenty-five of the heretics were slightly injured during the expulsion of the monks by the troops, and forty accused or suspected of having been implicated in criminal projects were imprisoned at Odessa.

Chicago Violinist Announces Betrothal.

Miss Elena Moneak

Chicago musical circles were interested yesterday in the announcement of the betrothal of Miss Elena Moneak, 1024 East Forty-second place, to Harry Milton Eichman of 4750 Magnolia avenue. Miss Moneak is widely known as a violinist. The date of the marriage has not been settled.

"Wild Irish Rose" Wins Violin Thief Liberty.

THERE was a tomblike silence in court. Municipal Judge Scully leaned back in his swivel chair and looked out of the window at the dry leaves rattling on the roof next door. Then the violin spoke plaintively. The prisoner at the bar leaned his cheek tenderly on the instrument held on his outstretched arm. His eyes closed and his body swayed slightly as he drew the bow across the strings.

"My Wild Irish Rose" had been the court's request. The melody was quaint and soft. The judge's lips moved without a sound as he fitted the words to the old air:

My Wild Irish rose,
The sweetest flower that grows;
You may search everywhere,
But there's none can compare
With my wild Irish rose.

Judge Scully slowly turned from the window. He gazed again at the figure of a man who stood before him with bowed head. He held the violin like a child, cradled in his arms.

"Joseph Zager," said the court, referring to his blotter. "It isn't an Irish name you wear, but you surely play that as if you were born in County Mayo. Why did you steal that violin?"

"Judge—I—just borrowed it," said Zager, fondling the instrument. "It has the sweetest tone in the world."

"Never borrow it again without permission," said the court. I'll continue the case until tomorrow, and then discharge you."

Says He Used Quinine and Cured Hydrophobia.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 10.—That hydrophobia is curable by the use of quinine was reasserted today by Dr. L. D. Harris of St. Louis, Mo., before the American Health association. Dr. Harris submitted the results of a treatment of the rabies with quinine in accordance with the theory of Dr. Virgil H. Moon, recently announced, and gave as his opinion from exhaustive research that medical science within a short time will have been entirely revolutionized with respect to treating this malady.

He told of administering extravenous injections of quinine to a patient a short time ago and said that within a week the patient was discharged from his care.

Dr. C. E. Terry, health officer of Jacksonville, Fla., in a paper on "Drug Habitués and Their Bearing on the Public Health and Welfare," laid the blame for drug fiends upon physicians.

He stated that 50 per cent of drug fiends become so through using drugs prescribed during illness, and declared that physicians are more dangerous than druggists in this respect.

He favored state legislation against physicians and druggists minimizing the practice of prescribing strong drugs to those addicted to their use.

Eugene E. Howe of Wellesley college read a paper on "Hygienic and Physical Education," which was a thesis on the teaching of hygiene and the facilities of sanitary inspection in schools. He urged that more attention be paid to these questions in the public schools and colleges of the country.

A money loss of $200,000,000 yearly from disease can be prevented by improved sanitation and proper legislative action, Dr. John B. Andrews of New York, secretary of the American Society for Labor Legislation, said in an address. Dr. Andrews spoke on "Occupational Diseases and Legislative Remedies."

Dr. Alice Hamilton of Hull house, Chicago, discussed "Industrial Lead Poisoning."

In the laboratory section interest was aroused by reports on work in diphtheria, sewage, and serums.

A nomination committee was appointed to bring in a slate for officers for next year. This commitee probably will report tomorrow.

Miss Amy Lowell Smokes Big Cigar.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Declaring that she was merely putting her theories on woman suffrage to practical uses, Miss Amy Lowell of Harvard, the well known poetess, today defended, on the arrival of the Laconia, her actions in smoking big black Havana cigars on the trip across.

"I am a suffragist on general principles," she said, "and I firmly believe that women have all the rights and duties of men. If I chose to smoke on the vessel, I don't think it was anybody else's business. The men were all smoking, and I should be false to my theories if I did not do so merely to observe the conventions."

Miss Lowell appeared on deck on the first day out with a big cigar in her mouth. The passengers found it hard to believe that the cigar was real. When she repeated the performance on subsequent days, however, they were forced to the conclusion that the cigar was composed of real tobacco. Miss Lowell viewed the amazement of her fellow passengers with evident amusement.

Suffragets Enter Ulster Revolt.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Woman's Social and Political union is planning to make things uncomfortable for Sir Edward Carson and his colleagues if they fail to make provision for votes for women in the new constitution they are drafting for Ulster.

In a letter to the Ulster leader the women put themselves on record as follows:

"You and your colleagues and supporters are forming an Ulster government an preparing an armed rebellion as a protest against being brought under a system of government to which you do not give your consent. It is precisely on the same principle that the militant suffragist organization refuses to submit to a government without the consent of women either in Ulster or any other part of the kingdom."

Not Hard to Decide What Work to Do.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

"WHAT can I do?" Have you asked that question of yourself? Whenever you read about the successes of other women do you wonder what you can do? Isn't it a really full of pleasure thing to dream about what you're going to do when you're a successful home worker? There's almost as much joy in planning as there is in accomplishing. But not quite so much. And the trouble with dreaming is that it sometimes keeps us from getting down to actual work. Is that the way it is with you? Have you been dreaming about the things that you'd like to do so long that you've neglected to start doing something?

It isn't at all hard to decide what you can do. Often it's much harder to decide what not to do, isn't it? Aren't there, perhaps, lots of things that you can do equally well? And don't you, when you are dreaming about making a success, do first one thing and then another?

I know how it is because I've spent some happy hours dreaming about what I'd like to do in the world. It's pretty hard to be able to decide what we can do. But it's much safer to decide quickly and try to do actual work instead of just thinking about what we may accomplish some day.

Read this letter from one of the home workers who had just that difficulty—the difficulty of deciding what she could do:

"I wonder how many women there are like me? Ever since I've been reading about your wonderful department I've been trying to decide what I can do. Maybe you can help me to decide. I'm not exactly like most women, because I am able to do a few more things than most women can do. I've been a teacher in a high school, but I had to give up teaching because my eyes troubled me. I have had special training in arts and crafts. I can do anything from weaving to pottery, and I have taken a particular pleasure always in doing my own designs.

"One summer I thought I'd take up domestic science. I always have loved to cook and every one says my little table has the best things on it that ever came out of a kitchen, old fashioned or modernly scientific. Of course I sew, and although I don't do fine embroidery, I do the coarser kind, the imitations of the oriental, and the old fashioned cross stitch. I can even do a little musical entertaining. I have always been interested in folk songs, and when I was in the south I took down all of the queer religious songs of the negroes. I've sung them for people and every one seemed to like them. I've even done a little bit of song writing.

"You see I've spent so much time doing so many different things—though I'm only 32—that I haven't any definite idea about what I can do. Can you help me?"

To be sure she is an unusually gifted woman—and how many things she has done for such a young woman, but her trouble is not so much deciding what to do as deciding what not to do.

Is that your problem, too? Then won't you let me help you to settle it? Won't you write to me and tell me all about what you'd like to do when you can make up your mind what to try? It will make me happy, indeed, to be able to help you do your deciding. Will you let me?

Useful for Baby.

A useful baby gift easily made to be used on best occasions instead of mosquito netting as a fly protector consists of one yard square of fine white net edged with dainty lace and ribbon drawn through an inch beading at one end to shir over the hood of the carriage or basket. These can easily be sold for double the cost and take about half an hour to make.

MRS. B. RODKEY, 5024 Forrestville avenue.

Desserts for Neighbors.

I have a friend who is an excellent cook, and, having some spare time, she helps out her husband's salary considerably by making desserts for less experienced housewives in her building and near neighborhood. While there are many young wives—and some "old ones," too—who do well preparing the essentials, when it comes to fancy desserts are entirely at sea and find it mighty handy to leave it to a more experienced cook. Sometimes the woman ordering the dessert sends the recipe and all the material and this woman simply makes the dessert and charges for her labor, 35 cents or perhaps 50, according to the time involved. Other times this woman uses recipes of her own, ordering all the material required and sending an itemized bill with the finished dessert. You would be surprised to know how much of this thrifty woman's time is occupied with making "party desserts" for her neighbors.

Footstool of Cans.

A friend of mine makes little footstools, using seven tin cans of same size and shape as the foundation. Each is wrapped separately in any old material suitable for padding, then using one can as a center, the other six are arranged around it and securely fastened by means of string. The whole is covered with pretty velvet or flowered material to match a room. These are easily made and should sell well.

Stamping Table Linen.

I made quite a sum of money by stamping and embroidering towels, sheets, and table pieces. My prices are 25 cents a yard for a plain scallop or 25 cents for a monogram. Many busy housewives are glad to have such work well done, so I find I am kept fairly busy.

ELLA L. JOSEPH, 4406 Ellis avenue.

Covers for Baby Bottles.

A young girl I know makes a nice sum of spending money by crocheting covers for baby bottles out of pink, blue, or white wool. These are lovely things to have, as they keep the contents of the bottle warm and prevent the bottles from breaking when they drop. When so desired she crochets a cord, one end being attached to the bottle cover, the other can be tied to bed or buggy so the baby cannot throw it out. This saves the price of many a bottle.

Stenciling Easy and Interesting.

Any woman who has 50 cents to invest in an outfit for stenciling can make money at home easily, as curtains, sofa pillows, hand bags, dresser scarfs, and even bed spreads can be stenciled in colors to carry out a color scheme for some girl's room or the living room "dressed up" all alike, presents a new appearance at little cost. Stenciling does not require art lessons; any amateur can stencil and find it pleasing and interesting work.

Does Swedish Darning.

I am a girl of 14 and have learned sewing in a form called "Swedish darning," and it is a nice method to work out on borders on towels and lunch clothes and aprons. I have orders for these, especially the towels and lunch cloths, on which I make from 32 to 50 per cent on each article. This darning is an easy occupation, as one has only to draw threads from the linen or huck that one is to sew on. You draw the threads about an inch in width, then take your needle and weave through the threads, taking four threads at a time to weave through. You go on in this way until about one-fourth of the width is gone over, then drop the two sections on each side and do the same stitch as far as the first, and do the same process over again until you have a pattern looking like steps on each side. Do this same pattern continually until the border is done. This pattern looks lovely in all white, although it can be done in light colors. I do most of my work in the winter and around the Christmas season I am especially busy. I keep most of my money to spend in the hot summer, when one does not feel like working. I think I have worked up quite a trade for a girl of my age, and I have done this work after school hours. So you see, I have made money at home.

HIGHEST NOTE EVER SUNG REACHED BY MILWAUKEE GIRL.

Music Director Predicts Fame for Singer Who Never Took Lesson or Believed She Had Voice.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Lillian Bennett, 18 years old, during the rehearsal of the A Cappella choir today sang high G, the highest note ever reached by any of the world's opera singers.

Director William Boeppler of the Wisconsin Conservatory of Music said if the girl's voice is cultivated nothing can stop her from gaining fame.

"I never took any vocal lessons," said Miss Bennett. "I never even thought that I was a good singer. Of course I'm glad—it's made me happier than I can say. Mr. Boeppler must know."

TEACHERS TO LEARN TO VOTE.

Special Class for Their Instruction Arranged For at Progressive Club Headquarters.

A special class for the instruction of school teachers has been added to the course of lectures given at the Progressive club's headquarters, 17 West Jackson boulevard. Questions relating to election laws, voting machines, and offices from which women may vote will be specifically dealt with.

This special class will meet every Saturday noon and will be presided over by Nina M. Curtis of the election commissioners' office. She has been assigned through the courtesy of County Judge Owens. This woman expert is at the club giving information every weekday between 12 noon and 3 p. m.

ITCHED FOR 20 YEARS, RESINOL CURED IN 10 DAYS

Baltimore, Md., July 10, 1913.—"About twenty years ago both my legs began to itch from ankle to knee. Little pimples came out that looked very much like heat. The itching and burning was something terrible. I would start to scratch and could not stop. I would even scratch through the skin and that of course would leave a sore which I was compelled to bandage.

"I tried several prescriptions and treatments, but received not a particle of benefit—no more than if the treatments were cold water. I then began to have very little faith in anything and of course could do nothing but scratch away. After suffering constantly for twenty years, a friend recommended Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. From the very first application I found relief, and was entirely cured in ten days. The itching and stinging sensations have ceased and my skin is as smooth as a child's." (Signed) Charles Warner, 1123 N. Stricker St.

Physicians have prescribed Resinol for eighteen years and every druggist in the country sells Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment. For free trial, write to Dept. 14-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Economical Housekeeping

Peach Flavoring and Canned Peaches.

IT is a bit of a bother, but it is worth while, to save the peach kernels for flavoring. Crack open the pits, take out the kernel and dry it. When ready to use, blanch by pouring boiling water over it and then crush by pounding. But it can be used for flavoring by cutting up the kernels finely with a knife if one has no mortar. The mortar is a rare article in American households today and rarer in the stores.

Our grandmothers saved the peach kernels, dried them, and mixed them with almonds for cake. In pounding them they used rose water or orange flower water to keep them from oiling, but plain water will do. They also used peach leaves to flavor custards, and they likewise steeped those leaves in brandy for a flavoring to have on hand for a long time.

The old cook books mention peach water, but do not tell how to make it, but there is much more about peaches in the old volumes than one might expect.

For the ordinary Spanish cream three eggs are required, and the quantity made is enough for six people. The following recipe will make four jelly glass molds of the cream, and it is good flavored with fresh peach kernels instead of the usual vanilla.

SPANISH CREAM.—One pint of milk less the cream, one slightly heaping tablespoon of gelatin, two eggs, four tablespoons of sugar, or more if a sweeter cream is desired and four or more fresh peach kernels. Four will flavor it sufficiently for most tastes. Dissolve the gelatin in the milk and cut up the peach kernels into it. Put on to cook in a double boiler. Beat the whites and the yolks of the eggs separately. Add the sugar to the yolks. Then add these to the hot milk and stir constantly until the whole reaches the boiling point, or about ten minutes. Take from the stove, whip in the stiff whites until the cream is smooth, and then pour into one large mold or four small ones. Serve exceedingly cold.

CANNED PEACHES.—Pour hot water on peaches; drain off, peel them and cut in halves to take out the pits. Pack closely in jars and have ready a cooled sirup made of one pound of sugar and one quart of water, boiled for fifteen minutes. If less sugar is used the proportion of water must be greater, for it will boil away rapidly. Pour the sirup around peaches, filling the jars full; put on rubbers and seal. Put a rack (false bottom) in a wash boiler with a towel over it; set the cans of peaches in it, putting paper between the cans so that they cannot touch one another. Fill the boiler with cold water to the height of necks of the jars. Heat slowly, and after the boiling point is reached boil for ten minutes. If the rubbers push out they can be put back and the noise they make in doing so is not to be heeded. After ten minutes of boiling take out the cans, and if the tops are not as tight as possible, make them so. If Mason jars are used they can be turned upside down to cool. There is a theory that if there is any sugar in the jars it will settle, and being on the top when the cans are put away it will help to preserve the fruit. Three pounds of sugar and three quarts of water are enough to make a sirup for a bushel of peaches if they are well packed in the jars.

It is on the packing that a great deal of success depends. If the peaches are not well packed the cans will contain no more than half fruit after the cooking with the sirup in the bottom. This is not an ideal condition.

This method is like that which was long ago used for preserving peaches uncooked. The peaches were packed away in warm jars; a sirup was made with the above proportions of sugar and water and poured over them and then the jars were hermetically sealed. Whether these would keep under modern conditions, without the cool cellar closet of the old time, is a question. An interesting old way to keep peach jam was to put apple jelly over it and a brandied paper over that.

Our grandmothers had some strange ideas about fruits which are curious to read about. In pirkling time they used alum to stiffen up watermelon rinds and cucumbers. Now we know that it likewise stiffened up some of the membranes of those who ate the things so prepared, and the custom only survives among unscrupulous manufacturers of foods.

Mannerisms to Be Avoided.

[Copyright: 1913: By Lillian Russell.

SO MANY women have habits that are unbecoming. They do not come from any nervous condition, but they cause a nervous condition eventually if not cured in time. One mannerism which so many women affect, and which at once stamps them as being affected as posers, is the absurd habit of shrugging or lifting their shoulders by way of punctuating their remarks. This mannerism makes a person look foolish. Besides, it causes ugly lines on the neck and shoulders. If you have contracted this foolish habit you can unlearn it only by persistent effort. You must exercise your will power and stop it.

Another important point in endeavoring to acquire that age destroyer—poise—is to remember when you really do have to hurry to learn to hurry with your muscles instead of your nerves. Try to imitate the oriental calm.

The story is told of the shah of Persia that he was asked to join a party of nobles at the derby. He replied: "It is already known to me that one horse can run faster than another, and therefore why should I waste my nerves by getting all excited watching the fact demonstrated to me?"

Avoid signs of nervousness. Grace is repose, more difficult to secure than grace in action. A woman who constantly changes her position while sitting loses all the dignity of repose which is so closely allied to grace. A rigid, upright position, as if one were momentarily expecting to encounter a calamity, is one of the most frequent positions and should be avoided.

Remember: Emerson struck for the whole world the keynote to poise when he said, "Give me a thought and my hands and legs and voice and face will go right, and we are awkward for want of thought."

Lillian Russell's Answers.

T. R. J.: When you use eggs to cleanse the hair and scalp you won't need soap or anything else except plenty of hot water and a lot of energy. Rub part of the eggs through the hair and onto the scalp, then rinse all out with hot water, rubbing the scalp firmly with the finger ends. Use the rest of the eggs, and this second cleansing will cause a suds just like soap. Rinse again, using a bath spray and never be stingy with the water. The hair will be left soft, fluffy, clean and glossy.

B. H. M.: Bunions and corns should be taken to a competent chiropodist. For home treatment try bathing the feet in hot water, to which a suggestion of soda has been added, afterward applying freely an ointment made of one dram of salicylic acid and three drams of simple cerate, and covering with a bit of absorbent cotton. Change your shoes frequently and never wear thick hosiery.

MARCH: Treatment for pimples and blackheads calls for absolute cleanliness of the body, externally and internally. Pimples show that the body is absorbing poisonous substances that it should be throwing off freely. Keep the intestinal tracts, the kidneys and the skin all active by drinking plenty of water, eating fruit and bathing daily. At night scrub the face well with hot water and green soap, afterward anointing with this healing cream: Five grams of lanolin, five grams of oil of sweet almonds, five grams of sulphur precipitate, two and one-half grams of oxide of zinc, ten drops of extract of violet. Apply sparingly.

MARGARET: Hard water, which is made so by the deposit of lime in surrounding soil, should not be used for bathing unless soft water cannot be obtained, for it cracks the epidermis and roughens and reddens it out of all semblance to beauty. But if it must be used it can be somewhat softened by adding to it just enough borax or ammonia to make the water feel smooth. And now what kind of soap is best? For soap must not be omitted in cleansing the body. The housewife knows full well that she cannot cleanse her china or her linen without soap, and it is quite as unreasonable to suppose that skin, which is constantly exuding oil, fatty matter, can be cleansed either with hot or cold water alone. Soap is needed in bathing the body just as surely as it is needed in washing linen.

CARRIE: Tighten the muscles of the neck and cheeks, and, with the chin tilted, revolve head on shoulders for five long minutes. This exercise is warranted to substitute a softly rounded neck for one that was nothing but skin and bone. As a finishing touch, take a whitening, suppling, skin softening bath before you creep wearily into bed at the close of a strenuous day, else you may waken the next morning with tired, aching muscles.

Two cups sugar, two-thirds cup rich milk or cream, one tablespoon butter. Let boil till it forms a soft ball when dropped in water; take from stove, add chopped nuts or raisins, flavor with a teaspoon vanilla, stir until almost hard, pour into buttered tins, mark off in squares, and let stand until cold.—Kindness of Mrs. B. Cookies that Will Keep Soft.

"In reply to 'C. W. A. L,' here is a recipe for cookies that will keep soft. Two full cups of flour, one cup of sugar, one cup of butter, one cup of sour cream, one teaspoonful soda, one-half cup of currants; if desired add spices. I hope to see this in print. MAUDE C."

More About Cookies.

"As several requests have been made for cookies I reply, MORE ABOUT COOKIES: This time how to keep them soft or to prevent them from becoming hard. I have solved the problem, as my husband uses them as a substitute for bread. I make a good many kinds, but mostly ginger cookies. After baking four or five dozen, when they are done I place them in a stone jar, tin can, or paper box. Then I fill paper paraffin lined cracker boxes (pound boxes) and put them in the tin breadbox. Cookies are usually hard when first baked, but in a day or two they will soften. As fast as they are used up I refill the jar.

My ginger cookies are made as my mother made them when I was a child. One cup of molasses (Orleans or sorghum), one cup of sugar, one cup of lard (or lard and butter mixed, one cup boiling water poured on two teaspoons of soda, and add a heaping teaspoon of baking powder (my mother did not use baking powder). I use baking powder to avoid using too much soda. Add salt, ginger, and cinnamon. If you use butter, heap the cup, as it does not shorten like lard or dripping; still it is better. Flour to mix as soft as convenient to roll. I use a gas oven, but as I have no shallow pans I turn pans upside down and bake on the bottom. C. T. O."

"Windbeutels."

"In 'Marion Harland's Helping Hand' I find a request for the formula for German doughnuts, supposed to be called 'windlidel,' a fearfully disfiguring or rather crippling of the word 'windbeutel' (windbeitel being the Saxon dialect for same word). 'Windbeutels' are large cream puffs filled with whipped cream (sweetened sufficiently) and flavored with vanilla. The same dough may also be fried like doughnuts, by shaping each on a paper the size of the pan which contains hot lard and which paper is drawn through the hot lard before shaping the dough on the same. This is done by putting the dough into a large bag 'cone shaped,' and cutting the end to form an opening about the size of a thimble or a little larger. When the paper is covered with as many rings as there is room for, turn it upside down in the hot lard. After a few seconds take the paper out and use again. Fry like doughnuts and roll in sugar. Flavor with vanilla or cinnamon. Powdered sugar is best. "GEORGE W. S."

Activities of Children.

"May I offer a few suggestions to the mother who asks how she may best direct the activities of her two small daughters?

"First, the play of children is not recreation in the sense of being a side issue, a change or relaxation from the business of life. That is the whole meaning of adult 'play,' but in the child world play is the main business of life; the most elaborate or even finished toys dwarf his imagination. Give him or her raw material of every kind—blocks, sticks, sand, clay, paper, pebbles, tin cans, boxes, twigs, etc., etc. The child wants things to create and needs only a little guidance in the beginning. Teach the little girls to use their senses, too, for now is the golden time for sense training.

"Another thing that I think every mother should do for her children is to stock her mind with stories—the best, of course, that the world has to offer. Story telling, the cutting of paper illustrations, and the crude, but often surprisingly true action out of the tales furnish never ending fun for any child. And, by the way, reading the story aloud is not always a good substitute for telling it.

"Many stories—the long ones and those whose beauty of style will not stand tampering with, should be read. But, oh, many a tale should come to the little one direct, vitalized by the eyes, the voice, the expression of the story teller! And the best story teller is the mother.

"In conclusion, I want to make a plea for plenty of group play. The games of childhood are a marvelous study, and they serve the noble purposes of awakening in the child his social sense, of developing in him or her a feeling for others and for himself or herself as part of the whole; also self-control, obedience to law (the rule of the game), and cooperation, as opposed to the fierce individualism of child and savage life. Girls need the training as much as boys, perhaps more, because they have had always less than their share.

"And now that women are called to take their part in civic life and the control of the larger family—the community—they must be trained to cooperate, to work together for the common good. So I would urge this mother, if she live anywhere near a playground, to encourage her girls to join in the classes and in group and team games. It will mean better citizenship in after years. A child must play if he would grow up into perfect, all round development, and he must have have the right opportunity for the necessary kinds of play.

"RUTH R. P."

For Sick Chicks.

I had the same trouble Mrs. J. P. B. is having with her little chicks. I fed mine on scalded milk, chopped hard boiled eggs, and cooked meal. They are all right now. MRS. F. A. B.

Laura Jean Libbey's Advice

By Laura Jean Libbey

Dangerous Pleasures.

[Copyright: 1913: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

YOUNG people long for the green flowery parks, warm with sunshine by day, turned into a paradise by night under the white, bright light of the silver moon and the glimmering stars.

Few if any girls premeditate evil; they are usually drawn into it by devious ways. The trolley ride is very delightful, but young folks are restless and always fond of new diversions. At the end of the trolley route the young man may propose a stroll. There are returning cars every few moments; therefore they may not be particular about taking the same car back.

There is dance music at some open pavilion close by. Scores of couples are waltzing madly to the weird barbaric strains. Was there ever a girl whose pulse did not beat the faster and whose feet did not fairly refuse to keep still when the melody of the mad, glad, delightful "Blue Danube" waltz fell upon her ear?

It comes to pass that the young men and the girls make each other's acquaintance without much ado—that is to say, proper introductions. The timid little girl who takes pink lemonade is laughed at by the girls about her. She is enticed into taking her first glass of wine. She fears their ridicule should she refuse. After that it is a case of "lightly trips the foot of time, but only treads on flowers." "When wine is in, wit is out."

Many a girl only realizes her position when she sees the day breaking and the dancing ceases. This is her first step on the road to folly. Pleasure is a rose which has many delights; but it may also have sharp, cruel thorns.

The number of letters received daily from correspondents who wish to be answered through the columns of "The Tribune" is so large in comparison with the space allotted to those answers that there is necessarily some delay in replying to many of the questions asked of Miss Libbey.

He Has Proposed to Her.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 22, and desperately in love with a girl of 19. I have proposed to her and she has told me she loves me and promised to marry me. Now do you think it proper to go out with other fellows for automobile rides and suppers? I am very miserable about this matter. M."

It is hardly the proper thing for a girl to do. Tell her it hurts you to have her act that way. Try to make things so pleasant for the girl herself that she will not want to go about with other young men. The trouble with a great many young men is that they think when they become engaged to a girl they can treat her any way, and bitterly resent any attempt on her part to find pleasure elsewhere.

A Widow of 28.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a widow of 28 and have a girl 12 years old. I feel since my husband died that I don't know what to do with myself, as I am so lonesome. I met a man two years ago and I see him often as he passes my house to go to his farm nearly every day. He is a bachelor and has plenty of money. He seems to think a great deal of me and wanted to go with me before, but I wouldn't consent, as I thought I ought not to have company so soon. Could you tell me how I could let him know that I love him. Shall I write to him or not? I have had many admirers, but didn't care for any of them. G."

You might write him a note and invite him to call. This would give him a cue that you are interested in him. If he is in earnest he will take advantage of your invitation. Under no circumstances tell him that you are in love with him before he proposes to you.

What Shall He Do?

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 20, going to school at Lake Forest. I am dearly in love with a girl, but she allows every one in town to call on her. I am considered good looking and the girls all like me. She says she loves me better than any, but she will not stop keeping company with them. What shall I do? T."

If you are not engaged to the girl you have no reason to expect her to give up her other friends and devote all her time to you. Besides, you are very foolish to be wasting your valuable school time on thoughts of girls. You would better give all your time and attention to fitting yourself for a successful life.

Widower with Nine Children.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am confronted with a very serious problem at the present time. A widower with nine children has been paying me marked attention for some time past. I feel that I am not capable of taking the responsible position offered me in his home. What shall I do about it? Accept him and overlook these minor troubles or have nothing m re to do with him and his interesting family? M."

Assuming the responsibility and care of nine children is a rather serious matter. The rôle of stepmother is usually a pretty difficult one to fill and unless you feel capable of it and dearly love the man I certainly would not advise you to marry him.

WOMEN DESCRIBE PERILS OF CANAL

Mrs. H. S. Mills and Seven Guests Lost All Night on Drainage Ditch.

STEERSMAN LOSES WAY.

Maroons Boat in Mud; When Freed Engine Breaks Down; Saved by Police.

Tales of harrowing experiences in the thick woods and on the muddy banks along the drainage canal are being told by Mrs. H. S. Mills of Oak Park and seven women who were her guests on a launch ride from Chicago to Joliet yesterday. None of the women was able to see callers yesterday.

The launch party was made up of Mrs. H. S. Mills, wife of Herbert S. Mills, president of the Mills Novelty company, who was hostess; Mrs. H. F. Mann, Austin; Mrs. T. Sullivan, Oak Park; Mrs. Frank Doherty, Mrs. Milton Gantsart, Mrs. Edward McDonald, Mrs. M. J. O'Leary, and Mrs. J. J. Kelly of Austin.

Party Leaves in Morning.

They reached Joliet without mishap about 3:50 in the afternoon. When they started back a telephone message was sent to the yacht club, which stated the party would arrive at 9 o'clock and requested that automobiles be waiting to take them home.

Capt. Chris Carlson, who ran the launch, became confused shortly after leaving Joliet and steered the boat into the old canal. The mistake was not discovered until the boat ran aground.

Work Four Hours on Boat.

They were not discovered until they had spent four hours getting the boat into deep water. They were towed into the main channel by fishermen. After they had gone quite a distance it was discovered that the propeller had been broken and that most of their gasoline had been used in trying to get free.

The engine finally stopped dead in the middle of the canal. Assisted by two of the women, Capt. Carlson rowed the big boat to the bank.

Land in Mud and Woods.

According to Mrs. Mills, the place where the boat landed was the "muddiest spot on the canal."

"We were in an awful fix," she said. "We knew we were miles from the nearest hotel, and we did not even have heavy wraps. We climbed out of the boat to the muddy bank and made a survey of the surrounding country. We waded in mud and clambered over logs and through thickets, and occasionally we would all sit down and hold a council of war.

"We talked and rested until we came near a house at Willow Springs. It was too late to disturb anyone, so we built a big fire and stood around it. Capt. Carlson went to the hotel for some coffee, and while he was gone we were discovered by the officers from the police boat."

LAWYER BALKS ON NO FEE JOB

PRISONERS FACE HANGING.

Prosecutor Denounces Negro Attorney's Effort at Haste.

Two negro men yesterday faced Judge Brentano in the Criminal court, fighting in the hope that they will end their days at Joliet instead of at the end of the hangman's noose. They had pleaded guilty to killing a man to get 60 cents.

Stephen Malato, assistant state's attorney, read a long confession of the murder. Each admitted the killing of an innocent man, but laid the actual crime upon the other, and the blame for it upon a combination of cheap whisky and "coke."

Kill Robbery Victim.

The men on trial—Floyd Hall and George Taylor—on the morning of July 4, when "full of whisky and coke," went out to get some money. Their victim was Louis Eichten, a painter who was on his way fishing. While Taylor held him Hall searched him and then stabbed him to death when he struggled. As Eichten fell one of the thieves grabbed his coat and left his own in place of it. A letter found in this coat gave the clew which led to their arrest. Assistant State's Attorney Malato obtained their confessions and Judge Windes appointed Attorney Beauregard F. Moseley, a negro, to defend Taylor.

On Wednesday when he was notified the case would be called for trial, Moseley declared over the telephone he would not attend as he was "too busy with cases that paid him money." When told this Judge Brentano ordered him to appear and defend Taylor or stand in contempt of court.

Lawyer Objects to Time Loss.

"How long are you going to be?" Moseley asked, drawing out his watch, "I won't take long in the defense. I've got an appointment and I can't waste time on this case. There isn't a cent in it for me."

"I'm here to convict these men and hang them if possible," Mr. Malato angrily retored, "and if you are half a lawyer you will do your best for them."

"Well, lawyers ought not to have to give up their time for charity cases," replied the defendant's lawyer. "Here I don't get a cent and maybe I lose $300."

EXPLOSION HURTS 20 PERSONS.

Police Assert Belief That Terrific Blast Was Due to Gas Accident.

More than a score of persons, among them a month old baby asleep in its cradle, were injured, three buildings were partly wrecked, and windows within a radius of half a mile were shattered at 3:30 a. m. yesterday by an explosion in the doorway of the private bank and steamship ticket agency of Alexander Conforti at 912 South Halsted street. Capt. J. O'D. Storen said the explosion undoubtedly was due to a leaking gas pipe in the basement. Firemen declared they could smell gas.

FAKE REPORTER GIVEN GRILLING

H. S. Brin Admits Falsely Representing Self as "Tribune" News Gatherer.

TRIED TO HELP BLUECOAT.

Sought to Find Out What Civil Service Investigators Had Learned.

Harold Stanley Brin, fake reporter, was given an uncomfortable half hour on the witness stand yesterday before the police trial board.

The case on hearing was that of Sergeant John B. Lacey of the Stanton avenue station, who is charged with running an automobile garage as a sideline to police business. After investigators from Second Deputy Funkhouser's office had inquired into his affairs Brin, an acquaintance, endeavored to find out what their evidence against the sergeant was. For this purpose, he said, he represented himself as a news gatherer for THE TRIBUNE.

Witness Disowned by Defense.

The defense finally disowned him completely, endeavoring to impeach his testimony by an effort to prove that he was distributing cards bearing his name and the name of THE TRIBUNE before the investigators began their work. Sergt. Lacey did not know that each representative of the paper carries with him an identification card bearing his picture.

"What connection had you with THE TRIBUNE?" asked Commissioer Flynn.

"I got them printed in a 5 and 10 cent store—twenty-five for 10 cents," was the answer.

Investigator Rents Auto of Lacey.

Brin swore that he was in the police station when an investigator giving an assumed name called up Lacey and asked him to send him an automobile. He said he had offered to "make the run." The next day he told Lacey his passengers were investigators. That night, when a similar telephone call came to Lacey he telephoned Brin to make the trip. Brin swore the machine had been left in his custody by a resident of Shelbyville, Ind.

Lacey testified he had no interest in the Chicago Auto Livery company and that it was owned by Mrs. M. H. Le Mont, at whose flat he rooms. He said he thought it his duty to get a machine for the men who telephoned him after he had been told by Brin they were investigators.

Myron Leffingwell, said to have been an actor, died yesterday in an ambulance as he was being taken to a hospital. Leffingwell was living at the Revere house. The clerk saw him slip from a chair in the lobby and called an ambulance.

We try to learn by these errors. We want you to tell us if in your case everything isn't just right. We want you to be satisfied with your transaction; we'll refund your money any time you're not satisfied, whether it's our fault or just a change in your desires.

They're both wrong, and any woman who thinks, knows it. Fabric-quality without correct style ideas amounts to nothing, any more than style without fabric.

WORLD GOLF STARS DRILL FOR BATTLE ON EASTERN LINKS

Open Meet at Brookline Club Will Be Greatest in History of Sport in U. S.

FOREIGN EXPERTS TO PLAY

England, France, Mexico, and Canada Send Leading Professionals for Tourney.

YANKEE AMATEURS ALSO SEEK HONOR

Boston, Mass., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—The course of the Country club of Brookline, over which the greatest golfing battle in the history of the game in this country will be fought next week, is beginning to assume a martial aspect. Veteran campaigners who have seen service on the links of many countries are priming themselves daily for the annual open championship of the United States, which this year will be almost as important as the annual British classic.

With Harry Vardon, five times open champion of Great Britain; Edward Ray, former British champion; W. E. Reid, a first flight English player; Louis Tellier and Chris Callaway, a strong pair from France; Willie Smith, open champion of Mexico, and Charles R. Murray, Karl Keffer, and George R. Cummings, as representatives of the Dominion of Canada, there can be no doubt as to the international character of the tournament.

Amateur Stars to Compete.

In addition to the professionals there will be a good sprinkling of America's leading amateurs. The list includes Jerome Travers, four time winner of the amateur championship; Walter J. Travis, three time holder of the title; John G. Anderson, former champion of Massachusetts, and William C. Fownes Jr. of Pittsburgh, national amateur champion of 1910, and Charles Evans Jr. of Chicago.

All the prominent experts of this country are entered, and there will be widespread interest when they cross clubs with the famous men from across the pond. It will be the first real test the home professionals have had against the British and French players on a home course, and critics predict the invaders will have to go at top speed to carry home any of the main prizes.

Anderson Leads in Practice.

About fifty golfers took part in the practice today. The best score was made by Tom Anderson of Oakmont, Pittsburgh, who had a round at 73.

F. P. Miley, open champion of Virginia, went around in 76, while Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the English "pros," had scores of 76 and 77 respectively.

A four ball match between Harry Vardon and Edward Ray against Alec Campbell, the professional at the Country club for over fifteen years, and Louis Tellier, the French expert, is on the program tomorrow for a purse of $300. The match will be at thirty-six holes.

The contestants have been divided into two sections, the first of which will play thirty-six holes on Tuesday, when thirty-two will qualify. The other section will play thirty-six holes on Wednesday, when thirty-two more will earn the right to join those already qualified at seventy-two holes medal play on Thursday and Friday for the championship. There are 175 entries on the list announced by President R. C. Watson yesterday. The largest list at previous national tournaments was 131 last year at Buffalo, N. Y.

Pairings for First Day.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY R. W. LARDNER.

HATS.

When the wind blows chill and raw
And the autumn days draw near,
I discard my lid of straw;
And on leaving him I say:
"I will see you, sir, next May."

And when May arrives once more,
On the first perspiring day,
I go in some downtown store
And three bucks, or less, I pay
For a new one, nor remember
Him I took off last September.

There's a limit to the life
Of a lid. One August day
Sounds the voice of dear friend wife:
"Why not throw that hat away?"
Then, purse empty, I recall
Him I laid away last fall.

"Kindly tell me what you did
With my 1913 hat.
You object to this here lid;
Wise me where the old one's at."
"That old thing? Why, goodness, Jerry,
It was burned last February."

Lester Johnson stayed in the ring with Sam Langford one minute, which beats any such record we will ever make by one minute.

The story about the cracking of a bush pitcher's skull is interesting in that it proves a bush pitcher's skull is crackable.

Let them bar the spit ball in Wilmington, Del., and see if we care. Just now they can bar it on the south side of Chicago if they want to.

Mr. Weller: Please do not call Ted Sullivan a world's tourist. His title is "Managing Director of the White Sox-Giants World Tour."

"This was Langford's first appearance in a New York ring in three years." And probably Lester Johnson's last in three centuries.

SPORTING CALENDAR.

Saturday, Oct. 11.—Boxing: Twenty round draw at San Francisco between Bob McAllister and Sailor Ed Petrokey.

In spite of Willie Ritchie's promise to fight everybody in the lightweight division, he is likely to forget himself some day and get into the ring with somebody.

When it comes time for him to sign up with Packey all he'll demand is 128 pounds ringside, 102 per cent of the gate receipts, and the entire proceeds of the sale of hot dogs.

It was Art Pelkey's fist that dropped Luke McCarty, but it's his tongue that Burns is afraid of.

There's nothing quite as disturbing as a pugilist who tells the truth. But such pugilists are about as plentiful as tennis champions east of California.

Now that the National league flag race is over, the betting is 10 to 1 that President Lynch's decision against New York will be upheld.

ANNUALLY.

They do the same thing over,
They do the same thing over,
Over, and over again.
They're close to the top in September,
Folks get all excited, and then
Over and over and
" " " "

LATE IS RIGHT.

R. Wake L.—Dear Sir: Under the caption "Late Sporting News and Notes" the Evening ——— of Sept. 9 printed the following: "Atlanta and Mobile are having a hot fight for the pennant in the Southern league. They are not more than a game and a half apart, with Mobile in the lead." It happens that this race ended Sept. 7 with Atlanta in the lead.

FRENCH HYDRO FIRST IN RACE; ANKLE DEEP FINISHES THIRD.

Despujols Covers 32.4 Miles in 41:34, Beating Maple Leaf—Fire Makes Disturber Quit.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The French motor boat Despujols II. today won the first race of the international motor boat trophy series in Osborne bay. The winner finished the course of 32.4 miles in 41:34.

Maple Leaf IV., a British entry, was second, and Ankle Deep, America's champion motor boat, owned by Count Casimir S. Mankowski of Lake George, finished third. Maple Leaf IV. crossed the finishing line in 41:50, while Ankle Deep's time was 42:41 3-5.

Disturber III., the other American entry, owned by Commodore James H. Pugh of Chicago, was obliged to retire from the race after making a second circuit of the course in consequence of a slight fire.

Record time was made in the first lap by every boat with the exception of Crusader of England, which was delayed at the start by engine trouble. Maple Leaf also had a poor start and the French and American boats led at the outset, but Maple Leaf soon began to overhaul them. It was a touch and go between Maple Leaf and Despujols II., but the French boat continued to show its stern to the pursuers and won.

YALE GOLF TEAM WINS TITLE.

Eli Squad Lands College Honors by Beating Williams Players, Six Matches to Four.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 10.—Yale for the ninth consecutive time today won the intercollegiate team golf championship by defeating Williams college by 6 matches to 3 in the final round at the Huntingdon Valley Country club. Yale won all three foursomes this morning.

Williams had an uphill fight. It was necessary in order to gain the title to take five out of the six single matches.

Wheeler registered one victory for the blue, defeating Marshall, 5 up and 4, and Williams took the next three matches. When the Baxter-Dewindt match was all square at the eighteenth hole excitement ran high. The nineteenth was halved, and on the twentieth the Yale man won.

In the other singles Hyde of Williams beat Yale, Yale, 2 and 1; Gillette, Williams, beat Pierce, Yale, 5 and 4; Atselos, Williams, beat Gardner, Yale, 4 and 3. Bishop made Yale's total 6 by winning from Gleason, 1 up. Play for the individual title will begin tomorrow.

Wright, Detroit Recruit, Hurt.

Charlotte, Mich., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Wright, the St. Thomas, Canadian league, third sacker, bought by Detroit on Monday, had his knee badly hurt by a batted ball this afternoon while playing with Tom Stephens' Barnstormers. He will be forced to abandon the trip. The Barnstormers beat Charlotte 4 to 3.

CICOTTE HOLDS MACKMEN IN CHECK

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—When Hal Chase smashed a single into the gathering twilight of center field in the tenth inning of today's battle with the Athletics he undid a misdeed which was responsible for there being any tenth inning. Chase's single came with the bases full, two out, and scored the two runs which brought victory to Chicago by a count of 5 to 3, but there would have been no necessity for that single if Chase had not muffed Weaver's throw, giving the enemy a tally in the second spasm.

Eddie Cicotte pitched swell baseball against the Mackmen and ought to have emerged from the fray with only one run chalked against him. That was due to a home run crack into the left field bleachers by Oldring in the fifth inning. The other two tallies negotiated by the locals were gifts in which Chase and Lord figured as givers. This same pair was responsible for the sixth inning tally which averted defeat. Harry worked himself around to third without the ball going outside the diamond and Chase squeezed him home with a half bunt.

Bodie's Single Scores Two.

Ping Bodie skipped the home run performance today, but was just as potent a factor in the victory for he delivered a timely single in the first inning which drove home the two counters putting the Mackmen on the defensive right at the start.

Carroll Brown was hooked up with Cicotte in this overtime combat and would have succumbed before the regulation period passed but for the perfect and at times superlative support given him. With the same brand of backing handed out by the Athletics it would have been a walkaway for Cicotte.

The White Sox came to Eddie's rescue in one or two spots, however, showing their hearts were all right. Larry Chappell, who did nothing at all on the offensive was there with two swell running catches, one of which saved a run in the second inning. The other helped considerably in the tenth, for it retired the first man on a long foul fly and the first man is always half of the three in such situation.

Weaver Gets Eighteen Chances.

Buck Weaver, who perpetrated three wild throws, was the busiest guy of the lot and was fortunate that none of his miscues cut any figure except to prolong the argument. Weaver had eighteen chances coming his way and accepted fifteen, including the last play of the day. He came through with some of the hardest of the lot and blew some which looked easy.

Once Weaver had a narrow escape from losing both ends of a double play. That was in the fifth inning, right after Oldring's four base Bodie blow. Eddie Collins was on first when Baker rapped to Berger. In taking the throw at second Weaver beat the ball so far that he was a step across second base when he caught the ball, and his relay went into the grand stand, but Umpire Connolly was racing toward first base expecting a close decision there and did not see Buck miss getting Collins at second. The Mackmen kicked about it, but nobody was peevish enough to be chased. We would advise Weaver, however, to make sure he catches the ball before stepping on second base instead of afterward in future double plays.

Sox Get Two in Opener.

The Callahans caught Carroll Brown in an unsteady pose in the opening inning and rapped in two runs before the shortstop-young man got his bearings. He settled in time to check them with a pair of runners waiting to score. From then until the tenth inning Brown was mightily effective and allowed only four more safe hits. These would have come nowhere near counting but for the base running of Lord in the sixth.

Cicotte lacked control at times, but tightened up when in danger. Two of his passes were intentional and both were given to Frank Baker, who came up to bat when one of Mack's well known swats would have brought disaster. Both times the passes worked successfully, for McInnis proved a victim each time. It required a smart running catch by Bodie to save the game in the ninth round, however, for Stuffy almost deposited a Texas leaguer over short and if it had fallen safe the game would have ended right there.

Weaver pickled a single to start things, but was forced out by Lord, who made second on a wild pitch. John Collins walked and Chase rapped a single, which Barry knocked down, holding Lord on third. Up came Bodie with bags loaded and smote a single to right center, driving in Lord and Collins. Chase moved to third and Ping made an unmolested steal of second. That was as far as Brown would let us go, for he disposed of Chappell on a foul and whiffed Schalk.

Errors Gives Macks a Run.

In the next four innings the Callahans made exactly one single off Brown, who held them back until the Athletics, making a tally at a time, managed to poke their noses in front. The first home counter, in the second inning, was a gift. Two were down when Barry ripped a three bagger into right center. Lapp bounded one to Weaver, whose throw handcuffed Chase, and the muff not only gave Lapp his life but let Barry count. Chase then knocked down Brown's bad bounder and retired the side.

The second home tally, in the third, also was in the nature of a gift. Eddie Murphy started with a walk. Oldring bunted a high bounder along the group of White Sox toward first. They all let it alone, hoping it would fall foul, but it did not. Eddie Collins' out advanced the runners to third and second. Baker was given the base purposely, in the hope of pulling off a double play. McInnis hit a fast one to Lord, just right for the double killing, but Harry bobbled it long enough to let Murphy score, then threw McInnis out at first. Daley was a cinch.

Oldring's home run at the start of the fifth inning sailed high over Chappell's head into the bleachers, almost as far as Bodie hits them. It also put the Mackmen ahead by a one run margin.

Squeeze Play Scores Tally.

The White Sox knotted the count in the sixth, which was opened by Lord with a safe bunt toward first, on which the home players got their wires crossed. John Collins hit a long foul to Oldring and Lord went to second after the catch. A short passed ball let him to third and he started home at a signal from Chase, who tapped the ball toward Brown far enough to let Lord register, although Chase himself was thrown out.

There the count stuck despite all efforts to change it until the tenth inning. It was getting so bluish in the arena that it was plain the battle could last no longer. Berger led the attack with a single. Cicotte sacrificed him to second and Weaver's bounder put him on third with two out. Lord and Collins refused to go after bad balls and were passed, filling the bases and bringing up Chase. Hal took a crack at the first good one and poled it over second base, driving home Berger and Lord. Bodie skied. Cicotte got three in a row in the last half.

SOX SYDELIGHTS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Two more games will finish the Sox work here for the season.

The Athletics did not lose any ground in the pennant race, and the White Sox did not gain any, as Cleveland lost and Boston won.

Jim Scott probably will go to the slab tomorrow in an effort to make sure of three out of the four games, thereby winning the season series.

The Callahans have won five and lost five games on the trip to date. It is the same team that was so soft for St. Louis, and the answer is an Egyptian riddle.

Bodie would have had three hits to his credit but for Jack Barry, who robbed him brilliantly in the sixth inning, after Lord had been squeezed across the platter.

Manager Mack sprung the new lineup in an effort to break his team's losing streak, and it nearly was successful. He put Daley back in center and dropped him to fifth in the batting order.

The worst the Callahans can get in their year's battles with the coming champions is an even break. Today's game made eleven victories for them over the Mackmen, who have won nine from the Sox up to date. Philadelphia will have to take the next two to tie the Sox.

Weaver has been taking long chances of being caught overrunning second base on double plays before the ball got to him, but has got away with it so far. There was no question but that he was across the base before the ball reached him in the fifth inning, and, after the objection raised on that play, it is a cinch the umpires will try to watch him hereafter.

Worst "Bonehead" Play I Ever Saw.

Riverdale, Ill.—[To the Baseball Editor of The Tribune.]—The worst bonehead play I ever saw occurred here this summer when Riverdale was playing a prairie team. Riverdale was at bat, the bases were filled and one man was out. The batter hit a high one behind third base. The left fielder, playing close, called for the ball, and all the runners stayed close to the bases, expecting a catch. However, he failed to catch the ball, and it fell just inside the foul line. The umpire called "Fair ball," thus making it an easy matter for the outfielder to pick up the ball, shoot it to third, and the third baseman to shot it to second for a double play. But instead of taking advantage of this opening, the outfielder stamped around the ball, declaring it was foul, and roaring in a loud voice against the umpire's decision. While he was doing this four men went around and crossed the home plate. C. E. DUENDA,

BOB GROOM BEATS CLEVELAND, 2 TO 1

Senators' Hurler Allows Naps Only Five Hits and Sends In One Tally.

VEAN GREGG QUITS SLAB.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 10.—Washington made it three straight over Cleveland today, winning 2 to 1.

Bob Groom, Griffith's elongated twirler, went in to bring Washington a game nearer to second place in the American league race and accomplished his task in fine shape. He allowed only five hits. Three came in the fourth, when Cleveland scored its only run. Groom struck out eight men, gave no bases on balls, brought in Washington's first tally with a long fly to center, and singled the only time he was officially charged with being at bat.

Gregg was sent back at Washington for the second time in as many days. He retired after the seventh, with Washington one run in the lead. He was much more effective than yesterday, and yielded the slab only to allow a pinch hitter to bat for him. Mitchell started the eighth for Cleveland, but after passing the first man he gave way to Steen. Score:

NEW YORK SWATS PIRATE CREW, 5-2

Walk, Bunt, Two Bagger, and Single Net Three Runs in Seventh Round.

TESREAU TIGHT IN PINCH.

Double by Carey and Singles by Viox and Wagner Give Losers Two Counters.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 10.—Tesreau was wild this afternoon but effective with men on bases and New York took the first game of the series from Pittsburgh, 5 to 2.

New York won in the seventh when it scored three runs on Shafer's walk, Murray's safe bunt, Meyers' two bagger, and a single by Merkle. In the first inning Burns doubled, scoring Fletcher, who had forced Doyle. A double by Doyle and a single by Burns scored another run in the third. Excepting for the seventh inning McQuillan pitched nice ball. In this chapter Meyers' long fly went for a double because Carey misjudged it and Merkle's single that drove in two runs passed between Viox's legs. A double by Carey and singles by Viox and Wagner gave Pittsburgh two runs in the eighth.

In the third inning McQuillan hit sharply to right field and was thrown out at first by Murray. Dolan and Clarke were ordered off the field for disputing Umpire Klem's decisions. Score:

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 10.—With Huggins on third base and one man out in the tenth inning, Oakes hit safely to right, sending over the winning run for St. Louis in the opening game of the series with Philadelphia. The score was 2 to 1. It was a pitchers' battle between Doak and Rixey, and but for some stupid base running by Lee Magee in the third inning, when St. Louis scored its first run, Doak would have been returned victor without going into extra innings. Pound Perdue for Five Runs in First Round—Ames Replaces Johnson for Reds.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 10.—Cincinnati won the first game from the series from Boston today, 7 to 4. The locals started their batting in the first inning, when they found Perdue for four hits, which, with a base on balls, netted five runs. Perdue was succeeded in the second inning by Rudolph, who was hit often, but kept the runs scattered. Johnson, who started on the mound for Cincinnati, was wild and was taken out in the seventh. Ames succeeded him and did not allow a hit or run. Marsans got four singles. Score:

Poor Fielding by American Giants Gives Team from West Baden an Easy Victory.

Eccentric playing cost the American Giants their final game with the West Baden Sprudels at the American Giants' grounds yesterday, 7 to 1. The lone tally was a gift. Rube Foster elected to play himself and went in at third, where he gave only an imitation of playing that bag. The entire team followed suit, and three hits and three walks in the first round gave the visitors four runs. Score:

MINOR BOARD FAVORS MALLOY.

Upholds Chicago Boy, Formerly Manager of Wausau Team, in Claim for Salary and Bonus.

Johnny Malloy, the Chicago boy who formerly managed the Wausau team in the Wisconsin-Illinois league, was pleased yesterday to receive word from the secretary of the National Association of Minor leagues that his claim for salary and bonus against the Wausau team had been upheld.

Malloy last spring signed a manager's contract with a non-reserve clause in it and besides his salary he was to get 10 per cent of the purchase money derived from any sales of players. On June 10 he broke his left leg in sliding to third base and on July 22 was released by the club.

Johnny carried his case to the national association, which ruled he was entitled to full salary from the time of his release to the close of the season. At the time he was hurt Malloy was hitting over .300 and leading the league in stolen bases.

"FEDS" TRIM HOOSIERS TWICE

Squeeze Play in Ninth Brings Opening Victory, 3 to 2.

SECOND SEVEN ROUNDS, 5 TO 4

Farrell's Single and Kading's Drive Over Fence Net Final Run.

Chicago Federal leagues completed their home schedule yesterday in a grand splash of glory, taking the long ends of a double header with Indianapolis, the coming champions. The first contest resulted in a ninth inning victory, 3 to 2, and the second, which wound up 5 to 4, was curtailed to seven innings.

Max Fisk hurled the opener for the locals, and for five innings held the visitors without a single. In the sixth inning they broke through with a tally, as the result of three clouts. Another dribbled over in the eighth on two more swats, but the locals came back in the seventh and tied the count. In the last half of the ninth Mackert tripled and scored by the perfect execution of the squeeze play.

In the second clash Chicago got off to a good start, scoring three times and adding another in the third. The Hoosiers came back strong with four in the fifth, being the principal ingredients in the runmaking. With the count tied in the seventh, Farrell started with a single, stole second, and scored on Kading's drive over the fence. The game was called to allow the Chicago players to catch a train for Kansas City, where they open today. Scores:

REYNOLDS TAKES COAL GOLF TITLE

Defeats McClevey, 11 and 10, in Trade Tourney Over Homewood Course.

ONE MATCH FORTY HOLES.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Samuel W. Reynolds of the Omaha Field club outclassed Robert McClevey of Westward Ho in the final for the golf championship of the National Coal Trade association at Homewood yesterday, getting a margin of 11 and 10 over the thirty-six hole route.

Reynolds, who holds the Omaha city title, thus becomes the first national champion of the coal dealers, proving that Nebraska produces golfers as well as Chautauqua orators.

E. F. Franklin of the Calumet Country club took the first flight honors after a nerve trying struggle with F. K. Fitzgibbons of the Normandie club of St. Louis, the local man sinking the winning putt after forty holes. The Missouri player had a lead of 2 up at the end of the morning round.

Second Flight to Tandy.

A. O. Tandy of Westward Ho won the second flight when he finished 2 up on B. L. Shepard of Evanston. Shepard had a lead of 2 up at the end of the morning round. Omaha scored another victory when F. P. Loomis defeated H. M. Hall of Beverly by 3 and 1 in the third flight. Loomis was one up at the end of eighteen holes.

N. S. Birkland of South Shore took the fourth flight prize when he defeated W. F. Sanford of Freeport by 3 and 2. The South Shore player finished the morning round 2 up.

Reynolds, who is of the younger school of Nebraska golfers, displayed championship class in trouncing McClevey, negotiating the eighteen hole morning round in 78 and turning in a 77 after playing out the bye holes in the afternoon. The Westward Ho contender jumped into the lead at the start by taking the first two holes, but Reynolds won three straight and never relinquished the lead thereafter. McClevey won only two holes during the balance of the one sided fray. Morning cards:

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS.

Joseph J. Shugrue, known in the boxing world as "Young" Shugrue, the Jersey featherweight, was born in Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 11, 1894. He first gained prominence in the roped arena in 1910, being then only 16 years old, by knocking out in quick succession Willie Burns, "Young" Buckley, Charley Burns, George O'Brien, Willie Scott, and "Young" McGovern. In 1911 he started in the no-decision game and among other boxers met Sammy Kellar, Joe Brooks, Jimmy Dunn, Ty Cobb, and Johnny Dundee. Shugrue continued his climb up the pugilistic ladder last year by taking part in twenty-two bouts without losing a decision. He met such well known boxers as Joe Coster, Eddie O'Keefe, Benny Leonard, Charley White, Jimmy Coffey, Harry Tracy, Harry Stone, and Joe Theel, and wound up the year by defeating Pal Moore in a 15 round bout at Dayton, O.

FOUR MAJOR "PREP" ELEVENS

Two More High Schools May Enter Heavyweight Teams.

COMMITTEE HOLDS MEETING.

Arranges for Gathering of Captains and Managers Next Week.

BY PREP.

Four teams, possibly six, will make up the major section of the Chicago High School Football league, according to an announcement made yesterday by Chairman Hugh L. Ray of the football committee. The committee, consisting of Ray of Wendell Phillips and J. A. Miller of Hyde Park, met and made preliminary arrangements for the meeting of the captains and managers next week.

Hyde Park, Wendell Phillips, Englewood, and Lane already have sent in announcements they would be members of the major section. South Chicago and Lake View probably will enter this division if enough heavyweights can be mustered for teams.

The lightweight sections may enroll from six to ten teams, with most of last year's eleven in the list. This latter division must make an average weight of 135 pounds, with no member of the team over 150 pounds.

New Rule on Protests.

A new rule in regard to protests will be in force this year. Heretofore the entire board heard the evidence and then passed judgment. Under the revised rule the executive board, consisting of the president, vice president, secretary-treasurer, and members of the sports committee, will render decisions, from which no appeal can be taken. By this method only those who take an active part in the various sports will be given final voice.

Members of the board of control will meet either on Monday or Tuesday. President Steffens has delayed the call for the first meeting of the year because a committee is in conference with Supt. of Schools Ella Flagg Young to adopt plans for financing high school athletics. It is believed the board of education will come to the assistance of the board of control by passing an appropriation.

Petitions, signed by members of the Robert Waller High school team, asking for the restoration of football at the school, will be presented to Mrs. Young tomorrow. Myron J. Doran, who was elected captain of the team last year, is the prime mover. It is said that nearly every boy in the school has signed.

Scrimmage at Lake View.

Precedent was thrown to the winds at Lake View High school yesterday when the football candidates ignored the usual early training and engaged in a stiff scrimmage practice. Two elevens were recruited from a promising field of aspirants, who were glad to get away from the monotonous "ball tumbling" and running which has occupied their time since school opened last week.

The first local football injury was reported when Bill Reilly was placed on the sick list with a bruise and cut on his right hip, due to falling on the ball without first donning his "armor."

JOE WOLTER TAKES TWO RACES.

Lands Special Event and Sweepstakes at Riverview—Verrill First in Invitation Contest.

Joe Wolter won two of the three races in which he started at Riverview motordrome last night. A heavy track made fast time impossible. After Wolter had captured the first and final heats of the special race he beat Caffarella and Harmer in the sweepstakes. Caffarella won the first two heats of the invitation race, but Verrill nosed him out in the final.

POLICE HALT MAT TOURNEY.

Forest Park Bouts Abandoned When First Contest Is Stopped—May Hold Show Tonight.

Police officials stopped the wrestling tournament at Forest park last night just as the first bout was about to be staged. "Irish" Hagerty and "Young" Rober started grappling, when a policeman jumped into the ring, shouting for the contestants to get off the canvas. Questioned why he stopped the affair, he replied he had received orders from the village president. It is said the matter will be straightened out in time for tonight's show. In addition to the first night's program the second night's card also will be run off.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 10.—Mike Finn, who managed the Mobile team of the Southern league during the season just closed, signed a contract to manage Memphis next year.

The Lincoln Park Boat club will hold its first annual canoe regatta on the Lincoln park lagoon on Saturday.

Mattie Faets is to stage the first big bowling opening of the year this week when he will open his new place at Bryn Mawr avenue and North Clark street with a game between the Colonnas and Blatz. The new place has six alleys.

One of the most important games in the semi-finals of the Knights of Columbus Baseball league will be played on Saturday at the American Giants' baseball park, West Thirty-ninth street and Wentworth avenue. The opposing teams will be McHale and St. James' councils.

Profiting by the cooler weather, members of the Calumet lacrosse team, which will play the Athletics of St. Catharines, Canada, at the White Sox ball park on Saturday and Sunday, have been getting some fine practice. Manager Donnelley announced the Calumet lineup for the first game will be as follows: Barrett, goal; Harris, point; Curtice, cover point; Gaiseford, first defense; Art Woods, second defense; M. J. Donnelley, third defense; Bill Neeley, center; Graham, third home; West, second home; Fitzgerald, first home; Tilden, inside home; Wright, outside home.

BUSINESS. COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL SECTION

CLEARS $198,000 ON LOOP LEASES

Ben Roth Disposes of All Space in "L" Shaped Structure at Big Profit.

DEAL IN WEST RANDOLPH

The closing of the lease for the last of various stores and offices in the old L shaped building owned by E. W. Morrison, lying back of the northeast corner of Clark and Madison streets and fronting both thoroughfares, brings to attention a rather remarkable example of appreciation in downtown investment property.

Two months or more ago this building and the corner building it partly embraces were leased by Ben Roth, the former, it was reported, at $506,000 for eleven years. With the lease signed yesterday Roth has disposed of every inch of space in the structure for a total of $704,000 for the term. This figures a net profit of $198,000 in a few weeks—with none of the leases in operation until next May.

Latest Lease to H. W. Silver.

The old building has four stories and a basement, fronting 60 feet in Madison street and 48 in Clark street. The latest lease is that to Harry W. Silver at 76 West Madison street, who will open a furnishing store, the eleven year lease giving gross rent of $88,000.

West Randolph Deal.

The undivided half interest in the property at 14-16 West Randolph street, hitherto owned by the Jane S. Haven estate, has been purchased by the Northern Trust company in behalf of an unnamed client. The reported consideration was $70,000.

The property, 20½x80 feet, is improved with a four story and basement brick building and, with its south frontage only sixty feet west of State street, has an admirable location for commercial purposes. The other undivided half was acquired in partition sale about two years ago by Florence B. Kranz, who still holds it. It is understood she is not the indirect purchaser of the other half, and no new building is contemplated at present. A. W. Eisendrath represented both parties in the transaction.

North Side Lease.

A considerable north side lease has been recorded, made out by Augusta Gezelschap to Herman R. Misch, from June last to December, 1964, the latter assuming taxes under the agreement for $147,500 per year rent. The property lies in Lincoln avenue, 122 feet southeast of School street, northeast front, occupying only 50x60 feet.

The lessee agrees to erect within three years a building to cost not less than $25,000. The property itself, with fifty feet frontage, it is observed, leases at the rate of nearly $3,000 a year. At 4 per cent this figures $1,500 a front foot value.

Edgar B. Tolman has acquired the fine residential property at the northwest corner of Fifty-sixth street and Woodlawn avenue from Edith M. Rice for $42,500. The lot fronts 100 feet on Woodlawn avenue, running back 218 feet.

Clarence J. Krause, who a month ago purchased from James F. Meagher the apartment building in Windsor avenue, 242 feet west of Cottage Grove avenue, 50x94, has resold to Rose Proaky, still at nominal consideration. There is an incumbrance of $14,500.

Mary Rose Burke has sold to Mary E. Lynch the property in Morgan street, 114 feet north of 67th street, west front, 85x116, for $18,290, subject to an $8,000 mortgage. There is considerable interest also in the reported price of $16,000 for a small lot of property, 25x125, in West Twenty-second street, 50 feet west of Troy street. It was sold by James Hara to Katerina Hundl.

Addition to Automobile Row.

An important addition to "Automobile row" likely in the consolidation by James E. Plew and others from John E. Maginus of the property in Wabash avenue, 184 feet south of Twenty-ninth street. The lot has a west frontage of ninety-six feet, extending back 193½ feet. While the definite program of Mr. Plew and his associates is not announced, it is understood they intend building a large structure for the sale of automobiles and accessories.

Report has been made of the purchase by Louis Nash for himself, Bernard Baumgarden, Leo Lottman, and Nathan H. Rosenthal of 1602-6 West Chicago avenue, 81x125 feet, formerly owned and occupied as a market by Gustave Obenauf. Purchase price is said to be about $45,000, on which was paid in part payment a $30,000 five year 5 per cent mortgage. A three story building for stores and flats will be erected.

Marilla F. Garrett of Lake Bluff has sold to Margaret G. Roads, through Regelin, Jenson & Co., the three story six apartment building at 4540-2 Clifton avenue at a reported consideration of $17,000, subject to a $7,500 mortgage, the purchaser giving back a $2,500 mortgage.

Rise Follows Car Extension.

The rapid rise of values following the extension of the Sixteenth street car line appears to be demonstrated in a sale reported by Marcus & Brislin. They have sold for Murray Wolbach of Evanston and Louis Finder the southeast corner of Sixteenth street and Fortieth avenue, improved with a two story store and office building, at a reported consideration of $60,400.

In part payment Wolbach took the southwest corner of Twelfth street and Springfield avenue, a seventy-two foot lot in Division street, west of Oakley boulevard, and small holdings in Brighton.

UNION CARBIDE HAS RAPID RISE

PEOPLE'S GAS FIRMS UP.

Speculation Overshadows Market Interest; Edison Shares Also Up.

Union Carbide stock was the price feature of trading on the local exchange, the close being at 197½, against an opening at 191¾. The stock has now advanced more than 15 points within the last few days. The dividend rate is 10 per cent, so that at a price of $200 the shares would be on a 5 per cent basis, too low in the present money market unless the shareholders are to participate in an extra division of profits in some form. It is assumed, therefore, that the rise has been occasioned by prospects above ordinary dividend disbursements.

People's Gas was unusually active and firm. The buying is broadening and the market is satisfied there will be financing of a character favorable to the shareholders. There is no reason for repeating rumors and no official announcement or semi-authoritative one has been made.

Most Interest in People's Gas.

The speculation in People's Gas has overshadowed the market interest in series 2 certificates, which latter, while active, has shown no improvement during the last few days. The certificates closed at 81½. Series 1 certificates sold off, closing at 91½. Pneumatic Tool was steady at 52½.

Some one projected into the market a mental combination of the local utilities and caused a rise in Commonwealth Edison to 149¾. The advance, however, afforded an opportunity for the taking of speculative profits and the stock came out in such quantity as to cause the price to fall off to 148½.

Title and Trust Raises Dividend.

Directors of the Chicago Title and Trust company yesterday raised the dividend rate from an 8 to a 10 per cent basis by the declaration of a quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent, as against 2 per cent for the last previous quarter. The dividend is payable Oct. 1 to stock of record Sept. 19. Earnings of the company have more than justified the increase, so that yesterday's action will be considered conservative.

The directors elected Frank G. Gardner treasurer, to succeed William R. Folsom, resigned. Mr. Folsom, it was announced, retired because of ill health.

Improved Local Sentiment.

F. M. Zeller of the commission house of F. M. Zeller & Co. said yesterday:

"There has been in the last week a broader inquiry on the buying side of the unlisted market than has characterized the situation for several months. The extent of the inquiries denotes apparently general improvement in the local market situation."

August Rand Output.

In August the output of the mines of the Rand was 278,096 fine ounces of gold, against 655,889 ounces in July and 764,787 in August, 1912.

Bond and Note Sales.

It is announced that the New York Central has sold to White, Weld & Co. and Harris Forbes & Co. a total of $11,800,000 4½ per cent Cleveland Short Line railway bonds. The bonds are a part of an authorized issue of $20,000,000.

The Erie Railroad company has sold to a syndicate of New York and Philadelphia bankers, subject to the approval of the public service commissions, an issue of $2,120,000 5 per cent gold equipment trust certificates.

Steel Orders Fall Off.

The United States Steel corporation's unfilled tonnage report for August shows a decrease of 175,848 tons. On Aug. 31 the unfilled tonnage stood at 8,223,468, against 5,396,316 on July 31.

St. Louis S. W. Dividend Cut.

It is reported that the directors of the St. Louis Southwestern Railway company decided to reduce the dividend from 5 to 4 per cent as a precautionary measure. While the earnings for the fiscal year ended June 30 last were considerably in excess of the 5 per cent dividend it is expected that for the present fiscal year decreases will be shown.

LATEST WALL STREET GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—[Special.]—Today's upturn in the stock market brought the average prices, according to the usual method of calculation, to substantially the previous high level of the recovery reached on Aug. 29, which in turn was within a fraction of the previous top of Aug. 13.

Today's best prices for individual stocks, as compared with the high at the end of August, show varying changes. Of the four issues usually recognized as the market leaders, Amalgamated is the only one which has given a distinct bull tip. At 75½ this stock was up two points. Reading was two points below the previous top of the recovery. Union Pacific failed to reach it by one-half a point, and Steel was one and three-fourths points below the high of Aug. 29 and two and three-eighths points under the price of 66½ made a short time before.

Among the less active shares, Southern Pacific is conspicuous with a gain of 2¾ points. Canadian Pacific was up 2⅜, Illinois Central 1¼, while Lehigh Valley is off 2¼, Atchison ¼, Baltimore & Chesapeake ⅝, St. Paul, 2⅜, Central ⅝, Northern Pacific ⅝, New Haven 3, and Pennsylvania ⅝. Great Northern and Louisville were on a par.

Apparently the rumors of some sort of an extra distribution on the Union Pacific shares, which cropped up with the receipt by the company of a large portion of the proceeds of the sale of Southern Pacific stock and which have been kicking around the financial district ever since, reached the stock exchange for the first time today. They did so at an opportune time, for the chairman of the board returned from Europe today and the regular meeting of the directors will be held tomorrow.

There are signs that a distribution to the Union Pacific shareholders of a whole or a part of the proceeds of the Southern Pacific stock sale, if it should be made, would not receive the entire approbation of the street. Such a move would undoubtedly be criticised in conservative quarters. It is pointed out that the Southern Pacific is the only one of many of the Harriman stock investments which has so far turned out profitably.

The purchases of Illinois Central, New York Central, and Chicago and Alton on the other hand apparently show large losses. The Union Pacific's surplus swollen by the $75,000,000 received from the sale of its Southern Pacific stock may be large. But for a company to be very strong in cash in these times when the railroads have found it extremely difficult to borrow money for necessary improvements, even on the most onerous terms, is as distinctly rare as it is favorable.

It is not believed that the Union Pacific management, whatever it does, will place itself in a position where at some future time it might have to raise money at a high price. There are several purposes to which the Union Pacific might conceivably devote its cash other than distributing it to the stockholders. There is the possibility that the Central Pacific may be on the market. Or it might be considered convenient to retire some of its bonded indebtedness.

A rise of 3¼ points in Union Pacific preferred shows that the stock is still regarded by some people as more or less of a sure thing. In the old days of the big speculation in Union Pacific on segregation talk, one of the vexed questions of the time was whether the preferred shareholders could expect to share.

The best opinion then seemed to be that they could, even if it should turn out that it would be necessary to take the matter to the courts for settlement. The price was run up to 118⅛ on this prospect. The advance today was attributed to buying by people who thought that their chances were still good, and that in any case a good preferred stock of a railroad like Union Pacific could hardly be considered dear at the price.

Outside of the usual market leaders, the conspicuous strength of Atchison, in sharp contrast to its recent weakness, caused comment. The advance in this stock following the publication of the crop report was a rather obvious commentary on the character of the selling, which lately depressed the price to within a fraction of the low of the year.

Atchison's geographical position made it particularly sensitive to the reports of unfavorable crop conditions in the southwest, and apparently short sales, in anticipation of an unpleasant surprise in the government report, focused on that stock. Atchison earned a substantial surplus last year, earnings over the 6 per cent requirements being equal to about 8 per cent.

PRICES ADVANCE IN WHEAT MART

Early Losses Regained; Better Shipping Demand for Cash Grain Is Bull Aid.

CORN SHORTS PUNISHED.

Bulls Become Aggressive on the Downturn, Forcing Recovery; Products Are Weak.

Wheat showed a much better tone at the close yesterday than earlier in the session. The demand early was decidedly slack, and local traders were free sellers, especially after corn weakened. On the decline commission houses started buying the wheat, and in the last hour there was short covering on quite a liberal scale, offerings being light, however, until values had worked up materially from the low point. At the close prices were unchanged to ¼c higher.

Reports of good export sales had considerable effect on local sentiment. Sales of 185,000 bu were reported here, and Duluth reported a better inquiry, sales of 96,000 bu being made there for export, with fair sales to the east. Local sales were principally of No. 2 hard winter to exporters. Offerings from the country were reported light.

Winter Wheat Receipts Light.

Receipts at all winter wheat points continue light, except at Chicago, and arrivals here are not as large as a year ago. At Kansas City and St. Louis the arrivals are extremely small, and shipments are exceeding the receipts. At Omaha also the movement is moderate. Local receipts were 204 cars, with 114 cars the estimate for today. At primary points total arrivals were 1,601,000 bu or 318,000 bu smaller than last year. In the northwest arrivals were 1,029 cars, compared to 1,125 cars a year ago.

Minneapolis stocks increased 115,000 bu for four days. Farmers in the spring wheat country are said to be holding a liberal percentage of their wheat, and storing considerable. Hedging pressure at Minneapolis continues light. Cash prices there were about steady. The flour trade continues of a healthy volume.

Heavy Rains in Northwest.

Heavy rains were reported in western Minnesota and eastern North Dakota, which may retard thrashing for a time. Generally, conditions were favorable in Canada, and late reports from there are bearish. Liverpool was ½@¾d off; Paris, unchanged to ¼c up; Antwerp, ⅝c off; Berlin, ¼c lower, and Budapest, ¼c higher. Russian offers continue liberal abroad, and the demand also continues good.

Reports from Liverpool indicate moderate shipments from exporting countries for a time, but later heavier exports from Canada and Russia are expected to swell the total to heavy proportions. Foreigners are now watching closely developments in Argentina, present prospects being for an excellent crop in that country.

Local Corn Traders Bearish.

Local corn traders were bearishly inclined during the fore part of the session, their attitude being reflected in heavy selling. Prices declined sharply, but when an attempt was made to take profits there was not much corn for sale and there was a sharp upturn. Closing quotations were ½@¾c lower to ¼c higher. Commission houses were good buyers on the break, and the bull leaders, including Cutler, were credited with buying freely around low prices.

Weather conditions were a little more favorable. However, many sections have had absolutely no relief from the drought conditions, rains in most sections so far having been light. Cash prices were ½@¾c off, with shipping sales of 275,000 bu. Country sales to arrive were light. Receipts here were 706 cars, with 407 cars inspected yesterday. In the west arrivals were 1,418,000 bu, compared to 868,000 bu a year ago. Cables were weak on expected liberal Plate shipments, Liverpool being ½@¾d off.

Cash Houses Buy Oats.

Cash houses were good buyers of oats on the dips, and there was a firmer tone after a break early, the upturns in other grains helping this market. Prices at the finish were ⅛@¼ to ⅝@⅞c lower. Consid rable selling by longs was in evidence early. Nye-Jenks bought corn and Bartlett-Frazier were fair buyers on the break. Cash prices were ⅛@¼ lower, but the demand continues good, sales being 335,000 bu. Receipts here were 306 cars, with 1,226,000 bu in the west, compared to 1,396,000 bu a year ago. The estimate for today was 202 cars. Country offerings were reported light.

Heavy Tone in Products.

Hog products were weak most of the day, the buying demand being limited, while offerings were quite liberal. The government hog report makes the condition of hogs 91.8 per cent of a 10 year average and said the number of hogs on the farms was about the same as a year ago. Receipts here were 30,000 and the market at the yards finished demoralized with prices 25@50c lower after opening firm. Receipts for today were estimated at 30,000. Western points had 79,000, or 16,000 more than a year ago. No change was reported in prices for products at Liverpool. Receipts of products here were 23 cars; shipments, 186 cars.

Rye Slightly Lower.

Rye sold at a slight decline, with No. 2 at 68@68¼, and No. 3 at 67c. Receipts were 9 cars.

Barley was steady at 70@78c for malting, 60@65c for feed, and 40@58c for screenings. Receipts were 21 cars.

Timothy seed was easier, with September $5.65 nominal and October $5.40 bid. Cash lots were held at $5.65 nominal for contract grade. Clover seed was dull at $11.75 for October and $9.00@11.25 for cash.

Duluth flax closed steady to ¼c lower, with cash on track $1.50¾; September, $1.49½; October, $1.48¾, and December, $1.47¾. Receipts were 13 cars. Minneapolis was ¼c lower at $1.47¾@1.50¾ for cash on track. Receipts, 17 cars. Winnipeg closed steady to ⅛@¼c higher, with October $1.32¾; November, $1.33¼, and December, $1.32¾. Receipts, 12 cars.

AMERICAN GRAIN MARKETS.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 10.—The bearish construction placed on the government September crop report for wheat caused moderate pressure and prices declined. Selling was not of heavy enough volume to cause any marked weakness. Offerings met with a ready acceptance. September closed ¼c lower than yesterday; December, ¾@¾c lower, and May, ½c lower. NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

A letter from New York to Gregson on the provision situation is interesting: "I notice that last week the lard exports showed a considerable contraction over the same period a year ago, and in this connection the following, just received from some well posted friends abroad, may offer some light on the question of foreign demand: 'Our speculative commodity markets are somewhat apathetic at present. Lard is very disappointing, owing to the absence of demand, and the increasing marketing of immature hogs. We noticed that stocks had increased 5,600 tcs at Chicago, whereas world's stocks have decreased 11,000, but at the corresponding period last year they had decreased 92,000. It appears that Germany and the continent generally will not be in the market this year to the extent anticipated, owing to the increased home live stock supply, and likewise the tremendous increase in the consumption of cheap but good margarine, which is selling at 5d-6d a pound, and the cheapness of Russian butter, whereas lard cannot be retailed under 7d per pound.'"

The tariff bill, as passed by the senate, affects grains and grain products as follows: Wheat is placed on the free list from those countries who admit our wheat free; flour, same basis as wheat. The tariff on wheat and wheat products from countries imposing a tariff on our wheat or wheat products will be subject to a countervailing duty. In the case of Canadian wheat, this will be 10c a bushel. Corn is placed absolutely on the free list, and the duty on oats has been reduced to 6c, with the duty on oats products on the basis of 6c a bushel. The house bill as it went to the senate provided for a duty on wheat, but placed flour on the free list. The house bill provided for oats products free, with a duty of 6c on oats, which the senate changed by making the duty on oats products on the same basis as on oats.

The demand for cash wheat improved materially on the decline yesterday, not only here but in the northwest. Duluth reported twelve loads, or 96,000 bu, wheat taken for export, and a fair business for domestic account. Local sales were 185,000 bu, principally No. 2 hard to exporters. Prices were steady relatively. At Minneapolis the demand was not quite so urgent. Reports from there, however, indicated that farmers were not heavy sellers, and that after the first big run of wheat was over the receipts would be moderate compared to last year. In the southwest the cash markets were easier as a rule.

Broomhall's weekly international review said: "It is confidently expected here that the American visible supply will increase slower than last year. Reports regarding the French crop show no improvement. Russian crop is turning out well. It is expected that world's shipments in the near future will be moderately lighter, but before long Canada and Russia will be shipping freely, and therefore I expect liberal supplies during the autumn. The demand will doubtless be on a liberal scale, but the extent of the buying, especially speculative, will depend largely upon the outlook in the southern hemisphere."

The government report on hogs makes the number about the same as a year ago, with the condition 91.8 per cent of a ten year average. The report was variously construed. In some quarters it was regarded as bullish on corn, as it indicates consumption will be again heavy this year. Some provision men expected the report would show more hogs than a year ago.

"The underlying cash wheat situation is strong and healthy and cash premium s generally are being maintained. It looks as if this decline would result in good sales of cash wheat, especially to the seaboard," said Mansfield of Barrell & Co. "We are on a sound merchandising basis in wheat and prices the world around are low."

Sample prices for corn were ¼@¾c off, with a better demand on the decline, sales being 285,000 bu, while country acceptances were extremely light. Oats were in good demand at a decline of ¾@1¼c, and there were sales of 335,000 bu.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were 1c lower to 1c higher; corn, 3c higher to ¼c lower; oats, unchanged to ¼c lower; rye, 1@1¼c lower.

Deliveries on September contracts were 325,000 bu wheat, 145,000 bu oats, and 500 brls of pork.

REPORT SHOWS I. C. IMPROVEMENT

Railroad Indicates Largest Gross Revenue in History; Freight Income Heavy.

EXPENSES KEPT DOWN.

Floods, Increased Cost of Fuel, and Damage Claims Hard to Offset.

Analysis of the full pamphlet report issued yesterday by the Illinois Central railroad covering the fiscal year ended June 30 last shows net earnings applicable to dividends on the stock equal to a small fraction over the 6 per cent paid out in dividends. Six weeks ago, it will be recalled, the road lowered its semi-annual dividend from the usual 3½ per cent to 2½ per cent, thereby placing the $109,296,000 capital stock on a 5 instead of a 7 per cent basis. The result of the year's operation shows how close the calculation was.

The road showed a big improvement during the year, with the largest gross in its history, total transportation revenue reaching $63,747,632, compared with $58,285,000 a year ago, a round gain of 9.4 per cent. Of this gain freight revenue showed the best improvement, whereas last year it fell off, and the 1911 report showed no such gain. Passenger earnings continue to grow moderately.

Expense Kept Down.

The expenses were kept down fairly well, the important item of transportation outlay, for example, showing an increase of only 4.61 per cent. A part of this was due to the congestion following the flood trouble, to the increased fuel cost, "to the settlement of a number of large personal injury claims sustained in previous years which have been in litigation, and to the constantly growing loss and damage claims," to quote President Markham. The ratio actually decreased from 40.28 to 38.49 per cent.

The largest proportionate increase in expense was in maintenance of way and structures, here, too, the flood necessitating a deal of the outlay. Equipment maintenance showed a negligible increase, the new equipment cost being covered by new capital obligations. Traffic expense showed an actual decrease. The whole operating ratio decreased from 91.84 to 77.86 per cent.

In support of the insistent assertion of the railroads that they are being taxed too heavily, the report offers something the exhibit of a tax increase of $217,820, or 8.11 per cent. This is not negligible.

Reserve for Dividend.

It will be observed the road's method of making reservation in one year for the semi-annual dividend of the succeeding quarter is what enabled it to show the small surplus over 6 per cent. During the fiscal year, of course, 7 per cent was paid, but one of these payments was out of 1912 earnings. There also should be observed the notable improvement in net applicable to dividends. A year ago the dividend was only half earned.

The surplus shows another reduction of $770,000. Most of this, $514,208, is due to the disc

MANUFACTURING CORPORATION FOR the manufacturing of a building material within the corporate limits of Chicago has been organized with a capital stock of $250,000 (Illinois charter) and is now financed with a push and certainty of success. The product to be made has been sold on this market for three years, and the demand has increased to such an extent that local capitalists have deemed it wise to manufacture as well as market the product locally. Patent rights and good will have been purchased for the entire central portion of the United States. Profits and market are very large, with a near certainty of making over 50 per cent annually on the money invested. There are several positions open to investors who can show a record for making good, including the position of secretary. I should like to get into touch at once with those who want to lay the foundation of a fortune in the cement of hard work.
